22 And was unknown by face unto the ^s churches of Judea, which were ^t in Christ:

23 But they had heard only, That he which persecuted us in times past, now preacheth the faith which once he destroyed.

24 And they glorified God in me.

CHAP. II.

1 Hesheweth when he went up again to Jerusalem, and for what purpose: 3 and that Titus was not circumcised: 11 and that he resisted Peter, and told him the reason, 14 why he and others, being Jews, do believe in Christ to be justified by faith, and not by works: 20 and that they live not in sin, who are so justified.

THEN fourteen years after, ^a I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and took Titus with me also.

2 And I went up by revelation, and ^b communicated unto them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but [¶] privately to them which were of reputation, lest by any means I should run, or had run, ^c in vain.

3 But neither Titus, who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised:

4 And that because ^d of false brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily to spy out our ^e liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage;

5 To whom we gave place by subjection, no, not for an hour; that the ^f truth of the gospel might continue with you.

6 But of those, who seemed to be somewhat: (whatsoever they were, it maketh no matter to me: ^g God accepteth no man's person :) for they who seemed to be somewhat, in conference added nothing to me;

7 But contrariwise; when they saw that the gospel of the uncircumcision was ^h committed unto me, as the gospel of the circumcision was unto Peter:

8 (For he that wrought effectually in Peter to the apostleship of the circumcision, the same was ⁱ mighty in me toward the Gentiles;)

9 And when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be ^k pillars, perceived the grace that was given unto me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship; that we should go unto the heathen, and they unto the circumcision.

10 Only they would that we ^l should remember the poor; the same which I also was forward to do.

11 But when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed.

12 For before that certain came from James, ^m he did eat with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew, and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Jews dissembled likewise with him; insomuch that Barnabas also was carried away with their dissimulation.

14 But when I saw that they walked not uprightly, ⁿ according to the truth of the gospel, I said unto Peter ^o before them all, If thou, being a Jew, livest after the manner of Gentiles, and ^p not as do the Jews, why compellest thou the Gentiles to live as do the Jews?

15 We who are Jews by nature, and not ^q sinners of the Gentiles, 16 Knowing that a man is ^r not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ; even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for ^s by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.

17 But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we ourselves also are found ^t sinners, is therefore Christ the minister of sin? God forbid.

18 For if I build again the things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor.

19 For ^u I through the law [¶] am dead to the law, that I might live unto God.

20 I am ^x crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live: yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh, ^y I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.

21 I do not frustrate the grace of God; for if ^z righteousness come by the law, then Christ is dead in vain.

CHAP. III.

1 He asketh what moved them to leave the faith, and hang upon the law. 6 They that believe are justified, 9 and blessed with Abraham. 10 And this he sheweth by many reasons.

O Foolish Galatians, who hath ^a bewitched you, that ye should not obey the ^b truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ hath been evidently set forth, crucified among you?

2 This only would I learn of you, Received ye the ^e Spirit by the works of the law, or by the ^a hearing of faith?

3 Are ye so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the flesh?

4 Have ye suffered || so many things in vain? if it be yet in vain.

5 He, therefore, that ^e ministereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?

6 Even as ^f Abraham believed God, and it was || accounted to him for righteousness.

7 Know ye, therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are ^g the children of Abraham.

8 And the scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the heathen through faith, preached before the gospel unto Abraham, saying, ^h In thee shall all nations be blessed.

9 So then, they which be of faith, are blessed with faithful Abraham.

10 For as many as are of the works of the law, are under the curse: for it is written, ⁱ Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them.

11 But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, ^k The just shall live by faith.

12 And the law is not of faith: but, ^l The man that doeth them shall live in them.

13 Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, ^m Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree;

14 That the ⁿ blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ; that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

15 Brethren, I speak after the manner of men; Though it be but a man's || covenant, yet if it be confirmed, no man disannulleth, or addeth thereto.

16 Now, to ^o Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed, which is ^p Christ.

17 And this I say, that the covenant, that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law, which was ^q four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise: but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

19 Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of ^r transgressions, till the seed should come, to whom the promise was made; and it was ordained by ^s angels in the hand of a ^t mediator.

20 Now, a mediator is not a mediator of one; but God is one.

21 Is the law then against the promises of God? God forbid: for if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law.

22 But the scripture hath concluded ^u all under sin, that the ^v promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe.

23 But before faith came, we were kept under the law, shut up unto the faith which should afterwards be revealed.

24 Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster, to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster.

26 For ye are all the ^y children of God, by faith in Christ Jesus.

27 For ^z as many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have ^a put on Christ.

28 There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all ^b one in Christ Jesus.

29 And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, ^c and heirs according to the promise.

CHAP. IV.

1 We were under the law till Christ came; as the heir is under his guardian till he be of age. 5 But Christ freed us from the law: 7 therefore we are servants no longer to it. 14 He remembereth their good-will to him, and his to them; 22 and sheweth that we are the sons of Abraham by the free-woman.

NOW I say, that the ^a heir, as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a ^a servant, though he be lord of all;

2 But is under tutors and governors until the time appointed of the father.

3 Even so we, when we were children, were in ^b bondage under the || elements of the world:

4 But when the ^c fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a ^d woman, made ^e under the law,

5 To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons.

6 And, because ye are Sons, God hath sent forth ^f the Spirit of his son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, ^g then an heir of God through Christ.

8 Howbeit then, when ye knew ^h not God, ye did service unto them which by nature are no gods.

9 But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye || again to the weak and beggarly || elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?

10 ⁱ Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years.

11 I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labour in ^j vain.

12 Brethren, I beseech you, be as I am; for I am as ye are: ye have not injured me at all.

13 Ye know how, through infirmity ^k of the flesh, I preached the gospel unto you at the first.

14 And my temptation, which was in my flesh, ye despised not, nor rejected; but received me as ^m an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus.

15 || Where is then the blessedness ye spake of? for I bear you record, that, if it had been possible, ye would have plucked out your own eyes, and have given them to me.

16 Am I, therefore, become your enemy, ^a because I tell you the truth?

17 They zealously affect you, but not well; yea, they would exclude || you, that ye might affect them.

18 But it is good to be zealously affected always in a good thing, and not only when I am present with you.

19 ^o My little children, of whom I travail in birth again, until Christ be formed in you,

20 I desire to be present with you now, and to change my voice; for || I stand in doubt of you.

21 Tell me, ye that desire to be under the law, do ye not hear the law?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sons; the one by ^p a bond-maid, the other by ^q a free-woman.

23 But he who was of the bond-woman, was born ^r after the flesh; but he of the free-woman, was ^s by promise.

24 Which things are an allegory: for these are the two || covenants; the one from the mount ^t Sinai, which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar.

25 For this Agar is mount Sina in Arabia, and || answereth to Jerusalem, which now is, and is in bondage with her children.

26 But Jerusalem ^u which is above, is free, which is the mother of us all.

27 For it is written, ^v Rejoice, thou barren that bearest not; break forth and cry, thou that travailest not: for the desolate hath many more children, than she which hath an husband.

28 Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are ^y the children of promise.

29 But as then, he that was born after the flesh, ^z persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, ^a even so it is now.

30 Nevertheless, what saith the scripture? ^b Cast out the bond-woman and her son: for the ^c son of the bond-woman shall not be heir with the son of the free-woman.

31 So then, brethren, we are not children of the bond-woman, ^d but of the free.

CHAP. V.

1 He moveth them to stand in their liberty, 3 and not to observe circumcision; 13 but rather love, which is the sum of the law. 19 He reckoneth up the works of the flesh, 22 and the fruits of the Spirit; 25 and exhorteth to walk in the Spirit.

STAND fast therefore, in the ^a liberty where-with Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the ^b yoke of bondage.

2 Behold, I Paul say unto you, that ^c if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testify again to every man that is circumcised, that he is a ^d debtor to do the whole law.

4 Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law; ^e ye are fallen from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit wait for the ^f hope of righteousness by faith.

6 For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith ^g which worketh by love.

7 Ye did run well; || who did hinder you, that ye should not obey the truth?

8 This persuasion cometh not of || him that calleth you.

9 ^h A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump.

10 I have confidence in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded; but he that troubleth you shall bear his judgment, who-soever he be.

11 And I, brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer ⁱ persecution? then is the offence ^k of the cross ceased.

12 I would they were even cut off which trouble you.

13 For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an ^l occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14 For all the ^m law is fulfilled in one word, even in this, ⁿ Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

15 But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another.

16 This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and || ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.

17 For the flesh lusteth ^o against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other; so that ye ^p cannot do the things that ye would.

18 But if ye be led ^q of the Spirit, ye are not under the law.

19 Now the ^r works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness,

20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies,

21 Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revelings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things, shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

22 But the ^s fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, 23 Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.

24 And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh, with the || affections and lusts.

25 If we ^t live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

CHAP. VI.

1 He moveth them to deal mildly with a brother that hath slipped, 2 and to bear one another's burdens, 6 to be liberal to their teachers, 9 and not weary of well-doing. 12 He sheweth what they intend that preach circumcision: 14 he glorieth in nothing, save in the cross of Christ.

BRETHREN, || if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are ^a spiritual, restore such an one in the ^b spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.

2 Bear ye ^c one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ.

3 For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself.

4 But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and ^d not in another.

5 For ^e every man shall bear his own burden.

6 ^f Let him that is taught in the word, communicate unto him that teacheth, in all good things.

7 Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, ^g that shall he also reap.

8 For he that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption: but he that soweth to the Spirit, shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

9 And ^h let us not be weary in well-doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

10 As we have, therefore, opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of ⁱ the household of faith.

11 Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand.

12 As many as desire to make a fair shew in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised; ^k only lest they should suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.

13 For neither they themselves who are circumcised, keep the law; but desire to have you circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh.

14 But God forbid that I should glory, ^l save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, || by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I ^m unto the world.

15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but ⁿ a new creature.

16 And as many as walk ^o according to this rule, peace be on them, and mercy, and upon the ^p Israel of God.

17 From henceforth let no man trouble me; for I ^q bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle, to the EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutations, 3 and thanksgiving for the Ephesians, 4 he treateth of our election, 6 and adoption by grace, 11 which is the true and proper fountain of man's salvation: 13 and because the height of this mystery cannot easily be attained unto, 16 he prayeth that they may come 18 to the full knowledge, and 20 possession thereof in Christ.

PAUL, an apostle of Jesus Christ, ^a by the will of God, ^b to the saints which are at Ephesus, and to the ^c faithful in Christ

Jesus:

2 Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 ^d Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly || places in Christ;

4 According as he hath ^e chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we ^f should be holy, and without blame before him in love:

5 ^g Having predestinated us unto the adoption of children, by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will:

6 To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the Beloved.

7 In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace;

8 Wherein he hath abounded toward us, in all wisdom and prudence;

9 Having made known unto us the ^h mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in himself:

10 That in the dispensation ⁱ of the fulness of times, he might gather together in one ^k all things in Christ, both which are in ^l heaven, and which are on earth, even in him:

11 In whom ^m also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to ⁿ the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will:

12 That we should be to the praise of his glory, who first || trusted in Christ.

13 In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation; in whom also, after that ye believed, ye ^o were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, 14 Which is the ^p earnest of our inheritance, ^q until the redemption of the ^r purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory.

15 Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints,

16 Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 That the ^s God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation, || in the knowledge of him:

18 The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is ^t the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,

5 Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened ^e us together with Christ; (by grace ye are saved;)

6 And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in ^f heavenly places, in Christ Jesus;

7 That in the ages to come, he might shew the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us, through Christ Jesus.

8 For by grace are ye saved, through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God;

9 Not of works, lest any man should boast:

10 For we are his ^g workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ^h ordained that we should walk in them.

11 Wherefore remember, that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, who are called Uncircumcision, by that which is called the Circumcision in the flesh made by hands;

12 That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from ⁱ the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world:

13 But now in Christ Jesus, ye, who ^k sometimes were far off, are made ^l nigh by the blood of Christ.

14 For he is our peace, who hath made ^m both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us;

15 Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the ^m law of commandments contained in ordinances, for to make in himself of twain, one new man, so making peace;

16 And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body ⁿ by the cross, having slain the enmity ^o thereby;

17 And came, and ^p preached peace to you which were afar off, and to them that were nigh.

18 For ^q through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father.

19 Now, therefore, ye are no more strangers and foreigners, ^r but fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God:

20 And are ^s built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the ^t chief corner stone;

21 In whom all the building fitly framed together, groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord:

CHAP. III.

5 The hidden mystery, 6 that the Gentiles should be saved, 3 was made known to Paul by revelation: 8 and to him was that grace given, that 9 he should preach it. 13 He desireth them not to faint for his tribulation, 14 and prayeth 19 that they may perceive the great love of Christ towards them.

FOR this cause, I Paul, ^a the prisoner of Jesus Christ, ^b for you Gentiles;

2 If ye have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is given me ^c to you-ward;

3 How that by ^d revelation he made known unto me the mystery, (as I wrote ^e afore in few words,

4 Whereby, when ye read, ye may understand my ^f knowledge in the mystery of Christ,)

5 Which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his ^g holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit:

6 That the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel;

7 Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me, by the effectual working of his power.

8 Unto me, who am less ^h than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that ⁱ I should preach among the Gentiles, the unsearchable riches of Christ;

9 And to make all men see what is the fellowship of ^j the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ:

10 To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known, ^k by the church, the manifold wisdom of God,

11 According to ^l the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord:

12 In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for you, ¹ which is your glory.

14 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 Of whom the ^m whole family in heaven and earth is named,

16 That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in ⁿ the inner man;

17 That Christ may ^o dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love,

18 May be able to ^p comprehend with all saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height;

19 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all ^q the fulness of God.

20 Now, unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us,

21 Unto him be ^r glory in the church by Christ Jesus, throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

CHAP. IV.

1 He exhorteth to unity; 7 and declareth that God therefore giveth divers 11 gifts unto men, that his church might be 13 edified, and 16 grown up in Christ. 18 He calleth them from the impurity of the Gentiles, 24 to put on the new man, 25 to cast off lying, and 29 corrupt communication.

I THEREFORE, (^a the prisoner || of the Lord,) beseech you that ye ^b walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called,

2 With all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, forbearing one another in love:

3 Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the ^c bond of peace.

4 There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in ^d one hope of your calling;

5 One Lord, one faith, one baptism,

6 ^e One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all.

7 But unto every one of us is given grace ^f according to the measure of the gift of Christ.

8 Wherefore he saith, ^g When he ascended up on high, he led || captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men.

9 (Now ^h that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended first into the lower parts of the earth?)

10 He that descended, is the same also that ascended up, far above all heavens, that he might || fill all things.)

11 ⁱ And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers;

12 For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the ^k body of Christ;

13 Till we all come || in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the || stature of the fulness of Christ;

14 That we henceforth be no more children, ¹ tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;

15 But ^m || speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ;

16 ⁿ From whom the whole body fitly joined together, and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body, unto the edifying of itself in love.

17 This I say, therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk ^o not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind;

18 Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God, through the ignorance that is in them, because of the ^p blindness of their heart:

19 Who, being past feeling, have ^q given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.

20 But ye have not so learned Christ;

21 If so be that ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus;

22 That ye ^r put off, concerning the former conversation, the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts;

23 And ^s be renewed in the spirit of your mind:

24 And that ye put on the new man, which, after God, is created in righteousness and || true holiness.

25 Wherefore, putting away lying, ^t speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another.

26 ^u Be ye angry, and sin not; let not the sun go down upon your wrath;

27 ^x Neither give place to the devil.

28 Let him that stole, steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good; that he may have || to give to him that needeth.

29 Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good || to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers.

30 And ^y grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are ^z sealed unto the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil-speaking, be put away from you, with all malice:

32 And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, ^a even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.

BE ye, therefore, ^a followers of God, as dear children :

2 And ^b walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us, an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling savour.

3 But ^c fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints ;

4 Neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not ^d convenient : but rather giving of thanks.

5 For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in ^e the kingdom of Christ and of God.

6 Let no man deceive you with vain words : for because of these things cometh the ^f wrath of God upon the children of || disobedience.

7 Be not ye, therefore, partakers with them.

8 For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord : walk as ^g children of light :

9 (For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness, and righteousness, and truth ;)

10 Proving what is acceptable unto the Lord.

11 And have no ^h fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them.

12 For it is a shame even to speak ⁱ of those things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things that are || reprov'd, are made manifest by the light : for whatsoever doth make manifest, is light.

14 Wherefore he saith, ^k Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light.

15 ^l See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, 16 ^m Redeeming the time, because the days are ⁿ evil.

17 Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is.

18 And be not ^o drunk with wine, wherein is excess : but be filled with the Spirit ;

19 Speaking to yourselves in psalms, and hymns, and ^p spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord ;

20 Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ ;

21 Submitting yourselves, one to another, in the fear of God.

22 ^q Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord.

23 For ^r the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church ; and he is the Saviour of the body.

24 Therefore, as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing.

25 ^s Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and ^t gave himself for it ;

26 That he might sanctify and cleanse it with ^u the washing of water, by the word ;

27 That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing ; but that it should be holy, and without blemish.

28 So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies : he that loveth his wife loveth ^x himself.

29 For no man ever yet hated his own flesh ; but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Lord the church :

30 For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 ^y For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh.

32 This is a great mystery : but I speak concerning Christ and the church.

33 Nevertheless, let every one of you in particular so love his wife, even ^z as himself ; and the wife see that she || reverence her husband.

CHAP. VI.

1 The duty of children towards their parents, 5 of servants towards their masters. 10 Our life is a warfare, 12 not only against flesh and blood, but also spiritual enemies. 13 The complete armour of a Christian, 18 and how it ought to be used. 21 Tychicus is commended.

CHILDREN, ^a obey your parents, in the Lord : for this is right.

2 ^b Honour thy father and mother, (which is the first commandment with promise,)

3 That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth.

4 And, ^c ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath : but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

5 ^d Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with ^e fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ ;

6 Not with eye-service, as men-pleasers ; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God ^f from the heart ;

7 With good-will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men :

8 Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he ^g receive of the Lord, ^h whether he be bond or free.

9 And, ye masters, do the same things unto them, || forbearing threatening : knowing that || your Master also is in heaven ; ⁱ neither is there respect of persons with him.

10 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

11 ^k Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

12 For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against || spiritual wickedness in || high places.

13 Wherefore, take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand || the evil day, and || having done all, to stand.

CHAP. I.

3 He testifieth his thankfulness to God, and his love toward them, for the fruits of their faith, and fellowship in his sufferings, 9 daily praying to him for their increase in grace: 12 He sheweth what good the faith of Christ had received by his troubles at Rome, 21 and how ready he is to glorify Christ, either by his life or death: 27 exhorting them to unity, 28 and to fortitude in persecution.

PAUL and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the ^a saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the ^b bishops and ^c deacons:

2 Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I thank my God upon every || remembrance of you,

4 Always, in every prayer of mine for you all, making request with joy,

5 For your fellowship in the gospel, from the first day until now;

6 Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun ^d a good work in you, || will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ:

7 Even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, because || I have you in my heart; inasmuch as both in my bonds, and in the defence and confirmation of the gospel, ye all are || partakers of my grace.

8 For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ.

9 And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all || judgment;

10 That ye may || approve things that || are excellent; that ye may be sincere, and without offence, till the day of Christ;

11 Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are ^e by Jesus Christ ^f unto the glory and praise of God.

12 But I would ye should understand, brethren, that the things which happened unto me, have fallen out rather unto the furtherance of the gospel;

13 So that my bonds || in Christ are manifest in all || the palace, and || in all other places;

14 And many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.

15 Some indeed preach Christ, even of ^g envy and strife; and some also of good-will.

16 The one preach Christ of contention, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my bonds;

17 But the other of love, knowing that I am set for ^h the defence of the gospel.

18 What then? notwithstanding, every way, whether in pretence or in truth, Christ is preached; and I therein do rejoice, yea, and will rejoice.

19 For I know that this shall turn to my salvation ⁱ through your prayer, and the supply of the Spirit ^k of Jesus Christ, 20 According to my ^l earnest expectation, and my hope, that in nothing ^m I shall be ashamed, but that with all ⁿ boldness, as always, so now also, Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.

22 But if I live in the flesh, this is the fruit of my labour: yet what I shall choose, I wot not.

23 For I am in a strait ^o betwixt two, having a desire ^p to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better:

24 Nevertheless, to abide in the flesh is more needful for you.

25 And having this confidence, I know that I shall abide and ^q continue with you all, for your furtherance and joy of faith;

26 That your ^r rejoicing may be more abundant in Jesus Christ for me, by my coming to you again.

27 Only ^s let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ; that, whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one one mind, ^a striving together for the faith of the gospel;

28 And in nothing terrified by your adversaries: which is to them an evident ^a token of perdition, but to you of salvation, and that of God.

29 For unto you it is ^a given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake:

30 Having the same conflict which ^a ye saw in me, and now hear to be in me.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth them to unity, and to all humbleness of mind, by the example of Christ's humility and exaltation: 12 to a careful proceeding in the way of salvation, that they be as lights to the wicked world, 16 and comforts to him their apostle, who is now ready to be offered up to God. 19 He hopeth to send Timothy to them, whom he greatly commendeth, 25 as Epaphroditus also; whom he presently sendeth to them.

IF there be, therefore, any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any ^a fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies,

2 ^b Fulfil ye my joy that ye be like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.

3 Let nothing be done through ^c strife or vain-glory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves.

4 Look not every man on ^d his own things, but every man also on the things of others.

5 Let this mind be in you, which ^e was also in Christ Jesus;

6 Who, being in the ^f form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God;

7 But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a ^g servant, and was made in the ^h likeness of men:

8 And, being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross.

9 Wherefore God also hath ⁱ highly exalted him, and given him a name ^j which is above every name;

10 That at the name of Jesus ^k every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth;

11 And that every ^l tongue should confess, that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

12 Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling:

13 For it is God ^m which worketh in you, both to will and to do of his good pleasure.

14 Do all things without murmurings and ⁿ disputings;

15 That ye may be blameless and ^o harmless, the sons of God without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ^p ye shine as lights in the world;

16 Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither laboured in vain.

17 Yea, and if I be ^q offered upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy and rejoice with you all.

18 For the same cause also do ye joy and rejoice with me.

19 ^r But I trust in the Lord Jesus, to send ^s Timotheus shortly unto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I have no man ^t like-minded, who will naturally care for your state.

21 For all ^u seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's.

22 But ye know the proof of him, that, as a ^v son with the father, he hath served with me in the gospel.

23 Him, therefore, I hope to send presently, so soon as I shall see how it will go with me.

24 But I trust in the Lord, that I also ^w myself shall come shortly.

25 Yet I supposed it necessary, to send to you ^x Epaphroditus my brother, and companion in labour, and ^y fellow-soldier, but your ^z messenger, and he that ministered to my wants.

26 For ^a he longed after you all, and was full of heaviness, because that ye had heard that he had been sick.

27 For indeed he was sick nigh unto death: but God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 I sent him, therefore, the more carefully, that, when ye see him again, ye may rejoice, and that I may be the less sorrowful.

29 Receive him, therefore, in the Lord, with all gladness, and ^b hold such in reputation:

30 Because for the work of Christ he was nigh unto death, not regarding his life to ^c supply your lack of service towards me.

CHAP. III.

1 He warneth them to beware of the false teachers of the circumcision, 4 shewing that himself hath greater cause than they, to trust in the righteousness of the law: 7 which notwithstanding he counteth as dung and loss, to gain Christ and his righteousness, 12 therein acknowledging his own imperfection. 15 He exhorteth them to be thus minded, 17 and to imitate him, 18 and to decline the ways of carnal Christians.

FINALLY, my brethren, ^d rejoice in the Lord. To write the same things to you, to me indeed is not grievous, but for you it is safe.

2 Beware ^e of dogs, beware of evil-workers, beware of the ^f concision.

3 For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the Spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh:

4 Though I might also have ^g confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh; ^h I do more:

4 Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice.

5 Let your moderation be known unto all men. ^e The Lord is at hand.

6 Be ^f careful for nothing: but in every thing by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God.

10 But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me ^k hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity.

11 Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith ^l to ^l be content.

12 I know both how to be ^m abased, and I know how to abound; every where, and in all things, I am instructed, both to be full, and to be hungry, both to abound, and to suffer need.

13 I can do all things ⁿ through Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding, ye have well done, that ye did ^o communicate with my affliction.

15 Now, ye Philippians, know also, that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church communicated with me, as concerning giving and receiving, ^p but ye only.

16 For even in Thessalonica, ye sent once and again unto my necessity.

17 Not because I desire a gift: but I desire ^q fruit that may abound to your account.

18 But ^r I have all, and abound; I am full, having received of ^r Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an ^s odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well-pleasing to God.

19 But my God shall supply all your need, according to his ^t riches in glory, by Christ Jesus.

20 Now, ^u unto God and our Father be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

21 Salute every saint in Christ Jesus. ^v The brethren which are with me, greet you.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle, to the COLOSSIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After salutation, he thanketh God for their faith, 7 confirmeth the doctrine of Epaphras, 9 prayeth further for their increase in grace; 14 describeth the true Christ; 21 encourageth them to receive Jesus Christ; and commendeth his own ministry.

PAUL, ^aan apostle of Jesus Christ, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

2 To the saints and ^bfaithful brethren in Christ which are at Colosse: ^cGrace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,

4 Since we ^dheard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints;

5 For the hope which is ^elaid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel:

6 Which is come unto you, as it is in ^fall the world; and bringeth forth fruit, as it doth also in you, since the day ye heard of it, and knew ^gthe grace of God in truth:

7 As ye also learned of ^hEpaphras, our dear fellow-servant, who is for you a faithful minister of Christ;

8 Who also declared unto us your ⁱlove in the Spirit.

9 For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding:

10 That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, ^kbeing fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God;

11 ^lStrengthened with all might according to his glorious power, unto all patience and long-suffering, ^mwith joyfulness;

12 Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the ⁿinheritance of the saints in light;

13 Who hath delivered us from ^othe power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of ^phis dear Son;

14 In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins;

15 Who is ^qthe image of the invisible God, the first-born of every creature;

16 For ^rby him were all things created that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones or dominions, or principalities, or powers; all things were created by him, and for ^shim;

17 ^tAnd he is before all things, and by him all things consist;

18 And he is the head of the body, the church, ^uwho is the beginning; ^vthe first-born from the dead; that || in all things he might have the pre-eminence;

19 For it pleased the Father, that in him should ^wall fulness dwell:

20 And (|| having made peace through the blood of his cross) by him to reconcile ^xall things unto himself: by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven.

21 And you, that were sometime alienated, and enemies || in your mind by ^ywicked works, yet now hath he reconciled,

22 In the ^zbody of his flesh through death, to present you holy, and unblameable, and unreprouvable, in his sight:

23 If ye continue in the faith ^agrounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to ^bevery creature which is under heaven: whereof I Paul am made a minister:

24 Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the ^cafflictions of Christ in my flesh for his body's sake, which is the church;

25 Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is given to me for you, || to fulfil the word of God:

26 Even ^dthe mystery, which hath been hid from ages, and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints;

27 To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles, which is, Christ || in you, ^ethe hope of glory:

28 Whom we preach, ^fwarning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus;

29 Whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily.

CHAP. II.

1 He still exhorteth them to be constant in Christ, 8 to beware of philosophy, and vain traditions; 18 worshipping of angels, 20 and legal ceremonies, which are ended in Christ.

FOR I would that ye knew what great || conflict I have for you, and for them at Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh;

2 That their hearts might be comforted, ^abeing knit together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgment of the mystery of God, and of the Father, and of Christ;

3 || In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 And this I say, lest any man should ^bbeguile you with enticing words.

5 For though I be ^a absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, joying and beholding your ^d order, and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.

6 As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him;

7 ^e Rooted and built up in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving.

8 Beware lest any man ^f spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the ^g rudiments of the world, and not after Christ:

9 For in him dwelleth all the ^h fulness of the Godhead bodily.

10 And ye are ⁱ complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power:

11 In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ:

12 ^j Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead.

13 ^k And you, being dead in your sins, and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses;

14 ^l Blotting out the hand-writing of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross;

15 And, having spoiled ^m principalities and powers, he made a shew of them openly, triumphing over them ⁿ in it.

16 Let no man, therefore, judge you, ^o in meat, or in drink, or ^p in respect of an holy-day, or of the new-moon, or of the sabbath-days;

17 Which are a ^q shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ.

18 Let no man ^r beguile you of your reward ^s in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, ^t intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind;

19 And not holding ^u the head, from which all the body, by joints and bands, having nourishment ministered and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God.

20 Wherefore, if ye be dead with Christ, from the ^v rudiments of the world, ^w why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances, 21 (^x Touch not, taste not, handle not; 22 Which all are to perish with the using,) after ^y the commandments and doctrines of men?

23 Which things have indeed a shew of wisdom in will-worship and humility, and ^z neglecting of the body; not in any honour to the satisfying of the flesh.

CHAP. III.

1 He sheweth where we should seek Christ: 5 he exhorteth to mortification, 10 to put off the old man, and to put on Christ: 12 exhorting to charity, humility, and other several duties.

IF ye then be risen ^a with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God.

2 Set your ^b affection on things above, not on things on the earth.

3 For ye ^c are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God.

4 When Christ, ^d who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.

5 Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; ^e fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry;

6 For which things' sake, ^f the wrath of God cometh on the ^g children of disobedience:

7 In the which ye also walked some time, when ye lived in them:

8 But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth.

9 ^h Lie not one to another, ⁱ seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds;

10 And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him:

11 Where there is neither ^j Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free; but Christ is all, and in all.

12 Put on, therefore, ^k as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long-suffering;

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a ^l quarrel against any; even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye.

14 And, ^m above all these things, put on charity, which is the ⁿ bond of perfectness.

15 And let ^o the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ^p ye thankful.

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in ^q psalms, and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts, to the Lord.

17 And ^r whatsoever ye do in word, or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.

18 ^s Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord.

19 ^t Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them.

20 ^u Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well-pleasing unto the Lord.

21 ^v Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

22 ^w Servants, obey in all things your masters, according to the flesh; not with eye-service, as men-pleasers, but in singleness of heart, fearing God:

23 And whatsoever ye do, ^x do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men;

24 Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the ^y reward of the inheritance: ^z for ye serve the Lord Christ.

^a PAUL, and ^b Silvanus, and Timotheus, unto the church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Jesus Christ : ^c Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 ^d We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers ;

3 Remembering without ceasing your ^e work of faith, and ^f labour of love, and patience of hope, in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father ;

4 Knowing, brethren || beloved, ^g your election of God.

5 For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in ^h much assurance ; as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake.

6 And ye became ⁱ followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost :

7 So that ye were ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and Achaia.

8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to God-ward is ^j spread abroad ; so that we need not to speak any thing.

9 For they themselves shew of us what manner ^k of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols, to serve the living and true God ;

10 And to ^l wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from ^m the wrath to come.

rendered both why Saint Paul was so long absent from them, and also why he was so desirous to see them.

FOR ^a yourselves, brethren, know our entrance into you, that it was not in vain :
2 But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated, as ye know, at ^b Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God, with much ^c contention.

3 For our exhortation was not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile ;

4 But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak, not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts.

5 For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloak of covetousness : ^d God is witness.

6 Nor of men sought we glory, neither of you, nor yet of others, when we might have || been burdensome, as the apostles of Christ.

7 But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children :

8 So, being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, ^e but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us.

9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travail : for ^f labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God.

10 Ye ^g are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and justly, and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe :

11 As ye know, how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged every one of you, (as a father ^h doth his children,)

12 ⁱ That ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.

13 For this cause also thank we God ^k without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God, which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, ^l but (as it is in truth) the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe.

14 For ye, brethren, became followers of the churches of God, ^m which in Judea are in Christ Jesus : for ye also have suffered like things of your own countrymen, even as they have of the Jews ;

15 Who both killed the Lord Jesus and their own prophets, and have || persecuted us ; and they please not God, and are contrary to all men ;

16 ⁿ Forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles, that they might be saved, to ^o fill up their sins alway : ^p for the wrath is come upon them to the uttermost.

17 But we, brethren, being taken from you for a short time in presence, not in heart, endeavoured the more abundantly to see your face with great desire.

18 Wherefore we would have come unto you (even I Paul) once and again, ^q but Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of || rejoicing ? are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ ^r at his coming ?

20 For ye are our glory and joy.

CHAP. III.

1. Saint Paul testifieth his great love to the Thessalonians ; partly by sending Timothy unto them to strengthen and comfort them ; partly by rejoicing in their well-doing ; 10 and partly by praying for them, and desiring a safe coming unto them.

WHEREFORE, when we could no longer ^a forbear, we thought it good to be left at ^b Athens alone,

2 And sent ^c Timotheus our brother, and minister of God, and our fellow-labourer in the gospel of Christ, to establish you, and to comfort you concerning your faith ;

3 That no man should be moved by these afflictions : for yourselves know that we are ^d appointed thereunto.

4 For verily, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation, even as it came to pass, and ye know.

5 For this cause, when I ^e could no longer forbear, I sent to know your faith, lest by some means the ^f tempter have tempted you, and our labour be in vain.

6 But now, when Timotheus came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and charity, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, desiring greatly to see us, as we also to see you ;

7 Therefore, brethren, we were ^g comforted over you in all our affliction and distress by your faith ;

8 For now we live, if ye ^h stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thanks can we render to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we joy for your sakes before our God ;

10 ⁱ Night and day praying exceedingly that we ^k might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith ?

11 Now God himself, and our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, || direct our way unto you.

12 And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one towards another, and towards all men, even as we do towards you ;

13 To the end he may ^l stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with ^m all his saints.

CHAP. IV.

1 He exhorteth them to go forward in all manner of godliness, 6 to live holily and justly, 9 to love one another ; 11 and quietly to follow their own business ; 13 and last of all, to sorrow moderately for the dead : 15 and unto this last exhortation is annexed a brief description of the resurrection, and second coming of Christ to judgment.

FURTHERMORE, then, we || beseech you, brethren, and || exhort you by the Lord Jesus, ^a that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk, and to please God, so ye would abound more and more

2 For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.

3 For this is ^b the will of God, even your ^c sanctification, that ye should ^d abstain from fornication :

4 That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour ;

5 Not in the lust ^e of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God :

6 That no man go beyond and || defraud his brother || in any matter ; because that the Lord is ^f the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you, and testified.

7 For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, ^g but unto holiness.

8 He, therefore, that || despiseth, despiseth not man, but God, who hath also given unto us his holy Spirit.

9 But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write unto you ; for ye yourselves are ^h taught of God to love one another.

10 And indeed ye do it towards all the brethren which are in all Macedonia : but we beseech you, brethren, that ye ⁱ increase more and more ;

11 And that ye study to be quiet, and to do ^k your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you :

12 That ye may walk ^l honestly towards them that are without, and that ye may have lack || of nothing.

13 But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, ^m even as others which have no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus died, and rose again, even so ⁿ them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

15 For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are ^o alive, and remain unto the coming of the Lord, shall not ^p prevent them which are asleep.

16 For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with ^q the trump of God : and the dead in Christ shall rise first.

17 Then we, which are alive and remain, shall be caught up together with them in ^r the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air : ^s and so shall we ever be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, ^t comfort one another with these words.

CHAP. V.

1 He proceedeth in the former description of Christ's coming to judgment, 14 and giveth divers precepts, 23 and so concludeth the epistle.

BUT ^a of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you :

2 For yourselves know perfectly, that ^b the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night.

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safety, then ^c sudden destruction cometh upon them, ^d as travail upon a woman with child ; and they shall not escape.

4 But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.

5 Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day : we are not of the night, nor of darkness.

6 Therefore, let us not ^e sleep as do others ; but let us watch and be sober.

7 For they that sleep, sleep in the night ; and they that be drunken, are ^f drunken in the night.

8 But let us who are of the day, be sober, ^g putting on the breast-plate of faith and love ; and for an helmet the hope of salvation :

9 For God hath not appointed us to ^h wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ,

10 Who died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him.

11 Wherefore, || comfort yourselves together, || Or, exhort.

and edify one another, even as also ye do.

12 And we beseech you, brethren, ⁱ to know them which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you :

13 And to esteem them very highly in love for their works' sake. ^k And be at peace among yourselves.

14 Now we || exhort you, brethren, warn them that are || unruly, comfort the feeble-minded, support the weak, be patient towards all || Or, disorderly.

15 ^l See that none render evil for evil unto any man ; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves and to all men.

16 Rejoice evermore.

17 ^m Pray without ceasing.

18 In every thing give thanks ; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.

19 ⁿ Quench not the Spirit.

20 ^o Despise not prophesyings.

21 ^p Prove all things ; hold fast that which is good.

22 ^q Abstain from all appearance of evil.

23 And the ^r very God of peace sanctify you wholly ; and I pray God, your whole spirit, and soul, and body, be preserved ^s blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it.

25 Brethren, ^t pray for us.

¶ The Second Epistle of PAUL the Apostle, to the THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Saint Paul certifieth them of the good opinion which he had of their faith, love, and patience; 11 and therewithal useth divers reasons for the comforting of them in persecution, whereof the chiefest is taken from the righteous judgment of God.

PAUL, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, unto the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ:

2 Grace unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 ^b We are bound to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is meet, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the charity of every one of you all towards each other aboundeth;

4 So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God, for ^c your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure;

5 Which is a ^d manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which ye also suffer.

6 Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to ^e recompense tribulation to them that trouble you.

7 And to you who are troubled, rest with us, ^f when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with [†] his mighty angels,

8 In flaming fire, ^{||} taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that ^g obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ;

9 Who shall be punished with ^h everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power;

10 When he shall come to be ⁱ glorified in his saints, and to be admired in all them that believe (because our testimony among you was believed) in that day.

11 Wherefore also, we pray always for you, that our God would ^{||} count you worthy of this calling, and fulfil all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the ^k work of faith with power;

12 That the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

CHAP. II.

1 He willeth them to continue steadfast in the truth received; 3 sheweth that there shall be a departure from the faith, 8 and a discovery of Antichrist, before the day of the Lord come: 15 and thereupon repeateth his former exhortation, and prayeth for them.

NOW we beseech you, brethren, by ^a the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by ^b our gathering together unto him,

2 ^c That ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand.

3 Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come ^d a falling away first, and ^e that man of sin be revealed, ^f the son of perdition;

4 Who opposeth and exalteth himself above ^g all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he, as God, sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God.

5 Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I told you these things?

6 And now ye know what ^{||} with-holdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.

7 For ^h the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letteth, will let, until he be taken out of the way;

8 And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume ⁱ with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming;

9 Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan, with all power, ^k and signs; and lying wonders,

10 And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in ^l them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

11 And for ^m this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should ⁿ believe a lie;

12 That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but ^o had pleasure in unrighteousness.

13 But we are bound to give thanks alway to God for you, brethren, beloved of the Lord, because God hath, ^p from the beginning, chosen you to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit, and belief of the truth:

14 Whereunto he called you by our gospel to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the ^q traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word or our epistle.

16 Now, our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, ^r which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and ^s good hope through grace;

17 Comfort your hearts, and ^t stablish you in every good word and work.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

1 He craveth their prayers for himself, 3 testifieth what confidence he hath in them, 5 maketh request to God in their behalf, 6 giveth them divers precepts, especially to shun idleness and ill company; 16 and last of all, concludeth with prayer and salutation.

FINALLY, brethren, ^a pray for us, that the word of the Lord [†] may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you :

2 And that we may be delivered from [†] unreasonable and wicked men : ^b for all men have not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, ^c and keep you from evil.

4 And we have confidence in the Lord touching you, that ye both do and will do the things which we command you.

5 And the ^d Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and ^{||} into the patient waiting for Christ.

6 Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye ^e withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh ^f disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us.

7 For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us : for we behaved ^g not ourselves disorderly among you ;

8 Neither did we eat any man's bread for nought ; but wrought ^h with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you :

9 Not because we have ⁱ not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

10 For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, ^k that if any would not work, neither should he eat.

11 For we hear that there are ^l some which walk among you disorderly, ^m working not at all, but are ⁿ busy-bodies.

12 Now them that are such, we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, ^o that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread.

13 But ye, brethren, ^p ^{||} be not weary in well-doing.

14 And if any man obey not our word ^{||} by this epistle, note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed.

15 Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16 Now, the Lord ^q of peace himself give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you all.

17 The salutation of Paul with ^r mine own hand, which is the token in every epistle : so I write.

18 ^s The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

¶ The First Epistle of PAUL the Apostle, to TIMOTHY.

CHAP. I.

1 Timothy is put in mind of the charge which was given unto him by Paul, at his going to Macedonia. 9 Of the right use and end of the law. 11 Of Saint Paul's calling to be an apostle: 20 and of Hymeneus and Alexander.

PAUL, an apostle of Jesus Christ, ^a by the commandment of ^b God our Saviour, and Lord Jesus Christ, which is our hope ;

2 Unto Timothy, my ^c own son in the faith : ^d Grace, mercy, and peace, from God our Father, and Jesus Christ our Lord.

3 As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, ^e when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine ;

4 ^f Neither give heed to fables, and endless genealogies, which minister questions rather than godly edifying which is in faith ; so do.

5 Now the end of the commandment is ^g charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned ;

6 From which some ^h having swerved, have turned aside unto ⁱ vain jangling :

7 Desiring to be teachers of the law ; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm.

8 But we know that the law ^j is good, if a man use it lawfully ;

9 Knowing this, ^k that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for ^l sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers,

10 For whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for men-stealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine ;

11 According to the glorious gospel of the ^m blessed God, ⁿ which was committed to my trust.

12 And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry ;

13 Who was before a ^o blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious : but I obtained mercy, because I did ^p it ignorantly in unbelief.

14 And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.

15 This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that ^r Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners ; of whom I am chief.

16 Howbeit, for this cause I ^s obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might shew forth all long-suffering, for a pattern to them which should should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting.

17 Now, unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

18 ^uThis charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, according ^xto the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare;

19 ^yHolding faith and a good conscience; which some having put away, concerning faith, ^zhave made shipwreck:

20 Of whom is ^aHymeneus and ^bAlexander; whom I have ^cdelivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme.

CHAP. II.

1 That it is meet to pray and give thanks for all men, and the reason why. 9 How women should be attired. 12 They are not permitted to teach. 15 They shall be saved notwithstanding the testimonies of God's wrath, in child-birth, if they continue in faith.

I || Exhort, therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for ^aall men;

2 For ^bkings, and for all that are in || authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty:

3 For this ^cis good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour,

4 Who will have ^dall men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth.

5 For ^ethere is one God, and ^fone mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus;

6 Who gave himself a ransom for all, || to be testified in due time.

7 ^gWhereunto I am ordained a preacher, and an apostle, (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not,) a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and verity.

8 I will, therefore, that men pray every where, ^hlifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting.

9 In like manner also, that ⁱwomen adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with || brodered hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array;

10 But (which becometh women professing godliness) ^kwith good works.

11 Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection.

12 But I suffer not a woman ^lto teach, nor ^mto usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.

13 For ⁿAdam was first formed, then Eve.

14 And Adam was not deceived: but the ^owoman, being deceived, was in the transgression.

15 Notwithstanding she shall be saved in child-bearing, if they continue in faith, and charity, and holiness, with sobriety.

CHAP. III.

2 How bishops, and deacons, and their wives should be qualified; 14 and to what end Saint Paul wrote to Timothy of these things. 15 Of the church, and the blessed truth therein taught and professed.

THIS is a ^atrue saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work.

2^b A bishop then must be blameless; the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, || of good behaviour, given to hospitality, ^capt to teach;

3 || Not given to wine, no striker, ^dnot greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler; not covetous;

4 One that ruleth well his own house, having || his children in subjection, with all gravity;

5 (For if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?)

6 Not || a novice, lest, ^ebeing lifted up with pride, he fall into the condemnation of the devil.

7 Moreover, he must have a good report of ^fthem which are without; lest he fall into reproach, ^gand the snare of the devil.

8 Likewise ^hmust the deacons be grave, not double-tongued, ⁱnot given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre;

9 ^jHolding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience.

10 And let these also first be proved; then let them use the office of a deacon, being ^kfound blameless.

11 Even so ^lmust their wives be grave, not slanderers; sober, faithful in all things.

12 Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well.

13 For they that have || used the office of a deacon well, ^mpurchase to themselves a good degree, and ⁿgreat boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

14 These things write I unto thee, hoping to come unto thee shortly:

15 But if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in ^othe house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and || ground of the truth.

16 And, without controversy, great is the mystery of godliness: ^pGod was manifest in the flesh, ^qjustified in the Spirit, ^rseen of angels, ^spreached unto the Gentiles, ^tbelieved on in the world, ^ureceived up into glory.

CHAP. IV.

1 He foretelleth that in the latter times there shall be a departure from the faith. 6 And to the end that Timothy might not fail in doing his duty, he furnisbeth him with divers precepts belonging thereto.

NOW the Spirit speaketh expressly, that ^ain the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, ^band doctrines of devils;

2 Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having ^ctheir conscience seared with a hot iron;

3 ^dForbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats, which God hath created to be ^ereceived with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth.

4 For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving:

5 For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, ^f nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained.

7 But refuse ^g profane and old wives' fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness.

8 For bodily exercise profiteth ^h little; but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of ⁱ the life that now is, and of that which is to come.

9 ⁱ This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation.

10 For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the ^k Saviour of all men, ^l specially of those that believe.

11 These things command and teach.

12 Let no man ^m despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.

13 Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.

14 Neglect not the ⁿ gift that is in thee, which was given thee ^o by prophecy, with the laying on ^p of the hands of the presbytery.

15 Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear ^q to all.

16 Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save ^r thyself and ^s them that hear thee.

CHAP. V.

1. Rules to be observed in reproofing. 3 Of widows.

17 Of elders. 23 A precept for Timothy's health.

24 Some men's sins go before unto judgment, and some men's do follow after.

REBUKE not an elder, but entreat him as ^a a father, and the younger men as brethren;

2 The elder women as mothers, the younger as sisters, with all purity.

3 Honour widows that are ^b widows indeed.

4 But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to shew ^c piety at home, and to ^d requite their parents; for that is good and acceptable before God.

5 Now she that is a widow indeed, and desolate, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 But she that liveth ^e in pleasure, is dead while she liveth.

7 And these things give in ^f charge, that they may be blameless.

8 But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own ^g house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.

9 Let not a widow be ^h taken into the number, under threescore years old, having been the wife ⁱ of one man,

10 Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have ^j lodged strangers, if she have ^k washed the saints' feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work.

11 But the younger widows refuse: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry;

12 Having damnation, because they have cast off their first faith.

13 And withal they learn ^l to be ^m idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also, and busy-bodies, speaking things which they ought not.

14 ⁿ I will therefore that the younger women marry, bear children, guide the house, give none occasion to the adversary ^o to speak reproachfully.

15 For some are already turned aside after Satan.

16 If any man or woman that believeth have widows, let them relieve them, and let not the church be charged; that it may relieve them that are widows indeed.

17 ^p Let the elders that rule well, be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine.

18 For the scripture saith, ^q Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn: and, ^r The labourer is worthy of his reward.

19 Against an elder receive not an accusation, but ^s before two or three witnesses.

20 Them that sin rebuke ^t before all, that ^u others also may fear.

21 ^v I charge thee before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that thou observe these things, ^w without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality.

22 ^x Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be ^y partaker of other men's sins: keep thyself pure.

23 Drink no longer water, but use ^z a little wine for thy stomach's sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 Some men's sins are ^{aa} open beforehand, going before to judgment; and some ^{ab} men they follow after.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of the duty of servants. 3 Not to have fellowship with new-fangled teachers. 6 Godliness is great gain; 10 and love of money the root of all evil. 11 What Timothy is to flee, and what to follow; 17 and whereof to admonish the rich. 20 To keep the purity of true doctrine, and to avoid profane janglings.

LET as many servants as are under the yoke, count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the ^{ae} name of God and ^{af} his doctrine be not blasphemed.

2 And they that have believing masters, let them not despise ^{ag} them, because they are ^{ah} brethren; but rather do ^{ai} them service, because they are ^{aj} faithful and beloved, partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort.

3 If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to ^{ak} wholesome words, ^{al} even the words of our Lord

Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine ^d which is according to godliness;

4 He is || proud, knowing nothing, but || doating about ^e questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, 5 || Perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, ^f supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself.

6 But ^g godliness with contentment is great gain. 7 For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out.

8 And having food and raiment, let us be therewith content.

9 But they that will be rich, fall into temptation, and a ^h snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in ⁱ destruction and perdition.

10 For the ^k love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have || erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

12 Fight the good fight of faith, ^m lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

13 I give thee ⁿ charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ

Jesus, ^o who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good || confession;

14 That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ;

15 Which in his times he shall shew, ^p who is the blessed and only Potentate, ^q the King of kings, and Lord of lords;

16 Who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; ^r whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting. Amen.

17 Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in [†] uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy;

18 That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, || willing to communicate;

19 ^s Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.

20 O Timothy, ^t keep that which is committed to thy trust, ^u avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called:

¶ The Second Epistle of PAUL the Apostle, to TIMOTHY.

!CHAP. I.

1 Paul's love to Timothy, and the unfeigned faith which was in Timothy himself, his mother, and grandmother: 6 He is exhorted to stir up the gift of God which was in him, 8 to be steadfast and patient in persecution, 13 and to persist in the form and truth of that doctrine which he had learned of him. 15 Phygellus and Hermogenes, and such like are noted, and Onesiphorus is highly commended.

PAUL, ^a an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to ^b the promise of life, which is in Christ Jesus,

2 To Timothy, my ^c dearly beloved son; Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father, and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 I thank God, whom I ^d serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day;

4 Greatly desiring to ^e see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy;

5 When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, ^f and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also.

6 Wherefore I put thee in remembrance, ^g that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands.

7 For God hath not given us the spirit of ^h ar; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.

8 Be not thou, therefore, ashamed of the ⁱ testimony of our Lord, nor of me ^j his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the ^k afflictions of the gospel, according to the power of God:

9 Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, ^l not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus, ^m before the world began;

10 But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath ⁿ abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel:

11 ^o Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed; for I know whom I have || believed, and am persuaded that he is able to ^p keep that which I have committed unto him against ^q that day.

13 Hold fast the ^r form of ^s sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love, which is in Christ Jesus.

14 ^t That good thing which was committed unto thee, keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us.

17 But, when he was in Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord grant unto him that he may find mercy of the Lord in ^z that day: and in how many things he ministered unto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

CHAP. II.

1 He is exhorted again to constancy and perseverance, and to do the duty of a faithful servant of the Lord, in dividing the word aright, and shunning profane and vain babblings. 17 Of Hymeneus and Philetus. 19 The foundation of the Lord is sure. 22 He is taught whereof to beware, and what to follow after, and in what sort the servant of the Lord ought to behave himself.

THOU, therefore, ^a my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

2 And the things that thou hast heard of me ^b among many witnesses, the same commit thou to ^b faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.

3 Thou, therefore, endure hardness, as ^c a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, ^d entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier.

5 And if a man also ^e strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully.

6 ^f The husbandman that laboureth, must be first partaker of the fruits.

7 Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.

8 Remember that Jesus Christ, of the seed of David, was raised from the dead, ^f according to my gospel:

9 Wherein I suffer trouble as an evil-doer, even unto bonds: ^g but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I endure all ^h things for the elect's sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.

11 It is a faithful saying, For ⁱ if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him:

12 ^k If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: ^l if we deny him, he also will deny us:

13 ^m If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord, that they strive not ⁿ about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers.

15 Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.

16 But shun ^o profane and vain babblings; for they will increase unto more ungodliness:

17 And their word will eat as doth a ^p canker; of whom is ^p Hymeneus and Philetus;

18 Who concerning the ^q truth have erred; saying that the ^r resurrection is past already; and overthrow the faith of some.

19 Nevertheless, the foundation of God standeth ^r sure, having this seal, ^s The Lord knoweth them that ^t are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ, depart from iniquity.

20 But in a great house there are not only vessels of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth: ^u and some to honour, and some to dishonour.

21 If a man, therefore, ^x purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work.

22 ^y Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart.

23 But ^z foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes.

24 And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, ^{||} patient,

25 In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God ^a peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth;

26 And that they may [†] recover themselves out of the ^b snare of the devil, who are [†] taken captive by him at his will.

CHAP. III.

1 He adviseth him of the times to come, 6 describeth the enemies of the truth, 10 propoundeth unto him his own example, 16 and commendeth the holy scriptures.

THIS know also, that ^a in the last days, perilous times shall come:

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 ^b Without natural affection, truce-breakers, ^{||} false accusers, ^c incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good,

4 Traitors, heady, high-minded, ^d lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;

5 Having a form of godliness, but ^e denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

6 For of this sort are they which creep into ^f houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts;

7 Ever learning, and never able to come to ^g the knowledge of the truth.

8 Now, as Jannes and Jambres ^h withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth; men of corrupt minds, ^{||} reprobate concerning the faith.

9 But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, ⁱ as theirs also was.

10 But ^{||} thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, charity, patience,

11 Persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at ^k Antioch, at ^l Iconium, at ^m Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all, the Lord delivered me.

12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus, ^a shall suffer persecution.

13 But evil men, and ^o seducers, shall wax ^p worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them;

15 And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, through faith which is in Christ Jesus.

16 All scripture is given by ^r inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness;

17 That ^s the man of God may be perfect, ^t thoroughly furnished unto all good works.

CHAP. IV.

1 He exhorteth him to do his duty with all care and diligence; 6 certifieth him of the nearness of his death; 9 willeth him to come speedily unto him, and 11 to bring Mark with him, and certain other things which he wrote for; 14 warneth him to beware of Alexander the smith; 16 informeth him what had befallen him at his first answering: 19 and soon after he concludeth.

^a I Charge thee, therefore, before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, ^b who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing, and his kingdom;

2 Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and doctrine.

3 For ^c the time will come, when they will not endure ^d sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves ^e teachers, having itching ears;

4 And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables.

5 But watch thou in all things; endure afflictions, do the work of ^f an evangelist, ^g make full proof of thy ministry.

6 For I am now ready to be ^h offered, and the time of my departure is at hand.

7 I have fought a good fight, I have finished ^h my course, I have kept the faith.

8 Henceforth there is laid up for me a ⁱ crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous

Judge, shall give me at ^k that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing.

9 Do thy diligence to come shortly unto me:

10 For ^l Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica, Crescens to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.

11 ^m Only Luke is with me. Take ⁿ Mark, and bring him with thee: for he is profitable to me for the ministry.

12 And ^o Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but especially the parchments.

14 ^p Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil; the Lord ^q reward him according to his works:

15 Of whom be thou ware also; for he hath greatly withstood ^r our words.

16 At my first answer no man stood with me, ^s but all men forsook me: ^t I pray God that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding, the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear: and I was delivered out ^u of the mouth of the lion.

18 And the Lord shall ^v deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: ^w to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

19 Salute ^x Prisca and Aquila, and the ^y household of Onesiphorus.

20 ^z Erastus abode at Corinth: but ^a Trophimus have I left at Miletum, sick.

21 ^b Do thy diligence to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL to TITUS.

CHAP. I.

1, 5 For what end Titus was left in Crete. 6 How they that are to be chosen ministers ought to be qualified. 11 The mouths of evil teachers to be stopped: 12 and what manner of men they be.

PAUL, a servant of God, and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect, and ^a the acknowledging of the truth, which is after godliness;

2 ^b In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised ^c before the world began;

3 But hath in due times ^d manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me, according to the commandment of God our Saviour;

4 To ^e Titus, ^f mine own son after the ^g common faith; Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ our Saviour.

5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest set in order the things that are ^h wanting, and ⁱ ordain elders in every city, as I had appointed thee:

Or, that bringeth salvation to all men, as he appeared.

7 For a bishop must be blameless, ^k as the steward of God; not self-willed, not soon angry, ^l not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre:

8 But a lover of hospitality, a lover of ^{||} good men, sober, just, holy, temperate;

9 Holding fast the faithful word, ^{||} as he hath been taught, that he may be able, by sound doctrine, both to exhort and to convince the gain-sayers.

10 For there are many unruly and ^m vain talkers, and deceivers, specially they ⁿ of the circumcision:

11 Whose mouths must be stopped; ^o who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake.

12 One of themselves, ^p even a prophet of their own, said, The Cretians are always liars, evil beasts, slow-bellies.

13 This witness is true: wherefore rebuketh them sharply, that they may be ^q sound in the faith;

14 ^r Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men that turn from the truth.

15 ^s Unto the pure all things are pure; but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled.

16 They profess that they know God; but ^t in works they deny him; being abominable and disobedient, and unto every good work ^{||} reprobate.

CHAP. II.

1 Directions given unto Titus both for his doctrine and life. 9 Of the duty of servants, 11 and in general of all Christians.

BUT speak thou the things which become ^a sound doctrine:

2 That the aged men be ^{||} sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience.

3 The aged women likewise, that ^{they} be in behaviour as becometh ^{||} holiness; not ^{||} false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things;

4 That they may teach the young women to be ^{||} sober, to love their husbands, to love their children;

5 To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, ^b obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.

6 Young men likewise exhort to be ^{||} sober-minded.

7 In all things shewing thyself a ^c pattern of good works; in doctrine ^{||} shewing uncorruptness, gravity, ^d sincerity,

8 ^e Sound speech that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you.

9 Exhort ^f servants to be obedient unto their own masters, and to please ^{them} well in all things; not ^{||} answering again;

10 Not purloining, but shewing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things.

11 For the grace of God, ^{||} that bringeth salvation, hath appeared to all men,

12 Teaching us, that, denying ungodliness and ^g worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world;

13 ^h Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ:

14 Who ⁱ gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself ^k a peculiar people, zealous of good works.

15 These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. ^l Let no man despise thee.

CHAP. III.

1 Titus is yet further directed by Paul, both concerning the things he should teach, and not teach: 10 he is desired also to reject obstinate hereticks; 12 which done, he appointeth him both time and place, wherein he should come unto him; and so concludeth.

PUT them in mind ^a to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work,

2 To speak ^b evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, shewing all meekness unto all men.

3 For ^c we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another.

4 But after that the kindness and ^{||} love of ^d God our Saviour toward man appeared,

5 ^e Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the ^f washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost;

6 Which he ^g shed on us ^{||} abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Saviour;

7 That being ^h justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the ⁱ hope of eternal life.

8 This is a ^k faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, That they which have believed in God, might be careful to maintain ^l good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.

9 But ^m avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain.

10 A man that is an heretick, after the first and second admonition, ⁿ reject;

11 Knowing that he that is such, is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself.

12 When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or ^o Tychicus, be diligent to come unto me to Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.

13 Bring Zenas the lawyer and ^p Apollos on their journey diligently, that nothing be wanting unto them.

14 And let ours also learn to ^{||} maintain good works for necessary uses, that they be not ^q unfruitful.

15 All that are with me salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. ^r Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL to PHILEMON.

4 He rejoiceth to hear of the faith and love of Philemon: 9 whom he desireth to forgive his servant Onesimus, and lovingly to receive him again.

PAUL, ^a a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and Timothy ^{our} brother, unto Philemon our dearly beloved, and fellow-labourer,
2 And to ^{our} beloved Apphia, and ^b Archippus our fellow-soldier, and to the ^c church in thy house:

3 ^d Grace to you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 ^e I thank my God, making mention of thee always in my prayers,

5 Hearing of thy ^f love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints;

6 That the communication of thy faith may become effectual, ^g by the acknowledging of every good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.

7 For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because the bowels of the saints are ^h refreshed by thee, brother.

8 Wherefore, though I might be much bold in Christ, to enjoin thee that which is convenient;

9 Yet, for love's sake, I rather beseech ^{thee}, being such an one as Paul the aged, and now also a ⁱ prisoner of Jesus Christ.

10 I beseech thee for my son ^k Onesimus, whom I ^l have begotten in my bonds:

11 Which in time past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable to thee and to me;

12 Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is, mine own bowels;

13 Whom I would have retained with me, that in ^m thy stead he might have ministered unto me in the bonds of the gospel:

14 But without thy mind would I do nothing; that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, ⁿ but willingly.

15 For ^o perhaps he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receive him for ever;

16 Not now as a servant, but above a servant, ^p a brother beloved, specially to me; but how much more unto thee, both in the flesh, and in the Lord?

17 If thou count me, therefore, a ^q partner, receive him as myself.

18 If he hath wronged thee, or oweth ^{thee} ought, put that on mine account:

19 I Paul have written ^{it} with mine own hand, I will repay ^{it}: albeit I do not say to thee, how thou owest unto me even thine ownself besides.

20 Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord: ^r refresh my bowels in the Lord.

21 Having ^s confidence in thy obedience, I wrote unto thee, knowing that thou wilt also do more than I say.

22 But withal prepare me also a lodging: for I trust that ^t through your prayers, I shall be given unto you.

23 There salute thee ^u Epaphras, my fellow-prisoner in Christ Jesus;

24 ^x Marcus, ^y Aristarchus, ^z Demas, ^a Lucas, my fellow-labourers.

25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ ^{be} with your spirit. Amen.

¶ The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle, to the HEBREWS.

CHAP. I.

1 Christ in these last times coming to us from the Father, 4 is preferred above the angels, both in person and office.

GOD, who at sundry times, and ^a in divers manners, spake in time past unto the fathers, by the prophets,

2 Hath in ^b these last days spoken unto us by ^{his} Son, whom he hath ^c appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;

3 ^d Who, being the brightness of ^{his} glory, and the express image of his person, and ^e upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high;

4 Being made so much ^f better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.

5 For unto which of the angels said he at any time, ^g Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, ^h I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son?

6 And again; when he bringeth in the first-begotten into the world, he saith, ⁱ And let all the angels of God worship him.

7 And of the angels he saith, ^k Who maketh his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire.

8 But unto the Son ^{he} saith, ^l Thy throne, O God, ^{is} for ever and ever; a sceptre of [†] righteousness ^{is} the sceptre of thy kingdom:

9 Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, ^{even} thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.

11 ⁿ They shall perish, but thou remainest; and they all shall wax old as doth a garment;

12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art ^o the same, and thy years shall not fail.

13 But to which of the angels said he at any time, ^p Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool?

14 Are they not all ministering spirits, ^q sent forth to minister for them who shall be ^r heirs of salvation?

CHAP. II.

1 We ought to be obedient to Christ Jesus, 5 and that because he vouchsafed to take our nature upon him, 14 as it was necessary.

THEREFORE we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, ^a lest at any time we should [†] let them slip.

2 For if the word spoken by ^b angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward;

3 How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the ^c first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them ^d that heard him:

4 God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and || gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?

5 For unto the angels hath he not put in subjection ^e the world to come, whereof we speak.

6 But one in a certain place testified, saying, ^f What is man that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man that thou visitest him?

7 Thou madest him || a little lower than the angels; thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands:

8 ^g Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him. But now we see not yet all things put under him:

9 But we see Jesus, who was made a ^h little lower than the angels, || for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he, by the grace of God, should taste ⁱ death for every man.

10 For it became him, ^k for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation ^l perfect through sufferings;

11 For both he that sanctifieth, and they who are sanctified, are all ^m of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren;

12 Saying, ⁿ I will declare thy name unto my brethren: in the midst of the church will I sing praise unto thee.

13 And again, ^o I will put my trust in him. And again, ^p Behold, I, and the children which God hath given me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise

^q took part of the same; that ^r through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil;

15 ^s And deliver them, who, through fear of death, were all their life-time subject to bondage.

16 For verily [†] he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham.

17 Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren; that he might be a ^t merciful and faithful high priest, in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people.

18 For in that he himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is ^u able to succour them that are tempted.

CHAP. III.

1 Christ is more worthy than Moses: 7 therefore if we believe not in him we shall be more worthy of punishment than hard-hearted Israel.

WHEREFORE, holy brethren, partakers of the ^a heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus;

2 Who was faithful to him that [†] appointed him, as also ^b Moses was faithful in all his house.

3 For this man was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he ^c who hath builded the house, hath more honour than the house.

4 For every house is builded by some man; but he that built ^d all things, is God.

5 And Moses verily was faithful in all his house ^e as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after;

6 But Christ as a ^f Son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope, firm unto the end.

7 Wherefore, (as the Holy Ghost saith, ^g To-day if ye will hear his voice,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness:

9 When your ^h fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They do always err in their heart; and ⁱ they have not known my ways.

11 So I swore in my wrath, [†] They shall not enter into my rest:)

12 Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God.

13 ^k But exhort one another daily, while it is called To-day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, ^l if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end;

15 While it is said, ^m To-day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation.

17 But with whom was he grieved forty years? was it not with them that had sinned, ^o whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom ^p sware he, that they should not enter into his rest, but to them that believed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, ^a because of unbelief.

CHAP. IV.

1 The rest of Christians is attained by faith. 12 The power of God's word. 14 By our High Priest Jesus the Son of God, subject to infirmities, but not to sin, 16 we must and may go boldly to the throne of grace.

LET us therefore ^a fear, lest a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to ^b come short of it.

2 For unto us was the gospel preached as well as unto them: but [†] the word preached did not profit them, ^{||} not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.

3 For we which have believed, do enter into rest: as he said, ^c As I have sworn in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, ^d And God did rest the seventh day from all his works.

5 And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing, therefore, it remaineth that some must enter therein, and ^e they to whom ^{||} it was first preached, entered not in, because of unbelief:

7 (Again, he limiteth a certain day, saying in David, To-day, after so long a time; as it is said, ^f To-day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

8 For if ^{||} Jesus had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth, therefore, a ^{||} rest to the people of God.

10 For he that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, ^g as God did from his.)

11 Let us labour, therefore, to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after ^h the same example of ^{||} unbelief.

12 For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and ⁱ sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a ^k discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature that is not ^l manifest in his sight: but all things are ^m naked, and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do.

14 Seeing then that we have a great High Priest, that is ⁿ passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, ^o let us hold fast our profession.

15 For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities: but was in all points tempted like as we are, ^p yet without sin.

16 Let us, therefore, ^a come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

CHAP. V.

1 The authority and honour of our Saviour's priesthood. 11 Negligence in the knowledge thereof is reproved.

FOR every high priest taken from among men, is ordained for men in things *pertain-*ing to God, ^a that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins:

2 Who ^{||} can have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way; for that he himself also is ^b compassed with infirmity.

3 And by reason hereof he ought, as for the people, so also ^c for himself, to offer for sins.

4 ^d And no man taketh this honour unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron:

5 So also Christ glorified not himself, to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, ^e Thou art my Son, to-day have I begotten thee.

6 As he saith also in another place, ^f Thou art a priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec:

7 Who, in the days of his flesh, when he had offered up ^g prayers and supplications, with strong crying and tears, unto him that was ^h able to save him from death, and was heard, ^{||} in that he feared;

8 Though he were a Son, yet learned he ⁱ obedience by the things which he suffered;

9 And, being made perfect, he became the Author of eternal salvation, unto all them that obey him;

10 Called of God an high priest, ^k after the order of Melchisedec:

11 Of whom we have many things to say, ^l and hard to be uttered; seeing ye are dull of hearing.

12 For, when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of ^m milk, and not of strong meat.

13 For every one that useth milk, [†] is unskilful in the word of righteousness; for he is a babe.

14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are ^{||} of full age, even those who by reason ^{||} of use, have their senses exercised to discern ⁿ both good and evil.

CHAP. VI.

1 He exhorteth not to fall back from the faith, 11 but to be steadfast, 12 diligent and patient to wait upon God, 13 because God is most sure in his promise.

THEREFORE, ^a leaving ^{||} the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from ^b dead works, and of faith towards God, on of hands, ^e and of resurrection of the dead, and of ^f eternal judgment.

3 And this will we do, if God permit.

4 For ^g it is impossible for those who were once ^h enlightened, and have tasted ⁱ of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers ^k of the Holy Ghost,

5 And have tasted the good word of God, and the powers ^l of the world to come,

6 If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put ^m him to ⁿ an open shame.

7 For the earth, which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them ^o by whom it is dressed, ^p receiveth blessing from God :

8 But that ^q which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is high unto cursing; whose end is to be burned.

9 But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak.

10 For God ^r is not unrighteous to forget your ^s work and labour of love, which ye have shewed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister.

11 And we desire that every one of you do shew the same diligence to ^t the full assurance of hope unto the end ;

12 That ye be not slothful, but followers of them, who through faith and patience ^u inherit the promises.

13 For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could swear by no greater, ^v he sware by himself,

14 Saying, Surely, blessing, I will bless thee; and multiplying, I will multiply thee.

15 And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.

16 For men verily swear by the greater; and an oath for confirmation, ^w is to them ^x an end of all strife.

17 Wherein God, willing more abundantly to shew unto the ^y heirs of promise the ^z immutability of his counsel, ^{aa} confirmed it by an oath :

18 That by two immutable things, in which ^{ab} it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon ^{ac} the hope set before us :

19 Which ^{ad} hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which ^{ae} entereth into that within the vail,

20 Whither the ^{af} forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made ^{ag} an high priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec.

CHAP. VII.

1 Christ Jesus is a priest after the order of Melchisedec, 11 and so far more excellent than the priests of Aaron's order.

FOR this ^{ah} Melchisedec, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him ;

2 To whom also Abraham gave a ^{ai} tenth part of all ; first being, by interpretation, King of righteousness, and after that also King of Salem, which is, King of peace ;

3 Without father, without mother, ^{aj} without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life ; but, made like unto the Son of God, abideth a priest continually.

4 Now consider how great this man ^{ak} was, unto whom even the patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils.

5 And verily ^{al} they that are of the sons of Levi, who receive the office of the priesthood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people, according to the law, that is, of their brethren, though they come out of the loins of Abraham :

6 But he, whose ^{am} descent is not counted from them, received ^{an} tithes of Abraham, and ^{ao} blessed him that had the promises.

7 And, without all contradiction, the less is blessed of the better.

8 And here men that die receive tithes : but there he ^{ap} receiveth them, ^{aq} of whom it is witnessed that he liveth.

9 And, as I may so say, Levi also, who receiveth tithes, paid tithes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loins of his father, when Melchisedec met him.

11 If, therefore, ^{ar} perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need ^{as} was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron ?

12 For the priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity a change also of the law.

13 For he, of whom these things are spoken, ^{at} pertaineth to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at the altar.

14 For ^{au} it is evident, that our Lord sprang out of Juda : ^{av} of which tribe Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood.

15 And it is yet far more evident ; for that after the similitude of Melchisedec there ariseth another priest, 16 Who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of ^{aw} an endless life.

17 For he testifieth, ^{ax} 'Thou art a priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec.

18 For there is verily a disannulling of the commandment going before, for the ^{ay} weakness and unprofitableness thereof.

19 For the law made ^{az} nothing perfect, ^{ba} but the bringing in of a ^{bb} better hope ^{bc} did ; by the which we draw nigh unto God.

20 And inasmuch as not without an oath ^{bd} he was made priest :

21 (For those priests were made ^{be} without an oath ; but this with an oath, by him that said unto him, ^{bf} 'The Lord sware, and will not repent, Thou art a priest for ever, after the order of Melchisedec :)

22 By so much was Jesus made a surety of a ^{bg} better testament.

23 And they truly were many priests, because cause they were not suffered to continue by reason of death :

24 But this man, because he continueth ever, hath || an unchangeable priesthood.

25 Wherefore he is able also to save them || to the uttermost, that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to ^r make intercession for them.

26 For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than ⁱ e heavens ;

27 Who needeth not daily, as ^s those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people's : for this he did ^t once, when he offered up himself.

28 For the law maketh men high priests, which have infirmity ; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is † consecrated for evermore.

CHAP. VIII.

1 By the eternal priesthood of Christ, the Levitical priesthood of Aaron is abolished ; † and the temporal covenant with the fathers, by the eternal covenant of the gospel.

NOW of the things which we have spoken, this is the sum : We have such an high priest, ^a who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens ;

2 A minister || of the sanctuary, and of the ^b true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man.

3 For every high priest is ^c ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices : wherefore, it is of necessity that this man have ^d somewhat also to offer.

4 For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that || there are priests that offer gifts according to the law :

5 Who serve unto the example and ^e shadow of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God, when he was about to make the tabernacle : ^f for, See, saith he, that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the mount.

6 But now hath he obtained a ^g more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better || covenant, which was established upon better promises.

7 For if that first covenant had been ^h faultless, then should no place have been sought for the second.

8 For finding fault with them, he saith, ⁱ Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah :

9 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt ; because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them no saith the Lord.

10 For ^k this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord ; I will † put my laws into their mind, and write them || in their hearts : and I will be to them ^l a God, and they shall be to me a people :

11 And they shall not teach every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord : ^m for all shall know me, from the least to the greatest.

12 For I will be ⁿ merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more.

13 In that he saith, A new covenant, he hath made the first old. Now, that which decayeth and waxeth old, is ready to vanish away.

CHAP. IX.

1 The description of the rites and bloody sacrifices of the law, † far inferior to the dignity and perfection of the blood and sacrifice of Christ.

THEN verily the first covenant had also || ordinances of divine service, ^a and a worldly sanctuary.

2 For there was a tabernacle made ; ^b the first wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shew-bread ; which is called || The Sanctuary.

3 And ^c after the second vail, the tabernacle, which is called The Holiest of all ;

4 Which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was ^d the golden pot that had manna, and ^e Aaron's rod that budded, and ^f the tables of the covenant ;

5 And ^g over it the cherubims of glory shadowing the mercy-seat ; of which we cannot now speak particularly.

6 Now, when these things were thus ordained, the priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God :

7 But into the second went the high priest alone ^h once every year, not without blood, which he offered for himself, and for the errors of the people :

8 The Holy Ghost this signifying, ⁱ that the way into the holiest of all, was not yet made manifest, while as the first tabernacle was yet standing :

9 Which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service ^k perfect, as pertaining to the conscience ;

10 Which stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal || ordinances, imposed on them until the time of reformation.

11 But Christ being come an high priest ^l of good things to come, by a ^m greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building ;

12 Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood, he entered in ⁿ once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us.

13 For if ^o the blood of bulls, and of goats, and ^p the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh ;

14 How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through ^q the eternal Spirit, offered himself without || spot to God, purge your conscience from ^r dead works, to serve the living God ?

15 And for this cause, he is the ^s mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they ^c which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 For where a testament is, there must also of necessity ^{||} be the death of the testator.

17 For a testament is ^u of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth.

18 Whereupon, neither the first testament was ^{||} dedicated without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves, and of goats, with water, and ^{||} scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book and all the people, 20 Saying, ^{*} This is the blood of the testament which God hath enjoined unto you.

21 Moreover, he sprinkled likewise with blood both the tabernacle, and all the vessels of the ministry.

22 And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and ^y without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was therefore necessary that ^z the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.

24 For Christ is not ^a entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now ^b to appear in the presence of God for us:

25 Nor yet that he should offer himself often, ^c as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others;

26 (For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world;) but now ^d once in ^e the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin, by the sacrifice of himself.

27 And as it is appointed unto men once to die, ^f but after this the judgment;

28 So ^g Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that ^h look for him shall he appear the second time, without sin, unto salvation.

CHAP. X.

1 The weakness of the law sacrifices. 10 The sacrifice of Christ's body once offered, 14 for ever hath taken away sins. 19 An exhortation to hold fast the faith with patience and thanksgiving.

FOR the law having a shadow of ^a good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices, which they offered year by year continually, make the comers thereunto ^b perfect:

2 For then ^{||} would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers, once purged, should have had no more conscience of sins.

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance again made of sins ^c every year.

4 For it is not ^d possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins.

5 Wherefore, when he cometh into the world, (130)

he saith, ^e Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not, but a body ^{||} hast thou prepared me:

6 In burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sin ^f thou hast had no pleasure:

7 Then said I, Lo, I come (in the volume of the book it is written of me) to do thy will, O God.

8 Above, when he said, Sacrifice, and offering, and burnt-offerings, and offering for sin, thou wouldest not, neither hadst pleasure therein; (which are offered by the law;)

9 Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God. He taketh away the first, that he may establish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, ^g through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

11 And every priest standeth daily ministering, and offering oftentimes the same sacrifices, ^h which can never take away sins:

12 But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins, ⁱ for ever sat down on the right hand of God:

13 From henceforth expecting ^k till his enemies be made his footstool.

14 For by one offering he hath ^l perfected for ever them that are sanctified;

15 Whereof the Holy Ghost also is a witness to us: for after that he had said before,

16 ^m This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them;

17 And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more.

18 Now, where remission of these is, there is no more offering for sin.

19 Having therefore, brethren, ^{||} boldness to enter into the ⁿ holiest by the blood of Jesus,

20 By a new and living ^o way, which he hath ^{||} consecrated for us, through the vail, that is to say, his flesh;

21 And having an high priest over ^p the house of God,

22 Let us ^q draw near with a true heart, ^r in full assurance of faith, having our hearts ^s sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water.

23 Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; for he is faithful that promised;

24 And let us consider one another, to provoke unto love, and to good works:

25 ^t Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, ^u as ye see the day approaching.

26 For ^w if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, 27 But a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries.

29 Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?

30 For we know him that hath said, ^v Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, ^z The Lord shall judge his people.

31 It is ^a a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

32 But call to remembrance the former days, in which, after ye ^b were illuminated, ye endured a great ^c fight of afflictions;

33 Partly, whilst ye were made a ^d gazing-stock, both by reproaches and afflictions; and partly, whilst ye became companions ^e of them that were so used.

34 For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance.

35 Cast not away, therefore, your confidence, ^f which hath great recompense of reward.

36 For ^g ye have need of patience; that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise.

37 For ^h yet a little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tarry.

38 Now, ⁱ the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not of them who draw back ^k unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul.

CHAP. XI.

1 What faith is. 6 Without faith we cannot please God. 7 The worthy fruits thereof in the fathers of old time.

NOW faith is the || substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things ^a not seen.

2 For by it the elders obtained a good report.

3 Through faith we understand that ^b the worlds were framed by the word of God; so that things which are seen, were not made of things which do appear.

4 By faith ^c Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness, that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts; and by it he, being dead, || yet speaketh.

5 By faith ^d Enoch was translated, that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation, he had this testimony, that he pleased God.

6 But without faith it is impossible to please him; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.

7 By faith ^e Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, || moved with fear, ^f prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the ^g righteousness which is by faith.

8 By faith ^h Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

9 By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, ⁱ dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise:

10 For he looked for a ^k city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith also ^l Sara herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful, who had promised.

12 Therefore sprang there even of one, and ^m him as good as dead, so many ⁿ as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand which is by the sea-shore innumerable.

13 These all died ^o in faith, not having ^p received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and ^q confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14 For they that say such things, ^r declare plainly that they seek a country.

15 And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned:

16 But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be ^s called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city.

17 By faith ^t Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises, offered up his only begotten son,

18 || Of whom it was said, ^u That in Isaac shall thy seed be called:

19 Accounting that God was able to ^v raise him up, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure.

20 By faith ^w Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.

21 By faith Jacob, when he was a dying, ^x blessed both the sons of Joseph; and ^y worshipped, leaning upon the top of his staff.

22 By faith ^z Joseph, when he died, || made mention of the departing of the children of Israel; and gave commandment concerning his bones.

23 By faith ^a Moses, when he was born, was hid three months of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child; and they were not afraid of the king's ^b commandment.

24 By faith ^c Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter;

25 Choosing rather to suffer ^d affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin, for a season;

26 Esteeming the reproach || of Christ, greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the ^e recompense of the reward.

27 By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible.

29 By faith ^h they passed through the Red sea, as by dry land; which the Egyptians assaying to do, were drowned.

30 By faith ⁱ the walls of Jericho fell down, after they were compassed about seven days.

31 By faith ^k the harlot Rahab perished not with them ^{||} that believed not, ^l when she had received the spies with peace.

32 And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gedeon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthae; of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets:

33 Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, ^m obtained promises, ⁿ stopped the mouths of lions, 34 Quenched the ^o violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.

35 ^p Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection:

36 And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover, of bonds and imprisonment:

37 They were ^q stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: ^r they wandered about in sheep-skins, and goat-skins, being destitute, afflicted, tormented:

38 (Of whom the world was not worthy;) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, ^s and in dens, and caves of the earth.

39 And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise:

40 God having ^t provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be ^u made perfect.

CHAP. XII.

1 An exhortation to constant faith, patience, and godliness. 22 A commendation of the new testament above the old.

WHEREFORE, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us ^a lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us ^b run with patience the race that is set before us,

2 Looking unto Jesus the ^c author and finisher of our faith; ^e who, for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds.

4 Ye have not ^d yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin.

5 And ye have forgotten the exhortation, which speaketh unto you, as unto children, ^o My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him;

6 For ^f whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth.

7 If ye endure chastening, ^g God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?

8 But if ye be without chastisement, ^h whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.

9 Furthermore, we have had fathers of our flesh, which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: shall we not much rather be in subjection unto ⁱ the Father of spirits, and live?

10 For they verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure; but he for our profit, that we might be partakers ^k of his holiness.

11 Now, no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless, afterward it yieldeth the peaceable ^l fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby:

12 Wherefore, ^m lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees;

13 And make ⁿ straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame, be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.

14 ^o Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord:

15 Looking diligently, lest any man ^p fail of the grace of God; lest ^q any root of bitterness springing up, trouble you, and thereby many be defiled:

16 Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, ^r who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright.

17 For ye know how that afterward, ^s when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no ^t place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears.

18 For ye are not come unto ^u the mount that might be touched, and that burned with fire, nor unto blackness, and darkness, and tempest,

19 And the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words; which ^v voice they that heard, ^w entreated that the word should not be spoken to them any more:

20 (For they could not endure that which was commanded. ^x And if so much as a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart:

21 And so terrible ^y was the sight, that Moses said, I exceedingly fear and quake:)

22 But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, ^z the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable ^a company of angels,

23 To the general assembly and ^b a church of the first-born, which are ^c written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men ^d made perfect, 24 And to Jesus the Mediator of the new ^e covenant, and to ^f the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than ^g that of Abel.

25 See that ye refuse not him that speaketh: for ^h if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that ⁱ speaketh from heaven;

1 Divers admonitions, as to charity, 4 to honest life, 5 to avoid covetousness, 7 to regard God's preachers, 9 to take heed of strange doctrines, 10 to confess Christ, 16 to give alms, 17 to obey governors, 18 to pray for the apostles. 20 The conclusion.

LET ^a brotherly love continue.

2 ^b Be not forgetful to entertain strangers; for thereby ^c some have entertained angels unawares.

3 Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body.

4 Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but ^d whoremongers and adulterers God will judge.

5 Let your conversation be without covetousness: and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, ^e I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee.

6 So that we may boldly say, ^f The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me.

7 Remember them which || have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: ^g whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation;

8 Jesus Christ the ^h same yesterday, and to-day, and for ever.

9 Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.

10 We have an altar, ⁱ whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle.

11 For ^k the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burnt without the camp.

12 Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, ^l suffered without the gate.

13 Let us go forth, therefore, unto him without the camp, bearing ^m his reproach.

14 ⁿ For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.

15 By him, therefore, let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, ^o the fruit of our lips, ^p giving thanks to his name.

16 But to do good, and to communicate, forget not: for ^p with such sacrifices God is well pleased.

17 ^q Obey them that || have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account; that they may do it with joy, and not with grief; for that is unprofitable for you.

18 Pray for us: for we trust we have a ^r good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly.

19 But I beseech you the rather to do this, ^s that I may be restored to you the sooner.

20 Now ^t the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting || covenant,

21 ^u Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, || working in you that which is well-pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

22 And I beseech you, brethren, suffer the word of exhortation; for I have written a letter unto you in few words.

23 Know ye, that our ^x brother Timothy is set at liberty; with whom, if he come shortly, I will see you.

24 Salute all them ^y that have the rule over you, and all the saints. They of Italy salute you.

25 ^z Grace be with you all. Amen.

¶ The general Epistle of JAMES.

CHAP. I.

1 We are to rejoice under the cross; 5 to ask wisdom of God, 13 and in our trials not to impute our weakness or sins unto him, 22 but rather to hearken to the word, to meditate in it, and to do thereafter: 26 otherwise men may seem, but never be truly religious.

JAMES, ^a a servant of God, and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

2 My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations;

3 Knowing this, ^c that the trying of your faith worketh patience.

4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

5 If any of you lack wisdom, ^d let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.

6 ^e But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering: for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea, driven with the wind, and tossed.

7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A ^f double-minded man is unstable in all his ways.

9 Let the brother of low degree || rejoice in that he is exalted:

10 But the rich, in that he is made low : because ^g as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.

11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth ; so also shall the rich man fade away in his days.

12 ^h Blessed is the man that endureth temptation ; for when he is tried, he shall receive the ⁱ crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

13 Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God ; for God cannot be tempted with ^j evil, neither tempteth he any man :

14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed.

15 Then, when lust ^k hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin ; and sin, when it is finished, ^l bringeth forth death.

16 Do not err, my beloved brethren.

17 Every good gift, and every perfect gift, is from above, ^m and cometh down from the Father of lights ; with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.

18 Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, ⁿ that we should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, ^o slow to speak, ^p slow to wrath :

20 For the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore ^q lay apart all filthiness, and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls :

22 But ^r be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, ^s deceiving your own selves.

23 For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass :

24 For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.

25 But whoso ^t looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his ^j deed.

26 If any man ^u among you seem to be religious, and ^v bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain.

27 Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father, is this, ^x To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to ^y keep himself unspotted from the world.

CHAP. II.

1 It is not agreeable to Christian profession to regard the rich, and to despise the poor brethren : 13 rather we are to be loving and merciful ; 14 and not to boast of faith, where no deeds are ; 17 which is but a dead faith, 19 the faith of devils, 21 not of Abraham, 25 and Rahab.

MY brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with ^a respect of persons.

2 For if there come unto your [†] assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man, in vile raiment ;

3 And ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a ^{||} good place ; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool :

4 Are ye not then ^b partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts ?

5 Harken, my beloved brethren, ^c Hath not God chosen the poor of this world ^d rich in faith, and heirs of ^{||} the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him ?

6 But ye have ^e despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment-seats ?

7 Do not they blaspheme that worthy name, by the which ye are called ?

8 If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, ^f Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well :

9 But if ye have ^g respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.

10 For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in ^h one point, he is guilty of all.

11 For ^{||} he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now, if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law.

12 So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the ⁱ law of liberty.

13 For he shall have judgment ^k without mercy that hath shewed no mercy ; and mercy ^{||} rejoiceth against judgment.

14 What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, ^l and have not works ? can faith save him ?

15 If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food,

16 And one of you say unto them, ^m Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled ; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body ; what doth it profit ?

17 Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being [†] alone.

18 Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works : shew me thy faith ^{||} without thy works, and ⁿ I will shew thee my faith by my works.

19 Thou believest that there is one God ; thou doest well. The ^o devils also believe, and tremble.

20 But wilt thou know, O vain man ! that faith without works is dead ?

21 Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar ?

22 ^{||} Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect ?

CHAP. IV.

1 We are to strive against covetousness, 4 intemperance, 5 pride, 11 detraction and rash judgment of others: 13 and not to be confident in the good success of worldly business; but mindful ever of the uncertainty of this life, to commit ourselves and all our affairs to God's providence.

FROM whence come wars and || fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your || lusts, that war in your members?

2 Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not:

3 Ye ask, and receive not, ^a because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your || lusts.

4 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the ^b friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever, therefore, will be ^c a friend of the world, is the enemy of God.

5 Do ye think that the scripture saith in vain, The spirit that dwelleth in us lusteth || to envy?

6 But he giveth more grace: wherefore he saith, ^d God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble.

7 Submit yourselves, therefore, to God. ^e Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

8 ^f Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. ^g Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double-minded.

9 Be afflicted, and mourn, and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness.

10 ^h Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.

11 Speak ⁱ not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, ^k and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge.

dure. Ye have heard of the ^kpatience of Job, and not; neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yea, be yea; and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation.

13 Is any among you afflicted? ^mlet him pray.
Is any merry? let ⁿhim sing psalms.

14 Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, ^oanointing him with oil in the name of the Lord:

15 And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, ^pthey shall be forgiven him.

16 Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed.
The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man ^qavaileth much.

17 Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and ^rhe prayed ¶ earnestly, that it might not rain; and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months.

18 And ^she prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 Brethren, ^tif any of you do err from the truth, and one convert him;

¶ The First Epistle general of PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 He bleaseth God for his manifold spiritual graces, 10 shewing that the salvation in Christ is no news, but a thing prophesied of old: 13 and exhorteth them accordingly to a godly conversation, forasmuch as they are now born anew by the word of God.

PETER, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers ^ascattered throughout Pontus,
Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

2 Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and ^bsprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace be multiplied.

3 ^cBlessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which, according to his ^dabundant mercy, hath ^ebegotten us again unto a lively hope, by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance incorruptible, and unde-filed, and that fadeth not away, ^freserved in heaven ¶ for you,

5 Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time:

6 Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for ^ga season (if need be) ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations;

7 That the ^htrial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried ⁱwith fire, might be found unto praise, and honour, and glory, at the appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable, and full of glory:

9 Receiving the ^jend of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

10 Of which salvation ^kthe prophets have enquired, and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you:

11 Searching what, or what manner of time, ^lthe Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us, they did minister the things which are now reported unto you by them that have preached the gospel unto you with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven;

13 Wherefore ⁿ gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope [†] to the end, for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the ^o revelation of Jesus Christ:

14 As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance;

15 But as he, which hath called you, is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation;

16 Because it is written, ^p Be ye holy; for I am holy.

17 And if ye call on the Father, ^a who, without respect of persons, judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear:

18 Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers;

19 But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish, and without spot:

20 Who verily was fore-ordained before the foundation of the world, ^r but was manifest in ^s these last times for you,

21 Who by him do believe in God that raised him up from the dead, and ^t gave him glory; that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit, unto unfeigned ^u love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently:

23 Being ^w born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, ^x by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever.

24 || For ^y all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away:

25 But the word of the Lord ^z endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you.

CHAP. II.

1 He deborteth them from the breach of charity:

4 shewing that Christ is the foundation whereon they are built. 11 He beseecheth them also to abstain from fleshly lusts, 13 to be obedient to magistrates; 18 and teacheth servants how to obey their masters, 20 patiently suffering for well-doing, after the example of Christ.

WHEREFORE, ^a laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil-speaking,

2 As ^b new-born babes, desire the sincere ^c milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby;

3 If so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious:

4 To whom coming, as unto a living stone, ^d disallowed indeed of men, but ^e chosen of God, and precious;

5 Ye also, as lively stones, ^f are built up a ^g spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

6 Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, ^g Behold, I lay in Sion a chief cornerstone, elect, precious; and he that believeth on him, shall not be confounded.

7 Unto you, therefore, which believe, he is || precious: but unto them which be disobedient, ^h the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,

8 ⁱ And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient; whereunto also they were appointed.

9 But ye are a chosen generation, ^k a royal priesthood, an holy nation, || a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the || praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light:

10 ^l Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

11 Dearly beloved, I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, ^m abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul;

12 ⁿ Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles; that, || whereas they speak against you as evil-doers, ^o they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation.

13 ^p Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake; whether it be to the king, as supreme;

14 Or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for ^q the punishment of evil-doers, and for ^r the praise of them that do well.

15 For so is the will of God, that with well-doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men:

16 As free, and not [†] using your liberty for a cloke of maliciousness, but as the servants of God.

17 || Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king.

18 ^s Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward.

19 For this is || thank-worthy, if a man for conscience towards God endure grief, ^t suffering wrongfully.

20 For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? But if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently; this is || acceptable with God.

21 For even hereunto were ye called; because Christ also suffered || for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps:

22 ^u Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth:

23 Who, when he was ^x reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but || committed himself to him that judgeth righteously:

CHAP. III.

1 He teacheth the duty of wives and husbands to each other; 8 exhorting all men to unity and love; 14 and to suffer persecution. 19 He declareth also the benefits of Christ toward the old world.

LIKEWISE, ^a ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that if any obey not the word, they also may, without the word, be ^b won by the conversation of the wives;

2 While they behold your chaste conversation coupled with fear:

3 ^c Whose adorning, let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel;

4 But let it be the ^d hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price.

5 For after this manner, in the old time, the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands;

6 Even as Sara obeyed Abraham, ^e calling him lord: whose ^f daughters ye are as long as ye do well, and are not afraid with any amazement.

7 Likewise, ye husbands, ^f dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that ^g your prayers be not hindered.

8 Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another: || love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous;

9 ^h Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise, blessing: knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing.

10 For ⁱ he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile:

11 Let him ^k eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.

12 For the ^l eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is [†] against them that do evil.

13 And who is he that will harm you, ^m if ye be followers of that which is good?

14 ⁿ But and if ye suffer for righteousness' sake, happy are ye: and ^o be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled:

15 But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an ^p answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and || fear;

16 ^q Having a good conscience: that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evil-doers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ.

17 For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well-doing, than for evil-doing.

18 For Christ also hath ^r once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in ^s the flesh, but quickened ^t by the Spirit:

19 By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison;

20 Which sometime were disobedient, ^u when once the long-suffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, ^x eight souls, were saved by water.

21 The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us, (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God) by ^y the resurrection of Jesus Christ:

22 Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; ^z angels, and authorities, and powers being made subject unto him.

CHAP. IV.

1 He exhorteth them to cease from sin by the example of Christ, and the consideration of the general end that now approacheth: 12 and comforteth them against persecution.

FORASMUCH then as Christ hath suffered for us ^a in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he ^b that hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin;

2 That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh, to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.

3 For the time past of our life may ^c suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries:

4 Wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, ^d speaking evil of you;

5 Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.

6 For, for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that ^e are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

7 But the ^f end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer.

8 And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: ^g for charity || shall cover the multitude of sins.

9 ^h Use hospitality one to another without grudging.

10 ⁱ As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

11 If any man speak, let him speak as ^k the oracles of God: if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God, in all things, may be glorified through Jesus Christ: to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12 Beloved, think it not strange concerning the ¹ fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you:

13 But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are ^m partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.

14 ⁿ If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the Spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of; but on your part he is glorified.

15 But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evil-doer, or as a ^o busy-body in other men's matters.

16 Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.

17 For the time is come, that judgment must begin ^p at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?

CHAP. V.

1 He exhorteth the elders to feed their flocks; 5 the younger to obey; 8 and all to be sober, watchful, and constant in the faith; 9 to resist the cruel adversary the devil.

THE elders which are among you I exhort, ^a who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed:

2 ^b Feed the flock of God, ^{||} which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind;

3 Neither as ^{||} being lords over God's heritage, but being ^c ensamples to the flock:

4 And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory ^d that fadeth not away.

5 Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder; yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for ^e God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.

6 ^f Humble yourselves, therefore, under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time:

7 ^g Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you.

8 ^h Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, ⁱ walketh about, seeking whom he may devour:

9 Whom resist, stedfast in the faith, knowing that ^k the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world.

10 But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you:

11 To him be ^l glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12 By ^m Sylvanus, a faithful brother unto you, (as I suppose,) I have written briefly, exhorting, and testifying that this is the true grace of God wherein ye stand.

13 The church that is at Babylon, elected together with you, saluteth you; and so doth ⁿ Marcus my son.

¶ The Second Epistle general of PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 Confirming them in hope of the increase of God's graces, 5 he exhorteth them by faith and good works, to make their calling sure: 12 whereof he is careful to remember them, knowing that his death is at hand: 16 and warneth them to be constant in the faith of Christ, who is the true Son of God, by the eye-witness of the apostles beholding his majesty, and by the testimony of the Father and the prophets.

SIMON PETER, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have obtained ^a like precious faith with us, through the righteousness of ^b God, and our Saviour Jesus Christ:

2 Grace and peace be ^c multiplied unto you, through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord,

3 According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us ^{||} to glory and virtue:

4 Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious ^d promises; that by these ye might be ^e partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

5 And beside this, giving all ^f diligence, add to your faith, virtue; and to virtue, knowledge;

6 And to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, godliness;

7 And to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, charity.

8 For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor ^g unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 But he that lacketh these things ^h is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

10 Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election ⁱ sure; for if ye do these things, ^k ye shall never fall:

11 For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

12 Wherefore I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though ye know them, and ¹ be established in the present truth.

13 Yea, I think it meet, as long as I am in this ^m tabernacle, ⁿ to stir you up, by putting you in remembrance;

14 Knowing that shortly I must put off this my tabernacle, even as ^o our Lord Jesus Christ hath shewed me.

15 Moreover, I will endeavour that ye may be able, after my decease, to have these things always in remembrance.

16 For we have not followed ^p cunningly-devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but ^q were eye-witnesses of his majesty.

17 For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, ^r This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

18 And this voice which came from heaven, we heard when we were with him in ^s the holy mount.

19 We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the ^t day-star arise in your hearts:

20 Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation.

21 For ^u the prophecy came not ^u in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

CHAP. II.

1 He foretelleth them of false teachers, shewing the impiety and punishment both of them and their followers; 7 from which the godly shall be delivered, as Lot was out of Sodom: 10 and more fully describeth the manners of those profane and blasphemous seducers, whereby they may be the better known and avoided.

BUT ^a there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be ^b false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that ^c bought them, and bring upon themselves ^d swift destruction.

2 And many shall follow their ^e pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.

3 And through covetousness shall they, with feigned words, make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time ^f lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not.

4 For if God spared not ^g the angels that sinned, ^h but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment;

5 And spared not the old world, but saved ^h Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly;

6 ⁱ And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes, condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly;

7 And ^k delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked;

8 (For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed ^l his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds:)

9 The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished;

10 But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise ^m government. ^m Presumptuous are they, self-willed, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities:

11 Whereas angels, which are greater in power and might, bring not ⁿ railing accusation ⁿ against them before the Lord.

12 But these, ^o as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not, and shall utterly perish in their own corruption;

13 And shall receive the reward of ^p unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to ^q riot in the day-time. ^r Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings, while they feast with you;

14 Having eyes full of ^t adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with ^s covetous practices; cursed children:

15 Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of ^t Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness;

16 But was rebuked for his iniquity: ^u the dumb ass, speaking with man's voice, forbade the madness of the prophet.

17 ^x These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever.

18 For when they speak ^y great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were ^y clean escaped from them who live in error.

19 While they promise them liberty, they themselves are ^z the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.

20 For ^b if, after they have escaped the pollutions of the world, through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.

21 For it had been ^c better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them.

22 But it is happened unto them according to the true proverb, ^d The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and, The sow that was washed, to her wallowing in the mire.

1. 13.

THIS second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in both which ^aI stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance;

2 That ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and ^bof the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour:

3 ^cKnowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts,

4 And saying, ^dWhere is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation.

5 For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the ^eword of God the heavens were of old, and the earth ^fstanding out of the water, and in the water;

6 Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished:

f Verse 10.

7 But the ^gheavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved ^hunto fire, against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.

8 But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and ⁱa thousand years as one day.

9 The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to us-ward, ^jnot willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

10 But ^kthe day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the ^lelements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also, and the works that are therein, shall be burned up.

11 Seeing then, that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in ^mall holy conversation and godliness, 12 Looking for and ⁿhasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be ^odissolved, and the elements shall ^pmelt with fervent heat?

13 Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look ^qfor new heavens, and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.

14 Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, ^rwithout spot, and blameless:

15 And account that ^sthe long-suffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also, according to the wisdom given unto him, hath written unto you;

16 As also in all his epistles, speaking in them ^tof these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction.

17 Ye, therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, ^ufall from your own steadfastness:

18 But ^vgrow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. ^wTo him be glory, both now and for ever. Amen.

¶ The First Epistle general of JOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 He describeth the person of Christ, in whom we have eternal life by a communion with God: 5 to which we must adjoin holiness of life, to testify the truth of that our communion and profession of faith, as also to assure us of the forgiveness of our sins by Christ's death.

3 That which we have seen and heard, declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and ^gwith his Son Jesus Christ.

4 And these things write we unto you, that ^hyour joy may be full.

5 This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that ⁱGod is light, and in him is no darkness at all.

6 If we say that we have fellowship with him, ^jand walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth:

7 But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another; and ^kthe blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin.

8 ^lIf we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 If we say that we have ^mnot sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

CHAP. II.

1 He comforteth them against the sins of infirmity. 3 Rightly to know God is to keep his commandments, 9 to love our brethren, 15 and not to love the world. 18 We must beware of seducers: 20 from whose deceits the godly are safely preserved by perseverance in faith, and holiness of life.

26 These things have I written unto you ^g concerning them that seduce you.

27 But the anointing, which ^h ye have received of him, abideth in you; and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you ⁱ of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in ^{||} him.

28 And now, little children, abide in him; that, ^k when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.

29 If ye know that he is righteous, ^{||} ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is ^l born of him.

CHAP. III.

1 He declareth the singular love of God towards us, in making us his sons: 3 who therefore ought obediently to keep his commandments, 11 as also brotherly to love one another.

BEHOOLD, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called ^a the sons of God! therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.

2 Beloved, now are we the sons of God; and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be ^b like him; for we shall ^c see him as he is.

3 And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure.

4 Whosoever committeth sin, transgresseth also the law: ^d for sin is the transgression of the law.

5 And ye know that he was manifested ^e to take away our sins; and in him is no sin.

6 Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, ^f hath not seen him, neither known him.

7 Little children, let no man ^g deceive you; he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous.

8 ^h He that committeth sin, is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, ⁱ that he might destroy the works of the devil.

9 Whosoever is born of God, ^k doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God.

10 In this, the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness is not of God, ^l neither he that loveth not his brother.

11 For this is the ^{||} message that ye heard from the beginning, ^m that we should love one another:

12 Not as ⁿ Cain, who was of that wicked one, one, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous.

13 Marvel not, my brethren, ° if the world hate you.

14 We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 Whosoever hateth his brother, ^p is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath ^q eternal life abiding in him.

16 Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.

17 But ^r whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, ^s how dwelleth the love of God in him?

18 My little children, let us not love in ^t word, neither in tongue; but in deed, and in truth.

19 And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall [†] assure our ^a hearts before him.

20 For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, ^x then have we confidence toward God:

22 And ^y whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight.

23 And ^z this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment.

24 And ^a he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us.

CHAP. IV.

1 He warneth them not to believe all teachers who boast of the Spirit, but to try them by the rules of the catholic faith: 7 and by many reasons exhorteth to brotherly love.

BELOVED, ^a believe not every spirit, ^b but try the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world.

2 Hereby know ye the Spirit of God; ^c Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, ^d is of God:

3 And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, ^e is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now ^d already is it in the world.

4 Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them; because greater is he that is in you, ^e than he that is in the world.

5 They are of the world; therefore speak they of the world, and the world heareth them.

6 We are of God: he ^f that knoweth God, heareth us; he that is not of God, heareth not us. Hereby know we the ^g Spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

7 Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth, is born of God, and knoweth God.

8 He that loveth not, knoweth not God: ^a for God is love.

9 ⁱ In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.

10 Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the ^k propitiation for our sins.

11 Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

12 ^l No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, ^m and his love is perfected in us.

13 Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit.

14 And we have seen, and do testify, that ⁿ the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world.

15 Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God.

16 And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. ^o God is love; and he ^p that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him.

17 Herein is [†] our love made perfect, ^q that we may have boldness in the day of judgment; because as he is, ^r so are we in this world.

18 There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment.

^s He that feareth, is not made perfect in love.

19 We love him, because he first loved us.

20 If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God ^t whom he hath not seen?

21 And ^u this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God, love his brother also.

CHAP. V.

1 He that loveth God, loveth his children, and keepeth his commandments; 3 which to the faithful are light, and not grievous. 9 Jesus is the Son of God, able to save us, 14 and to hear our prayers, which we make for ourselves, and for others.

WHOSOEVER ^a believeth that Jesus is the Christ, ^b is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat, ^c loveth him also that is begotten of him.

2 By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.

3 For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and ^d his commandments are not grievous.

4 For, ^e whatsoever is born of God, overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.

5 Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?

6 This is he that came by ^f water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood: and it is the Spirit that ^g beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth.

7 For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the ^h Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are ⁱ one.

8 And there are three that bear witness in earth, the spirit, and the water, and the blood : and these three agree in one.

9 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater : for this is the witness of God, ^k which he hath testified of his Son.

10 He that believeth on the Son of God, ^l hath the witness in himself : he that believeth not God, hath made him a liar ; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son.

11 And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life ; ^m and this life is in his Son.

12 He that hath the Son, ⁿ hath life ; and he that hath not the Son of God, hath not life.

13 These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God ; ^o that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God.

14 And this is the confidence that we have ^p in him, that ^q if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us :

15 And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.

16 If any man see his brother sin a sin, which is not unto death, ^r he shall ask, and he shall give him life for them that sin not unto death. ^s There is a sin unto death : I do not say that he shall pray for it.

17 All unrighteousness is sin : and there is a sin not unto death.

18 We know that whosoever is born of God, ^t sinneth not : but he that is begotten of God, keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 And we know that we are of God, and the whole ^u world lieth in wickedness.

20 And we know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true ; and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ. ^v This is the true God, ^w and eternal life.

21 Little children, ^x keep yourselves from idols. Amen.

¶ The Second Epistle of JOHN.

1 He exhorteth a certain honourable matron, with her children, to persevere in Christian love and belief, 8 lest they lose the reward of their former profession ; 10 and to have nothing to do with those seducers that bring not the true doctrine of Christ Jesus.

THE ^a elder unto the ^b elect lady and her children, whom I love in the truth ; and not I only, but also all they ^c that have known the truth ;

2 For the truth's sake, which ^d dwelleth in us, and shall be with us for ever.

3 Grace be with you, mercy, and peace, from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

4 I rejoiced greatly, that I found of thy children ^e walking in truth, as we have received a commandment from the Father.

5 And now I beseech thee, lady, ^f not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another.

6 And this is love, ^g that we walk after his commandments. This is the commandment,

That as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it.

7 For many ^h deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver, and ⁱ an antichrist.

8 Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have ^j wrought, but that we receive a full reward.

9 Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God : he that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son.

10 If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, ^k neither bid him God speed :

11 For he that biddeth him God speed, is partaker of his evil deeds.

12 Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with paper and ink : but I trust to come unto you, and speak ^l face to face, that ^m our joy may be full.

13 The children of thy elect sister ⁿ greet thee. Amen.

¶ The Third Epistle of JOHN.

He commendeth Gaius for his piety, 5 and hospitality 7 to true preachers ; 9 complaining of the unkind dealing of ambitious Diotrefes on the contrary side, 11 whose evil example is not to be followed : 12 and giveth special testimony to the good report of Demetrius.

THE ^a elder unto the well-beloved Gaius, ^b whom I love ^c in the truth.

2 Beloved, I ^d wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.

3 For I rejoiced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the truth that is in thee, ^e even as thou walkest in the truth.

4 I have no greater joy than to hear that ^f my children walk in truth.

5 Beloved, thou doest faithfully whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers :

6 Which have borne witness of thy ^g charity before the church ; whom if thou bring forward on their journey after a godly sort, thou shalt do well :

¶ The general Epistle of JUDE.

- 1 He exhorteth them to be constant in the profession of the faith. 4 False teachers are crept in to seduce them; for whose damnable doctrine and manners, horrible punishment is prepared: 20 whereas the godly by the assistance of the Holy Spirit, and prayers to God, may persevere and grow in grace, and keep themselves, and recover others out of the snares of those deceivers.
- JUDE, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of ^a James, to them that are sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called;
- 2 Mercy unto you, and peace, and love, be ^b multiplied.
- 3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the ^c common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you, that ye should ^d earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.
- 4 For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ^e ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, ^f and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterwards ^g destroyed them that believed not.
- 6 And the angels, which kept not their ^h first estate, but left their own habitation, ⁱ he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness, unto the judgment of the great day.
- 7 Even as ^j Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them, in like manner giving themselves over to fornication, and going after ^k strange flesh, are set forth for an ^l example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.
- 8 Likewise also these filthy dreamers defile the flesh, despise dominion, ^m and speak evil of dignities.
- 9 Yet ⁿ Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil, (he disputed about the body of Moses,) durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, ^o The Lord rebuke thee.
- 10 ^p But these speak evil of those things which they know not: but what they know naturally, as brute beasts, in those things they corrupt themselves.
- 11 Woe unto them! for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ^q ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the ^r gainsaying of Core.
- 12 These are ^s spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: ^t clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots;
- 13 ^u Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, ^v to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever.
- 14 And ^w Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, ^x the Lord cometh with ten thousand of his saints,
- 15 To execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them, of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all ^y their hard speeches, which ungodly sinners have spoken against him.
- 16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great ^z swelling words, having men's persons in ^a admiration, because of advantage.
- 17 But, beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 18 How that they told you ^b there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts.
- 19 These be they who ^c separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit.
- 20 But ye, beloved, ^d building up yourselves on your most holy faith, ^e praying in the Holy Ghost,
- 21 Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.
- 22 And of some have compassion, making a difference:
- 23 And others save with fear, ^f pulling them out of the fire; hating even ^g the garment spotted by the flesh.
- 24 Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory, with exceeding joy,
- 25 ^h To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen.

¶ The REVELATION of Saint JOHN the Divine.

CHAP. I.

4 John writeth his revelation to the seven churches of Asia, signified by the seven golden candlesticks. 7 The coming of Christ. 14 His glorious power and majesty.

THE Revelation of Jesus Christ, ^a which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John :

2 Who bare record of ^b the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things ^c that he saw.

3 ^d Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein; ^e for the time is at hand.

JOHN, to the seven churches which are in Asia : Grace be unto you, and peace, from him ^f which is, and which was, and which is to come : and from the ^g seven spirits which are before his throne ;

5 And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the ^h first-begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth : Unto him that loved us, ⁱ and washed us from our sins in his own blood,

6 And hath ^k made us kings and priests unto God and his Father : to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

7 ^l Behold, he cometh with clouds : and every eye shall see him, and ^m they also which pierced him : and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen.

8 ⁿ I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty.

9 I John, who also am your brother, ^o and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the isle that is called Patmos, for ^p the word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus Christ.

10 I was ^q in the Spirit on the ^r Lord's day, and heard behind me a ^s great voice, as of a trumpet, 11 Saying, ^t I am Alpha and Omega, ^u the first and the last : and, What thou seest, write in a book, and send it unto the seven churches which are in Asia ; unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia; and unto Laodicea.

12 And I turned to see the voice that spake with me. And, being turned, I ^x saw seven golden candlesticks;

13 And in the midst of the seven candlesticks, ^y one like unto the Son of man, ^z clothed with a garment down to the foot, and ^{aa} girt about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His ^a head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow ; and his ^d eyes were as a flame of fire ;

15 And his ^e feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and ^f his voice as the sound of many waters.

16 And he had in his right hand ^g seven stars ; and out of his mouth went ^h a sharp two-edged sword ; and his countenance was as ⁱ the sun shineth in his strength.

17 And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead : and he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not : ^k I am the first and the last :

18 I am he that liveth, and was dead ; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen ; and have the ^l keys of hell, and of death.

19 Write the things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter ;

20 The mystery of the ^m seven stars, which thou sawest in my right hand, and the ⁿ seven golden candlesticks. The seven stars are the ^o angels of the seven churches ; and the seven candlesticks, which thou sawest, are the ^p seven churches.

CHAP. II.

What is commanded to be written to the angels (that is, the ministers) of the churches of 1 Ephesus, 8 Smyrna, 12 Pergamos, 18 Thyatira : and what is commended, or found wanting in them.

UNTO the angel of the church of Ephesus write ; These things saith he that ^a holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, ^b who walketh in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks ;

2 I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not bear them which are evil ; ^c and thou hast tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars :

3 And hast borne, and hast patience, and for my name's sake hast laboured, ^d and hast not fainted.

4 Nevertheless, I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.

5 Remember, therefore, from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works : or else I will come unto thee quickly, ^e and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent.

6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the deeds of the ^f Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

CHAP. IV.

2 John seeth the throne of God in heaven. 4 The four and twenty elders. 6 The four beasts full of eyes before and behind. 10 The elders lay down their crowns, and worship him that sat on the throne.

AFTER this, I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven: and the first voice which I heard, ^awas as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, ^bCome up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be hereafter.

2 And immediately ^cI was in the spirit: and, behold, ^da throne was set in heaven, and one sat on the throne.

3 And he that ^esat was to look upon like a jasper and a sardine stone: and ^fthere was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like unto an emerald.

4 And ^ground about the throne ^hwere four and twenty seats: and upon the seats I saw four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white raiment; and they had on their heads ⁱcrowns of gold.

5 And out of the throne proceeded ^jlightnings, and thunders, and voices: and there were ^kseven lamps of fire burning before the throne, ^lwhich are the seven Spirits of God.

6 And before the throne ^mthere was a ⁿsea of glass like unto crystal: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne, ^owere four beasts ^pfull of eyes before and behind.

7 And the first beast ^qwas like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast ^rwas like a flying eagle.

8 And the four beasts had each of them ^ssix wings about ^thim, and ^uthey ^vwere ^wfull of eyes within: and ^xthey rest not day and night, saying, ^yHoly, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come.

9 And when those beasts give glory, and honour, and thanks, to him that sat on the throne, ^zwho liveth for ever and ever,

AND I saw in the right hand of him that sat on the throne, ^aa book written within and on the backside, ^bsealed with seven seals.

2 And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?

3 And no ^cman in heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.

4 And I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open, and to read the book, neither to look thereon.

5 And one of the elders saith unto me, Weep not; behold, ^dthe Lion of the tribe of Juda, the ^eRoot of David, hath prevailed to open the book, and ^fto loose the seven seals thereof.

6 And I beheld, and, lo, in the midst of the throne, and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a ^gLamb, as it had been slain, having seven horns and ^hseven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.

CHAP. VIII.

1 At the opening of the seventh seal, 2 seven angels have seven trumpets given them. 6 Four of them sound their trumpets, and great plagues follow. 3 Another angel putteth incense to the prayers of the saints on the golden altar.

AND when he had opened the ^a seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour.

2 And I saw the seven angels which ^b stood before God; and to them were given seven ^c trumpets.

3 And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and there was given unto him ^d much incense, that he should ^e offer it with the prayers of all saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne.

4 And the ^e smoke of the incense, which came with the prayers of the saints, ascended up before God, out of the angel's hand.

5 And the angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth: and ^f there were voices, and thunderings, and lightnings, and an earthquake.

6 And the seven angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to sound.

7 The first angel sounded, and there ^g followed hail, and fire mingled with blood, and they ^h were cast upon the earth: and the third part of ⁱ trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up.

8 And the second angel sounded, and as it were a great ^k mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea; and the third part of the ^l sea became blood:

9 And the third part of the creatures which were in the sea, and had life, ^m died; and the third part of the ships were destroyed.

10 And the third angel sounded, and there ⁿ fell a great star from heaven, burning as it were a lamp, and it fell ^o upon the third part of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters;

11 And the name of the star is called ^p Wormwood: and the third part of the waters became wormwood: and many men died of the waters, ^q because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth angel sounded, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars; ^r so as the third part of them was darkened, and the day shone not for a third part of it, and the night likewise.

13 And I beheld, and heard an angel ^s flying through the midst of heaven, saying, with a loud voice, ^t Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabitants of the earth, by reason of the other voices of the trumpet of the three angels which are yet to sound!

AND the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star ^a fall from heaven unto the earth; and to him was given ^b the key of the bottomless pit.

2 And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and ^c the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke, ^d locusts upon the earth; and unto them was given power, ^e as the scorpions of the earth have power.

AND there appeared a great || wonder in heaven, a ^a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars:

2 And she, being with child, cried, ^b travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered.

3 And there appeared another || wonder in heaven; and, behold, a great red dragon, ^c having seven heads, and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads.

4 And his ^d tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, ^e for to devour her child as soon as it was born.

8 And there followed another angel, saying, ⁿ Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.

9 And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, ^o If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand,

10 The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture ^p into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented ^q with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb:

13 And I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, ^t Blessed are the dead which die ^u in the Lord ^v from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them.

14 And I looked, and, behold, a white cloud, and upon the cloud ^w one sat like unto the Son of man, having on his head a golden ^x crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle.

15 And another angel ^y came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, ^z Thrust in thy sickle, and reap; for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ^{aa} ripe.

16 And he that sat on the cloud thrust in his sickle on the earth; and the earth was reaped.

17 And another angel came out of the temple which is in heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.

18 And another angel came out from the altar, ^{ab} which had power over fire; and cried with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, saying, ^{ac} Thrust in thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; for her grapes are fully ripe.

19 And the angel thrust in his sickle into the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast it into ^{ad} the great wine-press of the wrath of God.

20 And the ^{ae} wine-press was trodden ^{af} with-out the city, and blood came out of the wine-press, even unto ^{ag} the horses' bridles, by the space of a thousand and six hundred furlongs.

6 S

AND I saw ^a another sign in heaven, great and marvellous, ^b seven angels having the seven last plagues; for in them is filled up the wrath of God.

2 And I saw as it were ^c a sea of glass mingled with fire; and them that had gotten the victory over the beast, ^d and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name, stand on the sea of glass, ^e having the harps of God;

3 And they sing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song ^f of the Lamb, saying, Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; ^g just and true are thy ways, thou King of ^h saints.

4 ⁱ Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest.

5 And after that I looked, and, behold, ^j the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in heaven was opened:

6 And the ^k seven angels came out of the temple, having the seven plagues, ^l clothed in pure and white linen, and having their breasts girded with golden girdles.

7 And one of the ^m four beasts gave unto the seven angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, who liveth for ever and ever.

8 And the temple was filled ⁿ with smoke from the glory of God, and from his power; ^o and no man was able to enter into the temple, till the seven plagues of the seven angels were fulfilled.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The angels pour out their vials full of wrath: 6 the plagues that follow thereupon. 15 Christ cometh as a thief. Blessed are they that watch.

AND I heard a great voice out of the temple, ^a saying to the seven angels, Go your ways, ^b and pour out the vials of the wrath of God upon the earth.

2 And the first went, and poured out his vial upon the earth; and there fell a ^c noisome and grievous sore upon the men which had the mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image.

3 And the second angel poured out his vial ^d upon the sea; and it became as ^e the blood of a dead man: and ^f every living soul died in the sea.

4 And the third angel poured out his vial ^g upon the rivers and fountains of waters; ^h and they became blood.

5 And I heard the angel of the waters say, Thou art righteous, O Lord, which art, and wast, and shalt be, because thou hast judged thus:

6 For they have ⁱ shed the blood of saints and prophets, ^j and thou hast given them blood to drink; for they are worthy.

7 And I heard another out of the altar say, Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.

12 And the sixth angel poured out his vial upon the ^a great river Euphrates; and the water thereof was dried up; ^r that the way of the kings of the east might be prepared.

13 And I saw three unclean ^s spirits, like frogs, ^t come out of the mouth of the ^u dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of ^u the false prophet.

16 And he gathered them together into a place, called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon.

18 And ^d there were voices, and thunders, and lightnings; and there was a great earthquake, ^e such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake, and so great.

CHAP. XVII.

3, 4, A woman arrayed in purple and scarlet, with a golden cup in her hand, sitteth upon the beast, 5 which is great Babylon the mother of all abominations. 9 The interpretation of the seven heads, 12 and the ten horns. 14 The victory of the Lamb. 16 The punishment of the whore.

AND there came one ^a of the seven angels, which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither; I will shew unto thee the judgment of the ^b great whore ^c that sitteth upon many waters.

2 With whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication, ^d and the inhabitants of the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication.

3 So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness; and I saw a woman sit upon ^e a scarlet-coloured beast, full of names ^f of blasphemy, ^g having seven heads, and ten horns.

4 And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet colour, and [†] decked with gold, and precious stones, and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand, ^h full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication:

5 And upon her forehead ^{was} a name written, ⁱ MYSTERY, ^j BABYLON ^k THE GREAT, ^l THE MOTHER OF ^m HARLOTS, AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

6 And I saw the woman ⁿ drunken with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus: and when I saw her, I wondered with great admiration.

7 And the angel said unto me, Wherefore didst thou marvel? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carrieth her, which hath the seven heads, and ten horns.

8 The beast that thou sawest, was, and is not; ^a and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, ^o and go into perdition: and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, (whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world,) when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

9 And here ^p is ^q the mind which hath wisdom. ^r The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth.

10 And there are seven kings: five are fallen, and one is, ^s and the other is not yet come; and when he cometh, he must continue a short space.

11 And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, ^t and goeth into perdition.

12 And ^u the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast.

13 These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast.

14 These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: ^v for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings; and they ^w that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful.

15 And he saith unto me, ^x The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, ^y are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

16 And the ten horns which thou sawest upon the beast, ^z these shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, ^a and burn her with fire.

17 For God hath ^b put in their hearts to fulfil his will, and to agree, and give their kingdom unto the beast, until the words of God ^c shall be fulfilled.

18 And the woman which thou sawest, ^d is that great city, which reigneth over the kings of the earth.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 Babylon is fallen. 4 The people of God commanded to depart out of her. 9 The kings of the earth, 11 with the merchants and mariners, lament over her. 20 The saints rejoice for the judgments of God upon her.

AND after ^a these things, I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; ^b and the earth was lightened with his glory.

2 And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, ^c Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, ^d and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.

3 For all ^e nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the ^f abundance of her delicacies.

4 And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, ^g Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues :

5 ^h For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her double, according to her works : ⁱ in the cup which she hath filled, fill to her double.

7 How much she hath glorified herself, and lived deliciously, so much torment and sorrow give her : for she saith in her heart, I sit a ^j queen, and am no widow, and shall see no sorrow.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come in ^k one day, death, and mourning, and famine ; and she shall be utterly burned with fire : for strong ^l is the Lord God who judgeth her.

9 And ^m the kings of the earth, ⁿ who have committed fornication and lived deliciously with her, shall bewail her, and lament for her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning,

10 Standing afar off for the fear of her torment, saying, ^o Alas, alas ! that great city Babylon, that mighty city ! for in one hour is thy judgment come.

11 And ^p the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her ; for no man buyeth ^q their merchandise any more ;

12 The merchandise of gold, and silver, and precious stones, and of pearls, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, and scarlet, and all ^r thyine wood, and all manner vessels of ivory, and all manner vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and iron, and marble,

13 And cinnamon, and odours, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, and ^s slaves, and souls of men.

14 And the fruits that thy soul lusted after are departed from thee, and all things which were dainty and goodly are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more at all.

15 The merchants of these things, ^t which were made rich by her, shall stand afar off, ^u for the fear of her torment, weeping and wailing,

16 And saying, ^v Alas, alas ! that great city, that was clothed ^w in fine linen, and purple, and scarlet, and decked with gold, and precious stones, and pearls !

17 For ^x in one hour so great riches is come to nought. And ^y every ship-master, and all the company in ships, and sailors, and as many as trade by sea, stood afar off, 18 And cried, when they saw the smoke of her burning, saying, ^z What city is like unto this great city !

19 And they ^{aa} cast dust on their heads, and cried, weeping and wailing, saying, ^{ab} Alas, alas ! that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships in the sea, by reason of her costliness ! for in one hour is she made desolate.

20 Rejoice over her, ^{ac} thou heaven, and ^{ad} ye holy apostles and prophets ; ^{ae} for God hath avenged you on her.

21 And a mighty angel took up a stone like a great mill-stone, and cast ^{af} it into the sea, saying, ^{ag} Thus with violence shall that great city Babylon be thrown down, ^{ah} and shall be found no more at all.

22 And the voice ^{ai} of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters, shall be heard no more at all in thee ; and no craftsman, of whatsoever craft ^{aj} he be, shall be found any more in thee ; and the sound of a mill-stone shall be heard no more at all in thee ;

23 And the ^{ak} light of a candle shall shine no more at all in thee ; and the voice of ^{al} the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more at all in thee : for thy merchants were the great men of the earth ; for by thy sorceries were all nations deceived.

24 And in her was found the ^{am} blood of prophets, and of saints, and of all that were ^{an} slain upon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

1 God is praised in heaven for judging the great whore, and avenging the blood of his saints.

7 The marriage of the Lamb. 10 The angel will not be worshipped. 17 The fowls called to the great slaughter.

AND ^a after these things, I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia ; ^b Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God :

2 For ^c true and righteous ^d are his judgments : for he hath judged the great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, ^e and hath avenged the blood of his servants, at her hand.

3 And again they said, Alleluia. And ^e her smoke rose up for ever and ever.

4 And ^f the four and twenty elders, and the four beasts, fell down and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, ^g Amen; Alleluia.

5 And a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his servants, and ye that fear him, both small and great.

6 And ^h I heard, as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunders, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth.

7 Let us be glad and rejoice, and give honour to him; ⁱ for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready.

8 And to her was granted, that she should be arrayed in fine linen, ^k clean and white: for the fine linen is the righteousness of saints.

9 And he saith unto me, Write, Blessed ^l are they which are called unto ^l the marriage-supper of the Lamb. And he saith unto me, ^m These are the true sayings of God.

10 And I fell at his feet to worship him. And he said unto me, ⁿ See thou do it not; I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren that have ^o the testimony of Jesus. Worship God: for the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.

11 And I saw heaven ^p opened, and, behold, ^q a white horse: and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True; and ^r in righteousness he doth judge and make war.

12 His eyes ^s were as a flame of fire, and on his head ^s were many crowns; and he had ^s a name written, that no man knew, but he himself.

13 ^t And he ^t was clothed with a vesture, dipped in blood; and his name is called, ^u The Word of God.

14 And the armies ^v which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, ^v clothed in fine linen, white and clean.

15 And ^w out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations; and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the wine-press of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.

16 And he hath on ^x his vesture, and on his thigh, a name written, ^x KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

17 And I saw an angel standing in the sun: and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all ^y the fowls that fly in the midst of heaven, Come, ^y and gather yourselves together, unto the supper of the great God;

18 That ye may ^z eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all ^z men, both free and bond, ^z both small and great.

19 And I saw ^a the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his army.

20 And the beast was taken, and with him the false prophet that wrought miracles before him, with which he deceived them that had received the mark of the beast, and them that worshipped his image. These both ^b were cast alive into a lake of fire, burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were ^c slain with the sword of him that sat upon the horse, which ^c sword proceeded out of his mouth: and all ^c the fowls were filled ^c with their flesh.

CHAP. XX.

2 Satan bound for a thousand years. 5 The first resurrection: 6 They are blessed that have part therein. 7 Satan let loose again. 8 Gog and Magog. 10 The devil cast into the lake of fire and brimstone. 12 The last and general resurrection.

AND I saw an angel come down from heaven, having ^d the key of the bottomless pit, and a great chain in his hand.

2 And he laid hold on ^e the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and ^e bound him a thousand years.

3 And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and ^f set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that, he must be loosed a little season.

4 And I saw ^g thrones, and they sat upon them, and ^g judgment was given unto them: and I saw ^g the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received ^h his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and ^h reigned with Christ a thousand years.

5 But the rest of the dead lived not again, until the thousand years were finished. This ⁱ is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy ^j is he that hath part in the first resurrection; on such ^j the second death hath no power; but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

7 And when ^k the thousand years are expired, ^k Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

8 And shall go out ^l to deceive the nations, which are in the four quarters of the earth, ^l Gog and Magog, ^l to gather them together to battle: the number of whom ^l is as the sand of the sea.

9 And they went up on ^m the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city: and fire came down from God, out of heaven, and devoured them.

10 And the devil that deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where ⁿ the beast and the false prophet ⁿ are, and ⁿ shall be tormented day and night, for ever and ever.

11 And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face ^o the earth and the heaven fled away; and ^o there was found no place for them.

12 And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God: ^p and the books were opened; and another ^p book was opened, which is ^p the book of life:

14 And ^y death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. ^z This is the second death.

CHAP. XXI.

1 A new heaven and a new earth. 10 The heavenly Jerusalem, with a full description thereof: 23 she needeth no sun, the glory of God being her light: 24 the kings of the earth bring their riches unto her.

AND ^a I saw a new heaven and a new earth: ^b for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea.

2 And I John saw ^c the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared ^d as a bride adorned for her husband.

3 And I heard a great voice out of heaven, saying, Behold, ^e the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God.

4 ^f And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes: and ^g there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

5 And he that sat upon the throne, said, ^h Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful.

6 And he said unto me, ⁱ It is done. ^k I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: ^l I will give unto him that is athirst, of the fountain of the water of life, freely.

7 He that overcometh, shall inherit ^m all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son.

8 But the fearful, and ⁿ unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in ^o the lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone; which is the second death.

9 And there came unto me one of ^p the seven angels, which had the seven vials full of the seven last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come hither, I will shew thee ^q the bride, the Lamb's wife.

10 And he carried me away ^r in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and shewed me ^s that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God,

11 Having ^t the glory of God: and her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a jasper-stone, clear as crystal;

12 And had a wall great and high, ^u and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the children of Israel.

13 On the east, three gates; on the north, three gates; on the south, three gates; and on the west, three gates.

14 And the wall of the city had twelve ^v foundations, and in them the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

15 And he that talked with me had a golden ^w reed to measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 And the city lieth four-square, and the length is as large as the breadth. And he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs: the length, and the breadth, and the height of it, are equal.

17 And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of the angel.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.

19 And the ^x foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones. The first foundation was jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, a chalcedony; the fourth, an emerald;

20 The fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, sardius: the seventh, chrysolite; the eighth, beryl; the ninth, a topaz; the tenth, a chrysoprasus; the eleventh, a jacinth; the twelfth, an amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls; every several gate was of one pearl: and ^y the street of the city was pure gold, as it were transparent glass.

22 And I saw no temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty, and the Lamb, are the temple of it.

23 ^z And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

24 ^a And the nations of them which are saved, shall walk in the light of it; and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it.

25 ^b And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day; for ^c there shall be no night there.

26 ^d And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations into it.

27 And ^e there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie; but they which are written in the Lamb's ^f book of life.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The river of the water of life. 2 The tree of life. 5 The light of the city of God is himself. 9 The angel will not be worshipped. 18 Nothing may be added to the word of God, nor taken therefrom.

AND he shewed me a pure ^a river of ^b water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.

2 In the midst of the street of it, and on either side

7 ^mBehold, I come quickly: ⁿblessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book.

9 Then saith he unto me, ^oSee thou do it not: for I am thy fellow-servant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth, say, Come. ^cAnd let him that is athirst, Come. And ^dwhosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.

18 For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, ^eIf any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book:

19 And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, ^fGod shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

JUDEA, PALESTINE, OR THE HOLY LAND.

PALESTINE is bounded on the north by Mount Libanus, or Lebanon, which separates it from that part of Syria; anciently called Phœnicia; on the east by Mount Hermon, which divides it from Arabia Deserta; on the south by Arabia Petrea; and on the west by the Mediterranean Sea, or sea of Syria.

This country received the name of Palestine from the Philistines, who dwelt on the sea coast: it was called Judea, from Judah: and it is termed the Holy Land, being the country where Jesus Christ was born, preached his holy doctrines, confirmed them by miracles, and laid down his life for mankind. Palestine is about one hundred and eighty-five miles in length, and generally eighty in breadth; it is situated between 31° and $33^{\circ} 40'$ north latitude.

The climate of Palestine is, during a great part of the year, very hot. The easterly winds are usually dry, though they are sometimes tempestuous; and those which are westerly, are attended with rain. The heat here might be expected to be excessive; yet Mount Libanus, from its uncommon height, is covered all the winter with snow.

The first rains, as they are called, generally fall about the beginning of November; and the latter rains, in the month of April. In the country round Jerusalem, if a moderate quantity of snow falls in the beginning of February, and the brooks soon after overflow their banks, it is thought to forebode a fruitful year; and the inhabitants make rejoicings upon this occasion, as the Egyptians do with respect to the Nile: this country is seldom refreshed with rain during the summer season.

The rocks of Judea are, in many places, covered with a soft chalky substance, in which is enclosed a great variety of shells and corals. The greatest part of the mountains of Carmel, and those of Jerusalem and Bethlehem, are overspread with a white chalky stratum. In mount Carmel, are gathered many stones, which, being in the form of olives, melons, peaches, and other fruit, are imposed upon pilgrims, not only as those fruits petrified, but as antidotes against several diseases.

With respect to the rivers of the country, the Jordan, called by the Arabs Sceriah, is not only the most considerable, but, next to the Nile, is the largest, either in the Levant or in Barbary. It has its source at the bottom of Mount Libanus or Lebanon, and is formed from the waters of two fountains, which are about a mile distant from each other. One of them lies to the east, and is called Jor; the other, which is exposed to the south, is named Dan. The confluence of the two streams is found near the ancient city of Cesarea Philippi, which is at present only a village, and called Beline. The river takes a course between the E. and S. and after running seven miles, falls into the lake Samochon or Mathon, at present called Huletpanias, about six miles in length, from north to south, and nearly four in breadth, from east to west. The Jordan issues from this lake, and flows through a great plain, passing under a stone bridge called Jacob's Bridge, consisting of three arches, well constructed. The river then continues its course as far as the lake of Tiberias, near the ancient cities of Chorazin and Capernaum, where it mixes with its waters. When it issues from this lake, which is about eighteen miles in length, and eight in breadth, it takes the name of Jordan Major, dividing Perea from Samaria, the plains of the Moabites from Judea, and receiving the waters of the Dibon, the Jazer, the Jacob, and the Carith; after being augmented by these streams, in a course of sixty-five miles from the lake of Tiberias, or sea of Galilee, it discharges itself into the Dead Sea. The Jordan, in the rainy seasons, overflows its banks, to the distance of more than four miles; and on account of the inequality of the ground, forms two or three channels. Its current is extremely rapid, and the water always muddy: but when taken from the river, and put into any kind of vessel, it very soon clarifies, and is sweet.

The Dead Sea is a name of modern date; the ancients called it the lake of Asphaltites, the sea of Sodom, the Salt sea, the lake of Sirbon; the Arabs name it Bahheret-Lut: that is, the sea of Lot. It is about fifty miles in length, and ten in breadth. The lofty mountains of the country of the Moabites are on the eastern side, and discharge into it the waters of Arnon and the Jaret. On the west and south it is bounded by very high mountains also. It is likewise on the west that the brook Cedron, which rises at Jerusalem, empties into this sea.

We are informed that this vast lake was covered formerly with fruit trees and abundant crops, and that from the bosom of the earth, now buried under its waters, arose the superb cities of Sodom, Gomorrah, Admah, Zeboiim and Segor. No plants of any kind grow in this lake. The bottom of it is black, thick, and fœtid. Branches of trees, which fall therein, become petrified in a little time. The Dead Sea produces a kind of bitumen, which may be found floating on the surface, like large lumps of earth. This bitumen is a sulphureous substance, mixed with salt; it is as brittle as black pitch, is combustible, and exhales, while burning, a strong and penetrating smell. The ancient Arabs used it for smearing and embalming their dead, to preserve them from perishing. The mountains near this sea produce a kind of black stone, which, when polished, has a beautiful lustre.

Acra, or Acre, (now called St. John de Acre, and which the Arabs call Accho, or Akka,) is one of the places from which the Israelites could not expel the ancient Canaanites, and was formerly reckoned among the ancient cities of Phœnicia. It is also known by the name of Ptolemais. The situation is advantageous; on the north and east, it is encompassed by a fertile plain; on the west it is washed by the Mediterranean; and on the south by a large bay, which extends from the city as far as Mount Carmel. It contains little more than a few cottages, and heaps of ruins. The residence of the bashaw of the province is at this place.

To the south of Acre, is Sebastia, the ancient Samaria, the capital of the ten tribes after their revolt from the house of David. It is seated on a long mount, which rises in a fruitful valley, and is now converted into gardens.

A little

A little farther to the south is Naplosa, the ancient Sychem, which stands in a narrow valley, between Mount Ebal on the north, and Gerizim on the south. At a small distance from Naplosa, is Jacob's well, famous for Christ's conference with the woman of Samaria.

Jerusalem is encompassed with hills, so that the city seems as if situated in an amphitheatre: there are few remains of the city, as it appeared in Christ's time; the situation being changed; for, Mount Sion, the highest part of ancient Jerusalem, is almost excluded: while the places adjoining to Mount Calvary, are nearly in the centre. This city, which is about three miles in circumference, is situated on a rocky mountain, on all sides of which are steep ascents, except towards the north. The walls are not strong, nor have they any bastions. The city has six gates. There are supposed to be about twelve or fourteen thousand inhabitants in Jerusalem.

Jasa, the ancient Joppa, is the port where the pilgrims disembark. They generally arrive in November, and repair without delay to Jerusalem.

Bethlehem, also called Ephrata, and the city of David, is famous for being the birth-place of Christ. It is about two miles to the S. E. of Jerusalem, on the ridge of a hill; at present only an inconsiderable place.

Raha, the ancient Jericho, is eighteen miles N. E. of Jerusalem, situated in a plain six or seven leagues long, by three wide, surrounded by a number of barren mountains.

Habroun, or Hebron, is twenty-four miles S. of Bethlehem. The Arabs call it El-Kahil, the well-beloved. It is situated at the foot of an eminence, on which are some remains of an ancient castle.

Nazareth, now only a small village, is on the top of a high hill.

Cana of Galilee, otherwise called Cana Minor, celebrated for the miracle wrought by Christ, of changing the water into wine, is nothing more than a small village, with very few inhabitants.

Sidon, called by the Turks Sayd, is situated on the sea-coast. It was anciently a place of great strength, and had a very extensive commerce. Though it is still populous, and a place of considerable trade, it has fallen from its ancient grandeur. Its exports consist in silks, with raw and spun cotton; the manufacturing of which employs most of the inhabitants, amounting to about five thousand. The city is defended by an old castle, built in the sea.

Tyre, called by the Turks Sour, is about twenty miles to the south of Sidon. It was once very celebrated for its purple, called the Tyrian dye, produced from a shell-fish. This city was, in ancient times, the centre of an immense commerce and navigation, and the nurse of arts and sciences. The ancient city stood, originally, on an island, joined to the main land by a mole; the remains of which appear at present. It has two harbours; that on the north side is very good; but the other is choked up with ruins. The present inhabitants are only a few poor fishermen, who live in vaults and caves.

Cesarea was at first called Strabo's Tower; and was the capital of Palestine. This city was divided into two parts by a little hill, whereon was erected a temple dedicated to Cesar.

Jericho is situated in a large plain about twenty miles long, and ten broad, bounded by variety of mountains on the south-west, the west, and north; it is at present inhabited by a few miserable Arabs.

The Mount of Forty days, is situated on the north side of the plain of Jericho: the summit is covered neither with shrubs, trees, nor earth, but consists of a solid mass of white marble: it is very difficult and dangerous to ascend, the path leading by a winding course, between two dismal abysses. This mountain is one of the highest in the province, and one of its most sacred places. It takes its name from the rigorous fast which Christ observed here. From this mount may be seen the hills of Arabia, the country of Gilead, the country of the Ammonites, the plains of Moab, and that of Jericho, the river Jordan, and the whole extent of the Dead Sea. Opposite to Jericho, beyond Jordan, rises mount Nebo.

Mount Carmel, on the south side of the bay of Acre, projects at one part into the sea, forming a great promontory, called the point of Carmel. There are a number of grottos, gardens, and convents, on this mount; as also many cisterns for receiving the rain water. On this mountain was a fortress called Ecbatane.

Mount Tabor is most delightfully situated, rising amidst the plains of Galilee, distant about twelve miles from the city of Tiberias; it is distinguished by different names, as Itabyrion, Taburium, and by the Arabs Gibel-el-Tor. It is in appearance like a sugar loaf, and is covered from the top to the bottom with small trees.

Palestine, which comprehends the ancient country of Canaan, and was occupied by nine tribes of Israel, has experienced many and severe revolutions: the extreme fertility of the country, and its many advantages and happy situation, induced the neighbouring and powerful kingdoms to attempt its subjection: most of them succeeded in reducing to obedience and slavery, the peaceable inhabitants: the Persians, Saracens, Syrians, and Romans, have alternately been masters, for a time, and then obliged to yield to superior force: they treated the conquered with the utmost barbarity, and committed the greatest devastation and slaughter; not even sparing old or young, women, or helpless children. Thus it continued changing its ferocious masters, until, in the twelfth century, the Turks taking Cesarea, the whole country fell into their possession; and has continued under their power ever since: The innumerable scenes of blood and desolation exhibited in this country, have changed it from that happy, fruitful and prosperous state, so beautifully described in Deuteronomy, to an almost uninhabited desert, and heap of ruins; few traces of its ancient splendor remain; and confusion and doubt hang over all the researches of the enquirer.

The present masters exercise unlimited and tyrannical authority over their slaves, in Palestine, keeping the miserable inhabitants in the utmost subjection; governing them by Caliphs and Bashaws, with rods of iron; and holding them in the most deplorable ignorance and superstition.

Before CHR. 1897	Genesis	Dead Sea remains a monument thereof unto this day. Lot's wife, for looking back upon Sodom, contrary to God's command, is turned into a pillar of salt; and Lot himself, fearing to continue at Zoar, leaves the plain country, and betakes himself to the mountain, carrying his two daughters with him.	Before CHR. 1715	Genesis XLI. 25	Joseph interpreteth Pharaoh's two dreams; he giveth Pharaoh counsel, and is made governor of the whole land of Egypt.
				47	Here begin the seven years of plenty in the land of Egypt. About this time Manasseh and Ephraim, Joseph's two sons, are born of Asenath, the daughter of Poti-pherah priest of On.
1896	XXI. 2	Isaac born in the 100th year of Abraham's age.	1708	54	Here begin the seven years of famine.
	XIX. 36	Not long after to Lot are born Moab and Ammon, his sons at the same time, and his grandsons.	1707	XLII. 1, 2, 3	Jacob sendeth his ten sons to buy corn in Egypt; they are imprisoned by Joseph as spies; but are set at liberty on condition of bringing Benjamin; and Simeon is kept as a pledge.
1892	XXI. 9	Hagar and Ishmael, at Sarah's request, are cast forth.		XLIII.	Jacob is with much difficulty persuaded to send Benjamin. Joseph maketh himself known to his brethren, and sendeth for his father, by command from Pharaoh.
1878	XI. 15	Salah, the fourth from Noah, dieth.		XLV.	Jacob, having offered sacrifice to God for that his son Joseph is yet alive, goes with all his family into Egypt in the third year of the famine, and 130th year of his age. He is seated in the land of Goshen.
1871	XXII.	God tempteth Abraham to offer Isaac; Abraham giveth proof of his faith and obedience.	1706	XLVI.	Joseph getteth all the money, lands, and cattle of the Egyptians, for bread; only the lands belonging to the priests he buyeth not.
1859	XXIII.	Sarah dieth at Hebron in Canaan, in the 127th year of her age.		XLVII.	Jacob adopteth Ephraim and Manasseh, and blesseth them, and all his sons; prophesieth the descent of the Messiah from Judah, and dieth, aged 147 years; 17 whereof he lived in Egypt. He is with great pomp carried into Canaan, and buried in the sepulchre of his father.
1856	XXIV.	Isaac marrieth Rebekah the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Nahor, in the 40th year of his age.		XLVIII.	Joseph, on his death-bed, prophesieth unto his brethren their return to Canaan; takes an oath of them to carry his bones out of Egypt, and dieth, aged 110 years.
1846	XI. 11	Shem, the son of Noah, dieth.	1704	XLIX.	The book of Genesis endeth in the death of Joseph, containing the history of 2369 years; next to which, in order of time, the book of Job follows, written (as it is generally believed) by Moses.
1837	XXV. 24	Jacob and Esau born in the 60th year of their father Isaac's age.	1703	Exod. VI. 16	Levi dieth in Egypt, aged 137 years; he was grandfather to Moses and Aaron.
1821	7	Abraham dieth, aged 175 years.	1702	I. 8	Here begins the bondage of the children of Israel, when a king rose up in Egypt who knew not Joseph.
1817	XI. 17	Heber, the fifth from Noah, dieth; from him Abraham and his posterity were called Hebrews, Gen. xiv. 13.	1689	VII. 7	Aaron born three years before his brother Moses, 83 years before the departure of the children of Israel out of Egypt.
1796	XXVI. 34	Esau, aged 40 years, marrieth Judith the daughter of Beeri the Hittite, and Bashemath the daughter of Elon the Hittite.	1635	I. 15, 22	Pharaoh, having in vain commanded the Hebrew midwives to destroy all the males of the Israelites, sets forth an edict, charging that they be all cast into the river.
1773	XXV. 17	Ishmael dieth, aged 137 years.		II. 1, 5	Moses is born, who being hid in the flags by the river side, is found by Pharaoh's daughter, and becomes her adopted son.
1760	XXVII.	Jacob, by his mother's instruction, obtaineth the blessing from Isaac his father, which was designed for Esau. Upon which he is forced to flee into Mesopotamia to shun his brother's rage. Upon the way, are foretold unto him, in a vision, the blessings of his posterity. At length he cometh to his uncle Laban's house, and covenanteth to serve him seven years for his daughter Rachel, but Laban deceiveth him with Leah; the marriage week being completed, Rachel also is given him to wife, upon condition of serving seven years more.	1619	11	Moses, in the 40th year of his age, having slain an Egyptian, whom he saw contending with an Hebrew, fleeth into Midian, where he marrieth Zipporah the daughter of Reuel or Jethro, a priest, and liveth with him 40 years.
	XXVIII.	Of Leah are born,	1577	Joshua	Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, born.
1758	32	Reuben,	1491	XIV. 7, 10	Whilst Moses keeps his father-in-law's sheep at mount Horeb, God appeareth to him in a burning bush, and sendeth him to deliver Israel.
1757	33	Simeon,		Exod. III. 1, 2, &c.	Moses and Aaron, having declared to Pharaoh the message on which they are sent unto him from God, are charged by him as heads of a mutiny, and sent away with many bad words; and more grievous labours are forthwith laid upon the Israelites.
1756	34	Levi,		V.	Moses, being now 80, and Aaron 83 years of age, urged thereunto by God, return again to Pharaoh, where the magicians, by their sorcery, imitating the miracle of Aaron's rod turned into a serpent, make Pharaoh more obstinate than he was before. Wherefore God, by the hand of Moses, lays ten plagues upon the Egyptians.
1755	35	Judah, from whom the Jews receive their denomination.		VII. 7
1745	XXX. 26	Rachel, having been long barren, at length beareth Joseph; Jacob, desiring to depart, is persuaded by Laban, to serve six years more for some part of his flock.	1573
1739	XXXI.	Jacob, after he had been twenty years in Mesopotamia, sets forward on his journey homewards without acquainting his father or his brothers-in-law. Rachel stealeth her father's gods, and is pursued by Laban. Jacob, by his prudence, is reconciled to his brother Esau. He wrestleth with an angel at Peniel, and is called Israel.	1571
	XXXII.	About this time Dinah, Jacob's daughter, is deflowered by Shechem the son of Hamor. Simeon and Levi, Dinah's brethren, revenge their sister's quarrel, by putting all the males of Shechem to the sword, for which thing Jacob reproveth them.	1531
	XXXIV.	Rachel is delivered of Benjamin on the way betwixt Beth-el or Beth-Jehem, and Ephrath, and dies in childbed. Some think that Job lived about this time.	1530
	XXXV. 16	Judah lieth with Tamar his daughter-in-law in disguise.
1729	XXXVII.	Joseph is hated by his brethren, and is sold to merchant-men, Ishmeelites and Midianites, who carry him into Egypt, where he is sold to Potiphar an officer of Pharaoh, and by him made overseer of his house.
1718	XXXIX.	Joseph resisteth the temptations of his master's wife; he is falsely accused by her and cast into prison. He interpreteth the dreams of Pharaoh's butler and baker, which come to pass according to his interpretation.
1716	XL.	Isaac dieth, aged 180 years, and is buried by his sons Jacob and Esau.

Exd. 29. 41. night, the first-born of Egypt being all slain, Pharaoh and his servants make haste to send away the Israelites; and they, the self-same day wherein they were let go out of bondage, being the complete term of 430 years from the first pilgrimage of their ancestors, reckoning from Abraham's departure out of Charran, take their journey, and march away, being 600,000 men, besides children, and come to Rameses, from whence, by several encampings they come to the Red Sea, the Lord conducting them in a pillar of a cloud by day, and in a pillar of fire by night. They carry Joseph's bones with them.

Numbers XXXIII.

Exod. XIV. At the Red Sea Pharaoh with his host overtakes them; Moses divides the waters with his rod, and the children of Israel pass through on dry ground, unto the desert of Etham; whom when Pharaoh and his army would needs follow, they are all overwhelmed by the waters coming together at the dawning of the day, whereby the Israelites are wholly freed from the bondage of the Egyptians; whose carcasses when they see floating all the sea over, and cast upon the shore, they sing a song of praise and thanksgiving unto God.

XV.

XVI. Upon the fifteenth of the second month, (our June the 4th, being Thursday;) the Israelites come to the wilderness of Zin, which lieth between Elyma and Sinai, where, for want of flesh, they murmur against God and their leaders. About the eventide God sends them quails, and the next morning rains upon them manna from heaven; and upon that kind of bread they lived afterward for the space of 40 years, even till they came to the borders of the land of Promise. An omer of it is preserved for a memorial.

XVII. 1 At Rephidim, which was the eleventh place of their encamping, the people murmur for want of water: Moses gives them water, by striking the hard rock in Horeb with his rod.

8, 9, &c. The Amalekites, falling upon the rear of the Israelites, are discomfited by Joshua, whilst Moses holds up his hands to God in prayer.

XX. God publisheth his law, contained in the Ten Commandments, with a terrible voice from mount Sinai.

XXI. The people being in great fear, God gives them sundry other laws, all which being written in the book of the covenant, Moses proposeth them to the people; which done, rising early in the morning, he builds an altar at the foot of the mountain, and sets up twelve statues, according to the twelve tribes of Israel, and sends twelve young men of the first-born, (whom the Lord had consecrated to himself as ministers of those holy things, before the Levitical priesthood was ordained,) who offer sacrifice, first for sin, and then for thanksgiving, to the Lord: and when Moses had read the book of the covenant, he takes the blood of the calves and goats so offered, and with water, scarlet wool, and hyssop, sprinkles the book therewith, and all the people, or those twelve statues representing them; and so performs a solemn covenant between God and his people.

9, 18 Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and 70 men of the elders of Israel, go up into the mount, and there behold the glory of God: the rest returning, Moses, with his servant Joshua, abides there still, and waits six days, and upon the seventh day God speaks unto him, and there he continues 40 days and 40 nights, (reckoning those six days which he waited for the appearance of the Lord,) eating no meat all that while, nor drinking water, (Deut. ix. 9.) where he receives God's command touching the frame of the tabernacle, the priests' garments, their consecration, sacrifices, and other things comprised in this and the six following chapters.

XXV, &c.

XXXI. 18 At the end of 40 days God gives Moses the two tables of the law in stone, made by God's own hand, and written with his own finger; bidding him withal quickly to get him down, for that the people had already made to themselves a molten calf to worship. Moses, by prayer, pacifieth God, and goes Exod. XXXII. down from the mount, and, seeing the people keeping a festival in honour of their idol in the camp, he breaks the tables of the law at the foot of the mount; for which the Jews keep a solemn fast unto this day.

20, 28 Moses, having burnt and defaced the idol, puts 3000 of the idolaters to death by the hands of the Levites.

XXXIV. God commands Moses to frame new tables of stone, and to bring them with him into the mount: Moses brings them the next morning; and, while he stands in the cleft of a rock, God passeth by, and sheweth him a glimpse of his glory.

10 God renews his covenant with his people, and, upon certain conditions, gives them his laws again.

1490 XXXIX. In the first six months of this year the tabernacle, the ark of the covenant, the altar, the table of shewbread, the priests' garments, the holy ointments, the candlestick, and other utensils and vessels belonging to the sacrifices, are finished in the desert at mount Sinai, and are brought unto Moses.

XL. The tabernacle is set up, and anointed with holy oil; Aaron and his sons are consecrated for the priesthood.

Lev. X. Nadab and Abihu, for offering strange fire, are struck dead in the place by fire from heaven.

Numb. VII. The princes of the tribes present their offerings toward the dedication of the tabernacle. God speaketh to Moses from the mercy-seat.

IX. The second passover is instituted.

X. 29 Jethro, who is also called Hobab, brings his daughter Zipporah, with her two sons, Gershom and Eliezer, which were left with him, to his son-in-law Moses; and having congratulated his and the whole people of Israel's deliverance out of bondage, he openly declares his faith and devotion toward the true God. By his advice Moses imparts the government of the people to some others, and ordains magistrates for the deciding of lesser causes.

Ex. XVIII.

Numb. XI. Moses complains to God of the over great burden of his government; God, to ease him of his charge, gives him for assistance the court of seventy elders.

31 The people lust for flesh: God gives them quails in wrath: and sends withal a most grievous plague among them.

XII. God rebukes the sedition of Miriam and Aaron, and maintaineth Moses's right.

XIII. From the wilderness of Paran, near Kadesh-barnea, twelve men are sent (among whom are Caleb and Joshua) to discover the land of Canaan. Returning, they bring with them a branch of a vine, with a cluster of grapes upon it; ten of the twelve so sent speak ill of the country, declare it barren, and magnify the cities for their strength, and the giantly stature of the inhabitants.

XIV. The people, terrified with this relation, are about to return into Egypt, from which Caleb and Joshua endeavouring to dissuade them, are like to be stoned.

11 At this God is so provoked that he threateneth to destroy them; but is prevailed upon by Moses's prayers to spare them. Nevertheless he denounceth that all who are now twenty years old and upward (except Caleb and Joshua) shall die in the wilderness. The men who raised the evil report are all destroyed by sudden death. Some endeavouring to enter upon the promised land, contrary to the command of God, are smitten by the Amalekites and Canaanites.

1489 Deut. I. 46 In this place, viz. Kadesh-barnea, the Israelites continue many days; but that in some places they continued many years appeareth; for that in the space of thirty-seven years there are but seventeen encampings mentioned.

To their long continuance in Kadesh, and the encampings from thence, all that we find delivered in the xvth and four next ensuing chapters of Numbers seems to refer; as how Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, for raising a mutiny against Moses and Aaron, were swallowed alive into the earth, and

In these thirty-seven years, the Israelites, by seventeen encampings, having compassed the hill-country of Seir and Edom, they come to the wilderness of Zin in the first month of the fortieth year after their departure out of Egypt.

1 Here Miriam, the sister of Moses and Aaron, dieth.

2 The people again, for want of water, murmur against Moses and Aaron, whom when God had commanded to call water out of the rock only by speaking to it, Moses, being moved in his mind through impatience and diffidence of the thing, speaks something, whatever it was, unadvisedly with his lips, and strikes the rock twice with Aaron's rod, and thereby draws water from it; but for transgressing God's command, they are both debarred from entering into the land of Canaan.

23, 28 In the fifth month of this year Aaron dieth at Mosera, on the top of Mount Hor, at the age of 123 years, leaving his son Eleazar his successor in the high priesthood.

Numb. XXI. About the latter end of this year, all those who at Kadesh-barnea mutinied against God, being wholly extinct and dead, the Israelites pass over Zared, and come to the borders of Moab at Ar, and at length they arrive at Bamoth, a valley in the country of the Moabites, and pitch at mount Pisgah.

21 Sihon king of the Amorites, refusing them passage through his country, is slain, and the Israelites possess his land.

33 Og, the king of Bashan, coming out against Israel, is destroyed with all his people, not one left alive, and his country possessed by the Israelites.

XXII. 1 After these victories the Israelites set forward, and encamp in the plains of Moab.

2, 3 Balak king of Moab, considering what the Israelites had done to the Amorites, fears, lest, under pretence of passing through his country, they should possess themselves of his whole kingdom; takes counsel with the princes of the Midianites his neighbours, and sends for Balaam, a soothsayer out of Mesopotamia, to come and curse the Israelites, promising him great rewards for his labour; purposing afterwards to make war upon them.

Joshua
XXIV. 9 Balaam, forewarned of God, refuseth at first to come; but being sent for a second time, he importuneth God to let him go, and goes with a purpose indeed to curse Israel; but God, offended thereat, makes the dumb ass of this wizard, on which he rode, speaking in a man's voice, to reprove his folly.

Numbers
XXII. 7, 35 Balaam twice offers sacrifice, and would fain have cursed Israel to gratify Balak therein; but instead of cursing, being forced thereto by the Spirit of God, he blesseth them altogether; foretelling what felicity attended them, and what calamities should befall their enemies.

Deut.
XXIII. 5 By his advice the women of Moab and Midian are set on work to turn the Israelites away to idolatry.

Joshua
XXIV. 10 Wherefore God commands Moses to take first all the ringleaders of this disorder, and to hang them up before the sun, and then gives order to the judges to put to death all such as had joined themselves to Baal-peor. Last of all, God sends a plague upon the people, whereof died 23,000 men in one day; which, added to those who were hanged and killed with the sword, amounted, in all to 24,000.

Phinehas the son of Eleazar, by killing Zimri, the chief of his father's family, and Cozbi the daughter of Zur, a prince of the Midianites; appeaseth the wrath of God, and the plague ceaseth. God therefore setteth the high priesthood for ever upon the house of Phinehas, and commands that war be made upon the Midianites.

XXVII. 1, 2 Moses and Eleazar, by God's command, in the plain of Moab, near unto Jordan, over against Jericho, number the people from twenty years old and upward, and find them to be 601,730 men, besides the Levites, whose number, reckoning them from one month old and upward, comes to 23,000; and then Moses receives command for the parting of the land of promise among the Israelites.

12, 23 The daughters of Zelophehad have their father's land parted among them for want of issue male; this occasions the law for succession in heritages to be made.

Deut. III. 26, 27, 28 God signifies to Moses that he shall die; and Joshua is thereupon declared to be his successor, upon whom Moses lays his hands, and gives him instructions. Several laws are made.

Joshua XIII. 21, 22 Twelve thousand of the Israelites, under the command of Phinehas, vanquish the Midianites, and put to the sword all the males among them, with their five princes, and among them Zur, the father of Cozbi, and Balaam the wizard; but they save the women alive; at which Moses is wroth, and commands that every male child, and all the women, except such as were virgins, be killed.

Deut. III. 26, 27, 28 The lands which belonged to Sihon and Og, namely, all from the river Arnon to mount Hermon, Moses divides, and gives to the tribes of Reuben and Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh; so that their possessions lay on this side Jordan; nevertheless, they assist the rest of the tribes in all their wars, till they have subdued the Canaanites, and possessed the promised land.

Deut. XXVII.
XXVIII. Moses commands the people, that, in their passage over Jordan, they shall set up great stones, and engrave the ten commandments on them, with the form of blessing upon mount Gerizim, and of cursing on mount Ebal; exhorting them to observe the law of God, by setting before their eyes the benefits that would ensue thereon.

XXIX. He also renews the covenant made by God with them and their children on mount Horeb, and again persuades them to keep that covenant, by all the blessings and curses which would undoubtedly follow the keepers or breakers of it: yet with a promise of pardon and deliverance, if at any time, having broken it, they shall repent them of their sin; and tells them further, that God had therefore thus declared his will unto them, to the end that none hereafter offending shall pretend ignorance.

XXXI. Moses, having written this law, delivers it to the priests, the sons of Levi, and the elders of the people; to be kept; the same day also he writes his most excellent song, and teaches the same to the children of Israel to be sung; and, having finished the book of the law, he takes order to have it laid up in the side of the ark.

XXXII. Moses, now drawing near to his end, blesseth every tribe in particular, by way of prophecy, save only the tribe of Simeon.

XXXIII. In the twelfth month of this year, he goes up to mount Nebo, and from thence beholds the land of promise, and there dieth, aged 120 years; the body of Moses God translates out of the place where he died, into a valley of the land of Moab, over against Beth-peor, and there burieth it; nor doth any man know the place where he laid it unto this day. The Israelites mourn for him thirty days.

XXXIV. Here ends the Pentateuch, or five books of Moses, containing the history of 2552 years and an half from the beginning of the world; and the book of Joshua begins with the forty-first year after the departure of the children of Israel out of Egypt.

Joshua III.	Upon the tenth day of the first month, (April 30.) to wit, the same day that the paschal lamb was to be chosen out of the flock, the Israelites, under the conduct of Joshua, a type of Jesus Christ, go up out of the river Jordan into the promised land of Canaan, a type of a more heavenly country. They pass through the river on dry ground, the waters being for that present divided; for a memorial of which miraculous passage Joshua sets up twelve stones in the very channel of Jordan, and taking twelve other stones out of the midst thereof, sets them up at Gilgal, the place where they next encamp.		XVIII.	The tabernacle is set up at Shiloh, (thought to be Salem,) where it continued 328 years.
IV.	The day following Joshua renews the use of circumcision, which had been omitted 40 years.		XXII.	The Reubenites, Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh, with a blessing, are sent home to their possessions on the other side of Jordan.
V.	Upon the fourteenth day of the same month, in the evening, the Israelites celebrate their first pass-over in the land of Canaan.	1443	XXIII.	Joshua gathers together all Israel, exhorts them to obedience, briefly recites God's benefits to them, reneweth the covenant between them and God, and dieth 110 years old.
11, 12	Next day after the passover, manna ceaseth.		XXIV.
13	Our Lord Jesus, Captain of his Father's host, appears to Joshua the typical Jesus, before Jericho, with a drawn sword in his hand, and promiseth there to defend his people.	1413	Judges II. 7	After the decease of Joshua, and the elders who outlived him, and who remembered the wonders which God had wrought for Israel, there succeeds a generation of men which forget God, and mingle themselves with the Canaanites by marriage, and worship their idols. In this time of anarchy and confusion, when every man did that which seemed right in his own eyes, all those disorders were committed which are reported in the five last chapters of the Book of Judges; to wit, the idolatry of Micah and the children of Dan; the war of the Benjamites, and the cause thereof. God being highly provoked, gives them up into the hands of Chushan king of Mesopotamia; which first calamity of theirs holds them but eight years.
VI.	Jericho, the ark of the Lord having been carried round about it, is taken the seventh day, the walls thereof falling down at the sound of the priests' trumpets; all the inhabitants are put to the sword except Rahab and her family.	1405	III. 6, 7.	Othniel the son of Kenaz, and son-in-law to Caleb, stirred up by God as a judge and avenger of his people, defeats Chushan, and delivers the Israelites out of bondage; and the land rested 40 years, after the first rest which Joshua procured for them.
VII.	The Israelites besiege Ai, and are smitten by their enemies, God having abandoned them for sacrilege committed by Achan. Achan's sin being discovered by the casting of lots, and himself found guilty, he is stoned to death, and, together with his children and cattle, burnt with fire. God being pacified hereby, Ai is taken by ambushment, and utterly destroyed.	1343	12	Othniel dying, the Israelites fall again to sin against God, and are given over into the hands of Eglon king of Moab, who, joining with the Ammonites and the Amalekites, overthrows the Israelites, and takes Jericho; and this second oppression continueth 18 years.
VIII.	On mount Ebal, according to the law made, is an altar erected, and the ten commandments engraven on it; the blessings and cursings are repeated on mount Ebal and mount Gerizim, and the book of the law read in the ears of the people.	1325	15, 30	Ehud, the son of Gera, is raised up by God to be an avenger of his people; for, feigning a message to Eglon, he runs him into the belly with his dagger; then, getting away, he gathers all Israel into a body on mount Ephraim, and slays 10,000 of the most valiant men of Moab; and the land resteth forty years, after the former rest obtained by Othniel.
IX.	The kings of Canaan combine against Israel; only the Gibeonites craftily find a way to save their own lives, by making a league with them; but are afterwards deputed to the servile offices of the house of God.		31	After him Shamgar the son of Anath slayeth 600 Philistines with an ox-goad, and he also avengeth Israel.
X.	Adoni-zedek king of Jerusalem, with the kings of Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish, and Eglon, hearing that Gibeon is fallen off from them, join their forces together, and besiege it; but Joshua raiseth the siege, pursueth those five kings, and smiteth them as far as Azekah, the Lord in the meanwhile killing more with hail-stones from heaven, than the Israelites with their swords. Joshua commands the sun to stand still over Gibeon, and the moon over the valley of Ajalon, by the space almost of one whole day, until the Israelites are fully avenged of their enemies. The five kings hide themselves in a cave at Makkedah, from whence they are brought forth, scornfully used, and hanged.	1305	IV. 1, 2, 3	The Israelites, after the death of Ehud, returning to their old sin, are given up by God into the hands of Jabin king of Canaan; and this thralldom of theirs continueth 20 years.

For a memorial of which victory Deborah composeth a song; and the land resteth forty years, after the former rest obtained by Ehud.
1445 Josh. XIII.	Joshua, now grown old, is commanded by God to divide all the land on the west of Jordan among the nine tribes remaining, and the other half-tribe of Manasseh. The Lord and his sacrifices are the inheritance of Levi.	1252	VI.	The Israelites sinning again, are delivered into the hands of the Midianites; which fourth thralldom lasteth seven years. Hereupon they cry unto God for help, and are reproved by a prophet. Then Gideon the son of Joash, of Manasseh, is by an angel from God sent to deliver them. He first overturns the altar of Baal, and burns his grove, and is called Jerubbaal. He, out of 32,000 men which came unto him, chooseth only (God so commanding) 300; but with them he puts to fight all the host of the Midianites, whom the Ephraimites afterwards pursue, and slay their princes, Oreb and Zeeb.
XI.	The rest of the kings, with whom Joshua had waged war for six years, resolve to set upon him with united forces; but Joshua comes upon them unawares, slays them, and possesseth their countries.	1245	VII.	Gideon, having pacified the Ephraimites, who complain that they were not called to the battle at first, passeth the river Jordan, and defeats the remainder of the Midianitish army; he chastiseth also the men of Succoth and Penuel, who had refused him victuals in his journey; and slays the two kings of the Midianites, Zebah and Zalmunna. Samson is betrayed by Delilah his concubine, bereaved of the hair of his Nazariteship, and delivered to the Philistines; who put out his eyes, and bind him with chains of brass. The Philistines gather together to offer sacrifice to Dagon their god, and Samson is brought to make them sport; whose hair being grown, and his strength in a great measure restored, he takes hold of the two chief pillars whereon the house stood, (wherein were the princes of the Philistines, and a great multitude of people,) and pulls down the house, killing more men at his death than he did in all his lifetime. So he died, having judged Israel in the days of the Philistines twenty years.
1235	1, 2, &c.	Abimelech having reigned three yearsover Israel, Gaal a Shechemite conspires against him, which being discovered to him by Zebul, he utterly destroyeth the city of Shechem, and puts all the inhabitants to the sword, and burns the temple of their god Berith with fire: from thence he goeth and layeth siege to Thebez, where he is knocked on the head with a piece of a mill-stone cast upon him by a woman from the walls, and then killed outright by his armour-bearer.
1233	22		1116	1 Sam. IV	The Israelites take up arms against the Philistines, but with very ill success, for they lose 4000 men in one battle. Then they send for the ark of the covenant from Shiloh, and cause it to be brought into the camp. The Philistines, seeing now all lie at stake, encourage one another to behave themselves like men that day, and so falling on, they slay of the Israelites, 30,000 men. The ark of God is taken, and Hophni and Phinehas, priests, and sons of Eli, are slain. Of all which, when tidings are brought to old Eli, frightened thereat, he falls from his chair, and breaks his neck in the 98th year of his age.
1232	X.	Tola the son of Puah, after Abimelech, judgeth Israel twenty-three years.		V.	The Philistines, having brought the ark into Ashdod, set it in the house of Dagon their god..... But when Dagon had been found two several times fallen groveling before it, and broken in pieces, and the inhabitants of the place sorely plagued, they remove it from thence to Gath, and from thence to Ekron. But the same plagues and judgments following wherever it went, after seven months, by the advice of their priests, they send home the ark again with presents and gifts into the land of the Israelites, and it is brought to Bethshe-mesh; where 50,070 men are smitten for looking into the ark. From hence it is carried to the house of Abinadab in Kirjath-jearim, who sanctifieth his son Eleazar to keep it.
1210	3	Jair the Gileadite succeeds Tola, and judgeth Israel twenty-two years.		VI.	After twenty years the Israelites, by Samuel's persuasion, solemnly repent at Mizpeh, and, upon their conversion, God, by thunder from heaven, delivers them from the invasion of the Philistines, who are subdued, the hand of the Lord being against them all the days of Samuel.

David, having asked counsel of God, goes up to Hebron with those that are about him, where he is anointed king by the men of Judah, his own tribe, in the thirtieth year of his age, and there he reigns seven years and six months.	1032	2 Sam. The next year following, under pretence of a vow, he obtaineth leave to go to Hebron, where by Ahithophel's counsel, he breaks out into open rebellion, and forceth his father to flee from Jerusalem.
1053	12	After two years there arise frequent and mortal skirmishes between a party of men on David's side, headed by Joab, David's nephew, and another party on Ish-bosheth's side, whereof Abner is chief; but the former still grows stronger and stronger. 1048	III. 6	Abner, affronted by Ish-bosheth, revolteth to David, and deals with the chief men of Israel to transfer the whole kingdom unto him, and this in the hearing of the Benjamites.		XVIII.	Absalom, having lost 20,000 men, fleeth, and a bough of an oak catching hold of him, he there hangs, and is run through by Joab.
	22	He comes to David and is kindly received; returning, he is treacherously murdered by Joab..... David much laments his untimely death, and buries him at Hebron.	1017	XXIV.	David, tempted by Satan, commandeth Joab to number the people; God, offended thereat, sends a prophet to put three plagues to his choice, viz. the famine, sword, or pestilence. David chooseth to fall into the hands of a merciful God rather than into the hands of men. So God sends a pestilence; whereof 70,000 men die in one day. The angel being about to destroy Jerusalem, God bids him hold his hand; for he beholds David repenting in sackcloth, and entreating him to spare the innocent people, and to turn his hand upon himself, and upon his father's house.
	IV. 2	Baanah and Rechab murder their lord and master Ish-bosheth, as he lieth resting himself upon his bed. They bring his head to David, who in detestation of their treason, causeth them immediately to be put to death.	1016	1 Kings XIV. 21	Rehoboam is born unto Solomon by Naamah an Ammonitish woman.

David being now 70 years of age, and broken with continual cares and wars, grows so weak and feeble that clothes can no longer preserve heat in him. Therefore Abishag, a young virgin, is appointed to keep him warm. Adonijah, seeing his father thus declining, by the assistance of Joab and Abiathar, makes himself king; which David understanding, he presently commands Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, with other great men, to anoint Solomon king. Adonijah hearing this, betakes himself to the sanctuary, and is pardoned.

The Lord appears to Solomon in a dream, and bids him ask what he will, and it shall be given him. Solomon asketh wisdom; God gives him wisdom from above, and adds thereunto riches and honour. Of this divine wisdom Solomon makes an eminent manifestation in judging between two harlots.	Before CHR. 953 951		destroyeth the whole race of Jeroboam, and reigneth 24 years. At this time lived the prophets Jehu, Hanani, and Azarias. Asa destroyeth idolatry, and enjoying ten years of peace, strengthens his kingdom with forts and a standing army. Zerah the Ethiopian, with an innumerable army, invadeth Judah: Asa overcomes him, sacrificeth to God of the spoil, and maketh a solemn covenant with God. He also deposes Maachah his grandmother, a great patroness of idolatry; bringeth into the temple those things which his father and himself had consecrated unto God, and enjoys a long peace. Elah, the son of Baasha, succeeds his father in the kingdom of Israel. In the second year of his reign, and the 27th of Asa's, Zimri, one of his captains, conspires against him, kills him, and reigneth in his stead. As soon as he sits on the throne, he destroyeth the whole family of Baasha; but the army which then lay before Gibbethon make Omri their king, who presently besiegeth Tirzah, and taketh it; which Zimri seeing, he sets on fire the king's palace, and perisheth in the flames. The people of Israel are now divided into two factions; one follows Tibni the Son of Ginath, and endeavours to make him king; the other adheres to Omri; but Tibni dying, Omri reigns alone, in the thirty-first year of Asa. Omri, having reigned six years in Tirzah, removes the seat of his kingdom to Samaria, a place which he himself had built. Ahab succeeds his father in the kingdom of Israel, and reigneth 22 years in Samaria. He did evil in the sight of the Lord above all that were before him. Jehoshaphat succeedeth his father Asa, in the fourth year of Ahab king of Israel, and reigneth 25 years in Jerusalem. Jehoshaphat, being settled in his kingdom, and having demolished the high places and groves, in the third year of his reign he sends Levites, with the princes, to instruct the people in the law. God in the mean time subdueth his enemies under him. Ben-hadad king of Syria layeth siege to Samaria, who, by the direction of a prophet, is beaten off, and a vast number of the Syrians slain. Ahab, not being able to persuade Naboth to sell him his vineyard, falls sick upon it; Jezebel, his wife, suborning false witnesses to accuse Naboth of blasphemy, causeth him to be stoned, and puts the king in possession of the vineyard; whereupon the prophet Elijah denounceth judgments against Ahab and Jezebel. Wicked Ahab repenting, God defers the judgment. Ahab, in the 17th year of the reign of Jehoshaphat, maketh his son Ahaziah his associate in the government of his kingdom. Jehoshaphat also maketh Jehoram his son co-partner with him; whence it is that Jehoram the son of Ahab, who succeeded his brother Ahaziah in the kingdom of Israel, in the 18th year of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, is said to have begun his reign in the second year of Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat. Ahab having got Jehoshaphat to assist him in the siege of Ramoth-gilead, before he goes, he asketh counsel of 400 false prophets, who promise him victory and success; but by Jehoshaphat's advice Micahiah, a true prophet of God, is consulted, who foretels his overthrow; and, according to his word, Ahab is slain at Ramoth-gilead, and buried at Samaria. Ahab being dead, the Moabites revolt from Israel, who had continued in subjection ever since king David's days. Ahaziah king of Israel lying ill of a fall, sends to consult Baal-zebub, the god of Ekron, concerning his recovery. Elijah the prophet meeteth the mes-

Elijah calleth for fire from heaven, and destroyeth both them and their companies. A third captain with his fifty men being sent, and behaving himself submissively, Elijah goes along with him; the prophet certifies the king that he shall not come down from his bed alive. So Ahaziah dieth, having governed (partly by himself, and partly together with his father) two years.

III. 31 Jehoram succeedeth his brother Ahaziah in the kingdom of Israel, in the latter end of the 18th year of Jehoshaphat, and reigneth twelve years.

II. 11 Elijah is taken up into heaven in a fiery chariot.

892 2 Chron. 23 Jehoshaphat, grown old, gives to his sons many gifts, with fenced cities in Judea: but his eldest son Jehoram he now more absolutely investeth with the throne of the kingdom, in the fifth year of Jehoram king of Israel.

889 2 Chron. XXI. 4, 5 Jehoram now, by the death of his father, has the kingdom of Judah to himself, which he holds four years. He is no sooner settled in his throne but he puts all his brethren to the sword, with many of the princes of Israel. At this time the Edomites, who, ever since king David's time, had lived in subjection to Judah, revolt, and (as it was foretold by Isaac) they for ever shake off his yoke. Libnah also, a city of the priests, in the tribe of Judah, falls off from him about this time.

888 12 Jehoram, following the counsel of his wicked wife Athaliah, the daughter of Ahab king of Israel, sets up in Judah, and even in Jerusalem itself, the idolatrous worship of Baal, and compels his subjects thereto; a letter which was left for him by Elijah the prophet, comes to his hands, which reproves him, and denounces all those calamities and punishments which afterwards befel him.

885 2 Kings VIII. 25 Ahaziah succeeds his father in the kingdom of Judah (having had part of the government bestowed upon him the year before) in the 12th year of Jehoram king of Israel, and reigneth one year in Jerusalem.

884 28 Jehoram king of Israel, and Ahaziah king of Judah, lead their armies to Ramoth-gilead against Hazael, who had newly succeeded Ben-hadad in the kingdom of Syria; Jehoram is dangerously wounded, and retires himself to Jezreel to be cured. In the mean time Elisha sendeth a young prophet, with instructions to anoint Jehu the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, at Ramoth-gilead, king over Israel, and to open to him the will of God for the rooting out of the house of Ahab; who, being proclaimed king by the soldiers, marcheth straight to Jezreel, killeth Jehoram in the field of Naboth, and causeth Jezebel to be cast out at a window, where she is eaten by dogs. He dispatcheth letters also to Samaria, and causeth seventy of Ahab's children to be beheaded. Then taking with him Jehonadab the son of Rechab, he comes himself to Samaria, and destroyeth the whole family of Ahab, and all the priests of Baal. Nevertheless, having put down the worship of Baal, he departs not from the worship of Jeroboam's golden calves, but maintains that idolatry all the time of his reign, which was 28 years.

IX. Jehu proceeds farther, and executes the divine vengeance upon the idolatrous house of Judah; he pursues Ahaziah, who fled towards Megiddo, and overtaking him at Gur, causeth him to be killed in his chariot. Going also to Samaria, he meeteth with forty-two of Ahaziah's kinsmen, whom he causeth to be slain.

X. Athaliah the daughter of Ahab, seeing her son Ahaziah dead, usurps the kingdom, destroying those that had right to the succession; but Jehosheba the daughter of king Jehoram, and wife to Jehoiada the high-priest, takes Jehoash, being then an infant, and son to her brother Ahaziah, and hides him in the temple, and so saves him from that massacre which was made of the rest of the blood-royal.

2 Kings XI. Jehoiaha the high priest brings out Jehoash, now seven years old, and anoints him king; causeth Athaliah to be slain, and restoreth the worship of the true God, destroying the house of Baal, and commanding the idolatrous priest Mattan to be killed before his altars. Jehoash now beginning his reign in the seventh year of Jehu, reigneth 40 years in Jerusalem.

857 2 Kings XII. 7 Jehoash, in the 23d year of his reign, giveth order for the repair of the temple, committing the charge thereof to Jehoiaha the high-priest.

XIII. 1 Jehoahaz succeedeth his father Jehu in the kingdom of Israel, and reigneth seventeen years; during all which time Hazael king of Syria oppresseth him, and exerciseth all those cruelties upon the Israelites which Elisha the prophet had foretold.

841 XIII. 10 Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz king of Israel, is taken into the consortship of that kingdom by his father in the 37th year of Jehoash king of Judah, and reigneth 16 years.

840 2 Chron. XXIV. Zechariah, the son of Jehoiaha the high-priest, for reproving the people of Judah who had fallen to idolatry after the decease of Jehoiaha, is stoned to death in the court of the house of the Lord by the commandment of king Jehoash, who the next year after is murdered by some of his servants, as he lay in his bed, and Amaziah his son succeedeth him.

839 XIII. Jehoahaz dieth, and Jehoash his son succeedeth in the kingdom of Israel. Not long after his father's funeral he visits Elisha the prophet, then lying sick, and with many tears asketh counsel of him; who promiseth him victory over the Syrians. A dead man is brought to life by being laid in Elisha's grave.

836 XV. 1 Jeroboam the second is this year taken into the consortship of the kingdom of Israel by his father Jehoash, going to war against the Syrians. This is gathered from Azariah king of Judah's beginning his reign in the 27th year of this Jeroboam.

826 XIV. Amaziah king of Judah growing proud, upon a victory obtained against the Edomites this 14th year of his reign, provoketh Jehoash king of Israel to battle. Jehoash overcomes him, and takes him prisoner; breaks down 400 cubits of the wall of Jerusalem; and, having spoiled the temple and the king's house of a vast treasure, returns to Samaria.

825 2 Kings XIV. 23 Jehoash dies fifteen years before Amaziah; and Jeroboam the second, his son, reigneth in Samaria 41 years.

810 2 Chron. XXV. Amaziah, finding a conspiracy against him at Jerusalem, flies to Lachish, where he is murdered. After whom comes his son Uzziah, or Azariah, in the 27th year of Jeroboam the second, and reigneth 52 years in Jerusalem.

808 Now is held the thirteenth jubilee under the two most flourishing kings; in whose times live sundry great prophets in both kingdoms; Isaiah and Joel in Judah; Jonas, Hosea, and Amos, in Israel.

XIV. 25 Jonas of Gath-hepher, a town belonging to the tribe of Zebulon in Galilee of the Gentiles, (observe here the blindness of the Pharisees, John vii. 52.) was afterwards sent into Nineveh, the metropolis of Assyria, where both king and people, at his preaching, repented.

784 2 Kings XIV. 29 Jeroboam king of Israel (under whom that kingdom came to its full height of glory) dieth; after his death all things fall into confusion, and the state is reduced to a plain anarchy, which lasteth eleven years and an half, for such an interregnum or vacancy the synchronism of kings requires, that the six months of Zachariah the son of Jeroboam may answer the thirty-eight years and one month of Shallum, who murdered him in the thirty-ninth year of Azariah, or Uzziah, king of Judah.

773 XV. 8 Zachariah, the son of Jeroboam, the fourth and last of the race of Jehu, (as was foretold,) begins his reign over Israel in the 38th year of Azariah, or Uzziah, king of Judah, and reigneth six months.

Zedekiah flees away by night; but being pursued, is taken, and brought prisoner to Riblah, Nebuchadnezzar's head quarters; there, having first seen his children slaughtered before his eyes, he has afterwards those eyes put out; and, being loaden with chains, is carried away captive to Babylon. About a month after the taking of the city, Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard, sent by Nebuchadnezzar, makes his entry into it, sets fire to the temple, the king's palace, and some noblemen's houses, and so layeth the whole city in ashes; the walls of Jerusalem being razed to the ground, all that were left in the city, and those that a little before had fallen to the Chaldeans, with what treasure he can find, doth Nebuzar-adan carry with him into Babylon.

	XXIX. 10	Nebuchadnezzar gives order to Ashpenaz, master of the eunuchs, that he shall carry from thence, of the children of Israel, both of the blood-royal, (as was foretold by the prophet Isaiah to Hezekiah), and also of the nobility, the choicest youths, both for beauty and wit, that he can find; who, being educated three years in the language and sciences of the Chaldeans, may afterwards be fit to serve the king in his palace, among whom, of the tribe of Judah, are Daniel, called Belteshazzar; Hananiah, called Shadrach; Mishael, called Meshach; and Azariah, called Abed-nego; their names being thus changed by the master of the eunuchs.		Jer. XLIX. 7	Obadiah the prophet denounceth God's judgments against the Edomites, who now insult over the calamity of the Jews. The same do Jeremy and Ezekiel, and the author of the 79th and 137th Psalms, who wrote all about the same time.
605	Daniel I. 3, 7	Whilst Nebuchadnezzar pursues his victories over the king of Egypt, his father dies; which coming to his knowledge, he gives order for the bringing away of the captives, and posts with a small company the nearest way to Babylon; where he is received as the lawful successor to his father's dominions. He causeth to be brought to Babylon what he thinks fit of the vessels and furniture of the temple, and placeth them in the house of his god, viz. Belus.		Ezekiel XXV. 12
	Isaiah XXXIX. 7	Jehoiakim, having lived three years in subjection to the king of Babylon, falls off, and rebelleth against him.
	Daniel I. 2	This year (being the second of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, taking it as it began at his father's death) Daniel hath Nebuchadnezzar's dream revealed to him, and interprets it to betoken the four chief monarchies; whereupon he and his companions are highly advanced.
	2 Chron. XXXVI. 7	Nebuchadnezzar sends an army, consisting of Chaldeans, Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites, against Jehoiakim: these waste the whole country of Judea, and carry away from thence 3023 captives. 603	Daniel II. 1	Nebuchadnezzar sends an army, consisting of Chaldeans, Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites, against Jehoiakim: these waste the whole country of Judea, and carry away from thence 3023 captives. Jehoiakim also is taken prisoner; whom they put to death, cause his carcass to be drawn out at the gate of Jerusalem, (as was foretold by the prophet Jeremiah), and leave it without the walls unburied.	The Babylonian em- pire. 562		34 After seven years spent among the beasts of the field, his understanding returning to him, he humbly acknowledgeth the power of God, and his goodness towards him; and is restored to his kingdom. Jehoiachin dies about two years after.
599	Jer. XXII. 18	Against him Nebuchadnezzar leads an army, and besiegeth Jerusalem: Jehoiachin with all his kindred and courtiers come out to meet him. Nebuchadnezzar makes them all prisoners, enters Jerusalem, and takes all the treasure he can find in all the vessels of gold and furniture which Solomon had made for the temple; he carrieth away captive to Babylon the king, his mother, wives, courtiers, magistrates, and ten thousand able men out of Jerusalem, leaving none behind but the poorer sort of people; and out of the country round about he also carried away 7000, and 1000 artificers; among the captives are Mordecai, and Ezekiel the priest; Ezekiel therefore in his prophecy reckons the time all along from the beginning of this captivity. An epistle, said to be Jeremiah's, is now sent to the captives, admonishing them to beware of the idolatry which they shall see in Babylon.	555	Dan. VII. 1	Belshazzar, having removed some persons who had murdered his father Evil-merodach, and usurped his throne, succeeds in the kingdom of Babylon. In the first year of this king's reign Daniel has the vision of the four beasts, signifying the four monarchies of the world, and of God's delivering over all power and sovereignty to the Son of man.
	2 Kings XXIV. 8	Against him Nebuchadnezzar leads an army, and besiegeth Jerusalem: Jehoiachin with all his kindred and courtiers come out to meet him. An epistle, said to be Jeremiah's, is now sent to the captives, admonishing them to beware of the idolatry which they shall see in Babylon.		553	VIII. 1 In the third year of Belshazzar, Daniel receives the vision of the ram and he-goat, betokening the destruction of the Persian monarchy, and the great misery which Antiochus should bring upon the people of God.
	2 Chron. XXXVI. 9	Nebuchadnezzar, before his departure from Jerusalem, makes Mattaniah, Jehoiachin's father's brother, king, changing his name into Zedekiah.		V.	This year Belshazzar makes a great feast for all his nobles, and causeth to be brought forth all the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar his grandfather had brought away from Jerusalem, to the glory of his idols, and dishonour of the true God. In the midst of all this jollity a hand appears writing on the wall of the room in which the king and his numerous guests sit drinking. The king, greatly terrified hereat, sends for his Chaldean astrologers and wizards, and commands them to read the writing, and give him the interpretation of it; but they not being able to do either, Daniel is sent for, who reads the writing, and gives the king the interpretation of it: whereupon Daniel is publicly proclaimed the third man in the kingdom. Cyrus having given the kingdom of Babylon to Darius the Mede, reserving some palaces in the city for himself, he returns through Media into Persia.

Daniel's greatness raising envy in some principal courtiers and officers, these contrive his ruin; but finding nothing in his management of affairs whereof to accuse him, they resolve to order matters so, that Daniel's piety toward God shall become an offence worthy of death. They move the king to make a decree, that for thirty days no petition shall be made to any god or man, but to himself only. Which decree Daniel breaks, by making supplication to his God, and is, for doing so, cast into a den of lions; but being found to have received no hurt there, Darius commands the conspirators to be cast into the same den, who are presently devoured; and the king publisheth a decree, that all persons throughout his dominions shall reverence and fear the God of Daniel.

Toward the end of the first year of the reign of Darius the Mede, to be reckoned from the subversion of the Babylonish empire, begins the seventieth year of the captivity of the Jews, which, by Jeremiah's prophecy, was to be the last year of their calamity. Upon consideration of which time so near at hand, Daniel pours out most fervent prayers to God for the remission of his own sins, and those of his people, and for that promised deliverance out of their captivity. To whom the angel Gabriel brings an answer not only of this, but also of the spiritual deliverance of the church by the death of the Messiah; uttering that memorable prophecy of the seventy weeks.

Cyrus' father Cambyses, and his father-in-law Cyaxares both dying, Persia falls to him by inheritance, and Media by contract of marriage, and so he is possessed of the whole Eastern empire; from which time, both Xenophon (Instit. lib. 8.) reckons the seven years of his reign, and the holy Scripture, out of the records of the Medes and Persians, reckons this his first year; for it teacheth us, that in this year came forth that renowned edict of his, Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth, and hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah, &c. At which time the seventy years of the Babylonish captivity being expired, (as was foretold by Isaiah and Jeremiah, the former making mention of Cyrus by name,) he gives leave to all the Jews dwelling in all parts of his dominions, to return into their own country, and commands them immediately to fall in hand with rebuilding of the temple.

He restoreth also all the vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought from thence; and contributes towards the building.

The Jews therefore return into their own country; the poorer sort having allowance made them to defray their charges upon the way. The number of the children of the province, or Hebrews born in Chaldaea, which, with their captain Zerubbabel, and their high priest Jeshua, return out of captivity, is 42,360, besides proselytes, men-servants, and maid-servants, to the number of 7337. Now, the particular sums of Ezra's catalogue being cast up, amount only to 29,818, and those in Nehemiah's account make but 31,031, both which come far short of that universal sum of 42,360, which at the bottom of each catalogue is said to be the number of the whole congregation; wherefore the Hebrews, in the 29th chapter of their great Chronicle, tell us, that to complete the full sum of 42,360, we must cast in those of the other ten tribes of Israel, who came up out of captivity with the Jews. For even till the last extirpation of the Jewish state there remained some reliques of the other ten tribes, not only in the dispersion, and at

Ezra VII.

In the second year after their return from Babylon, in the second month, they appoint Levites to oversee the work of the house of God, and lay the foundation of the temple; the old men lamenting, who fifty-three years before had seen the old temple standing, and the younger sort rejoicing to see the new one going up.

The Samaritans, by the means of certain courtiers about Cyrus, whom they had bribed for that purpose, disturb the Jews in their work of the temple.

In the beginning of the reign of Artaxerxes (called in profane history Cambyses) the Samaritans, who whilst Cyrus lived had secretly undermined the Jews, now openly frame a direct accusation in writing against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem, and present it to the king, who presently forbids the Jews to proceed in the building.

In the second year of king Darius Hystaspes (the same with Ahasuerus) Zerubbabel and Jeshua, incited by the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, set forward the building of the temple.

Haggai prophesieth, that the glory of this second temple shall be greater than that of the former, not as being a more magnificent structure, but in regard the blessed Messiah shall one day honour it with his presence, and from thence propagate peace to all nations.

About this time Zechariah the prophet exhorteth the Jews to repentance.

Ahasuerus puts away queen Vashti his wife, and not long after espouseth Esther, the niece of Mordecai the Jew.

In the sixth year of Darius, or Ahasuerus, the temple is finished, the dedication whereof is celebrated with great joy and abundance of sacrifices, the priests and Levites, every one in his place, attending on the ministry of the temple. The pass-over also is celebrated.

Haman an Agagite, of the race of the Amalekites, a great favourite of king Ahasuerus, offended at Mordecai, because he falls not down and adores him, as others do, resolves to be revenged of the whole nation of the Jews, (which was ever averse to his,) and to root it out: for the executing of which purpose, that he may find a successful time, he causeth Pur, that is, the Lot, to be cast before him; for to know the day and month wherein the Jews shall be destroyed; and the lot falls on the twelfth month, Adar.

Haman obtains an edict from the king, that all Jews, without respect to sex or age, upon the 13th day of the month Adar, be put to death in all the provinces of the king's dominions. Hereupon Mordecai, Esther, and all the Jews, humble themselves before the Lord by fasting and prayer.

Ahasuerus hearing it read in the Chronicles, that a conspiracy had been discovered to him by Mordecai, commandeth that he be publicly honoured, and that by Haman himself, his deadly enemy.

Esther entertaining the king and Haman at a banquet, maketh suit for her own life and her people's, and accuseth Haman. The king understanding that Haman had provided a gallows for Mordecai, causeth him to be hanged thereon. In memory of this great deliverance the two days of Purim are made festival.

Ezra the priest, a man skilled in the law of Moses, obtains a large commission from king Artaxerxes to settle the Jewish commonwealth, and to reform the church at Jerusalem.

Ezra obligeth those who had taken strangers to wife, to send them back. In the twentieth year of king Artaxerxes, Nehemiah, a Jew, one of his cup-bearers, being made governor of Judea, obtains leave to build the walls of Jerusalem, and finish that great work. Here begin Daniel's seventy weeks, to be fulfilled before the passion of our Saviour.	Before CHR. 330 The Macedonian em- pire.	Jos. Ant. 12, c. 1 1 Mac. 1	Alexander, having reigned six years and ten months, dieth; his army and dominions are divided among his captains; Antigonos makes himself governor of Asia; Seleucus of Babylon, and the bordering nations; Lysimachus hath the Hellespont; Cassander, Macedon; and Ptolemy the son of Lagus gets Egypt.
442	Neh. V. 14	Nehemiah, having governed Judea twelve years, returns to the king of Persia.	323 320	Jos. Ant. 12, c. 1	Ptolemy, surnamed Soter, makes himself master of Jerusalem by a stratagem; for he enters the city on a sabbath-day, under pretence of offering sacrifice, and whilst the Jews suspect nothing, but spend the day in ease and idleness, he surpriseth the city without resistance, and maketh the citizens captives. He sendeth several colonies of Jews into Egypt, and puts great confidence in them.
415	XIII. 6	This year is the twenty-first jubilee, the last that ever the prophets of the Old Testament saw: for that place in Nehemiah, chapter xii. 22. is not to be understood of the last Darius, but of Darius Nothus, who now reigns in Persia; the full history of Nehemiah ending with the time of Artaxerxes Longimanus, father of this Darius Nothus.	277	2	Ptolemeus Philadelphus, son of Ptolemeus Soter, being a great favourer of learning, builds a most magnificent library at Alexandria. Demetrius Phalereus, to whom he had committed the care of procuring all sorts of books, and out of all countries, persuades him to employ seventy-two Jews in translating the holy Scriptures out of the original Hebrew into the Greek tongue, which was done in the seventh year of his reign. The king also dismisseth many captive Jews, and dedicates many presents to the temple of God at Jerusalem.
	XIII.	Hitherto (says Eusebius in his Chronicle to the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes) the Divine Scriptures of the Hebrews contain the annals of the times: but those things which were done among them afterward we must deliver out of the books of the Maccabees, and out of the writings of Josephus, who have delivered a general history of the Jewish affairs from thence down to the times of the Romans.		177 2 Mac. III.	One Simon, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, governor of the temple, falling out with Onias the high priest, goes to Apollonius the governor of Cælosyria, and informs him that there is a vast treasure in the temple. Apollonius acquaints king Seleucus his master with it, who presently sends his treasurer Heliodorus to Jerusalem to bring this money away. Heliodorus entering the temple, is by angels struck down in the very place, and carried from thence half-dead; but by the prayers of Onias he is soon after restored to his health. Returning to Seleucus that sent him, he magnifies the holiness of the temple, and the power of God dwelling in it.
	Mal. IV. 4	That Malachi, the last of the prophets, was contemporary with Nehemiah, appears from hence, that he nowhere exhorts the people to the building of the temple, as Haggai and Zechariah did; but the temple being now built, he reproves those disorders which Nehemiah, at his second return with a new commission from Babylon, saith he found in his absence to have crept in among the Jews; as marriage with strange women, withholding of tithes, and abuses in the worship of God. And because a succession of prophets was not to be expected as before, he exhorteth the people constantly to adhere to the law of Moses, till Christ the chief prophet should appear; whose forerunner John the Baptist should come in the spirit and power of Elias, to turn the hearts of the fathers unto their children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just. See 1 Mac. iv. 46. and ix. 17.	176 1 Mac. I. 10		Antiochus Epiphanes succeeds Seleucus in the kingdom of Syria, and reigneth eleven years and some months.
	Luke I. 17 Matthew XI. 14 XVII. 12		175 172	2 Mac. IV. 7 23	Jason, by corrupting king Antiochus, obtaineth the office of high priest. Menelaus, brother to Simon the traitor, being employed by Jason to carry the money to the king, promiseth 300 talents of silver above what Jason had sent, and getteth the priesthood to himself.
335	Jos. Ant. I. 11, c. 8	ALEXANDER the great, king of Macedonia, passeth out of Europe into Asia, and begins to lay waste the Persian empire.	170	27	Menelaus, not paying the money he had promised the king at his admission, is summoned to appear before Antiochus; he substitutes Lysimachus his brother in his place.
332	Id. ibid.	Manasses, brother to Jaddus the high priest, refusing to put away his strange wife, is driven from the sacrifice. Sanballat his father-in-law, governor of Samaria, revolteth from Darius, obtains leave of Alexander to build a temple on mount Gerizim, and makes Manasses high priest thereof; to which resort all such as are entangled in unlawful marriage, with all such offenders as think themselves not safe at Jerusalem. This was the rise of that schismatical conventicle of the Samaritans. See John iv. 20.	1 Mac. I. 21, 22 2 Mac. V. 1 Jos. Ant. I. 12, c. 7 Dan. XI. 28		Antiochus taketh Jerusalem, and sacking it, pillageth the temple, destroyeth 40,000 of the inhabitants, and selleth as many more. He endeavoureth also to abolish the worship of God, and forceth many Jews to forsake their religion. The Samaritans now disown their relation to the Jews, to whom, in prosperity, they pretended alliance, and consecrate the temple on mount Gerizim to Jupiter.
	Jos. Ant. I. 11, c. 8.	Alexander marcheth toward Jerusalem, intending to besiege it. Jaddus the high priest hearing of it, putteth on his priestly ornaments, and accompanied with the people all in white, goeth out to meet him. Alexander, seeing his habit, falls prostrate before him, saying, that whilst he was in Macedonia a man appeared unto him in the very same habit, who invited him to come into Asia, and promised to deliver the Persian empire into his hands. After this he goes to the temple, and offers sacrifice according to the high priest's direction. They shew him the prophecy of Daniel, that a Grecian should come and destroy the Persians; whereby he is mightily confirmed in his persuasion that he himself is the man. Lastly, he bestoweth on the Jews whatever favours they desire, and departeth.	163	1 Mac. VIII. 5	Perseus, having made war upon the Romans, is this year overcome by them, and the kingdom of the Macedonians ends, when from Caranus it had stood 626 years. Nevertheless, the reliques of the Macedonian empire, while that of the Roman was rising, did yet survive in the Ptolemies of Egypt, and the kings of Syria.
	Daniel VIII. 7 XI. 13		167	I. 45	King Antiochus, by a public edict, commands all nations that are subject unto him to observe the same way of divine worship, and laying aside their peculiar customs, to profess the same religion with the Grecians; the punishment of death being threatened unto such as shall be disobedient; and he appoints overseers over every people and nation, who shall compel them hereunto. Of the Jews many choose rather to undergo the most cruel torments than to offer sacrifice unto idols: all which martyrdoms, with those glorious sufferings of the seven Maccabean brethren, are recorded in the two books of Maccabees.

burns the temple of Dagon.
- 146 1 Mac. XI. Ptolemy Philometor king of Egypt comes to the Jos. loc. relief of king Alexander his son-in-law. Alexan-
cit. der ungratefully sets Ammonius to lie in ambush to kill him. The treachery being discovered, Ptolemy takes away his daughter from Alexander, and marrieth her to Demetrius. Alexander having been driven from Antioch, the inhabitants of that place make offer of the kingdom to Ptolemy, but he refuseth it, and persuadeth them to accept of Demetrius for their king.
- 145 1 Mac. XI. Alexander returns with a great army. Ptolemy and Demetrius unite their forces, and overcome him in a pitched battle; but Ptolemy dies of the wounds which he received, after he had seen the head of Alexander sent to him by Zabdiel an Arabian prince. Jonathan besiegeth the citadel at Jerusalem, held by a garrison of Macedonians. Complaint hereof being made to Demetrius, Jonathan appeaseth him by presents, and obtaineth new favours for the Jews. Demetrius incurreth the hatred of his soldiers, by abridging their pay in time of peace.
- 54 Tryphon, with some soldiers that revolted from Demetrius, undertakes to establish Antiochus the son of Alexander Balas in the kingdom of Syria.
- 144 1. 13, c. 9 Demetrius is vanquished by young Antiochus and made to flee into Seleucia. Great honours are by 55 Antiochus conferred on Jonathan, who assists him against Demetrius.
- XII. Jonathan renews his alliance with the Romans and Lacedemonians, and fortifieth Jerusalem.
- 143 Jos. Ant. Tryphon contrives how he may quit himself of nathan's opposition, he invites him to come to Ptolemais, and bring with him some few of his soldiers, promising to deliver that city into his hands. Jonathan suspecting no treachery, comes only with 1000 men to Tryphon at Ptolemais; but as soon as he is entered the city, Tryphon commands the gates to be shut. Jonathan is taken prisoner, and all his men put to the sword.

- 1 Mac. XIII. The Jews hereupon make choice of Simon Mac-cabeus for their general in the place of his brother Jonathan. Tryphon leads an army against Simon.

	1 Mac. XVI.	Simon the high priest traversing the cities of Judea, and taking care for their orderly government, comes down with his two sons, Mattathias and Judas, to Jericho; Ptolemeus the son of Abubus, Simon's son-in-law, invites them to a castle which he had fortified, called Dochus, and there, whilst he entertains them at a banquet, barbarously murders them. Luke IV. 43. He goes throughout all Galilee, teaching in the synagogues, and working miracles.
V. 27. Matthew called to be a disciple.

The second passover of Christ's ministry, John v. 1. compared with iv. 3, 5. from which the second year of the seventieth week of Daniel begins.

John V. 1. JESUS comes up to Jerusalem at the time of the feast, and heals on the sabbath-day a man that had an infirmity 38 years, lying at the pool of Bethesda. He makes a most divine apology to the Jews that sought to kill him, because he said that God was his Father.

Luke VI. 13. Christ, out of the multitude of his disciples, chooseth twelve, whom he calleth Apostles; namely, Peter, Andrew, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Simon called Zelotes, Judas the brother of James, and Judas Iscariot. To these our Saviour chiefly directs his discourse in that glorious, full, and admirable sermon on the mount.

Mat. X. 1. Jesus sends his twelve apostles by two and two to preach, and heal the sick.

Mark VI. 1. John the Baptist is beheaded in prison by Herod's command.

Luke IX. 12. Jesus feeds 5000 men, besides women and children, with five barley loaves and two little fishes.

John VI. 1, 15. He refuseth to be made a king.

The third passover of Christ's ministry, John vi. 4. from which the third year of the seventieth week of Daniel begins.

Mat. XVII. 1. JESUS is transfigured on the mount; Moses and Elias are seen to talk with him; and a voice from heaven is heard a second time, saying, This is my beloved Son; hear him.

Mark IX. 1. Christ payeth tribute to Cesar.

Mat. XVII. 24. A certain village of the Samaritans refuseth our Saviour entertainment in his way to Jerusalem; the disciples desiring to call for fire from heaven to consume them, are severely reprehended.

Luke IX. 51. The seventy disciples are sent out by two and two to work miracles, and to preach.

X. 1. Christ teacheth his disciples to pray.

XI. 1. Christ raiseth Lazarus that had been buried four days.

John XI. 43. Caiaphas, the high priest of the Jews, prophesieth concerning the death of Christ.

Luke XIX. 1. Zaccheus, a publican, converted.

Mark X. 46. Christ restoreth to blind Bartimeus his sight.

John XII. 3. Mary, the sister of Lazarus, anoints our Saviour's feet with costly spikenard, and wipeth them with the hair of her head.

Mat. XXI. 1. Christ rideth in triumph into Jerusalem; the multitude spread their garments in the way, and cry, Hosanna to the Son of David. Coming near the city, he weeps over it, and foretels its destruction.

John XII. 1. He enters the temple, and casteth out those that bought and sold there, and heals the blind and lame.

Isaiah LII. 9. He curseth the fruitless fig-tree, and the next morning it is found dried up and withered: thence he taketh occasion to shew the power of faith.

Zech. IX. 9.

Mat. XXI. 19.

The fourth passover, in which Christ our passover was sacrificed, 1 Cor. v. 7. and so an end is put to all legal sacrifices prefiguring this great expiation. The fourth or middle year of Daniel's last week begins, Dan. ix. 27.

Mat. XXVI. 1. ON the first day of unleavened bread, when the passover of the Jews was to be slain, (April 2.) in the evening, Jesus eateth the passover with his disciples, and institutes the Sacrament of his body and blood in bread and wine.

John XIII. 1. Christ washeth his disciples' feet, and exhorteth them to humility and charity.

XVIII. 1. In the self-same night Christ is betrayed by Judas, mocked, buffeted, and spit upon, by the soldiers.

Mat. XXVII. 1. Next day he is condemned by Pilate, and crucified; the sun, during the crucifixion, is darkened, and the vail of the temple rent in the midst. Christ, praying for his enemies, gives up the ghost. Joseph of Arimathea begs the body, and lays it in a new sepulchre.

Mark XV. 1. On the third day, the next after the Jewish sabbath, (April 5.) Christ riseth from the dead; his resurrection is declared by angels to the women that came to the sepulchre. Christ first appeareth to Mary Magdalene, and afterwards to his disciples, and dineth with them.

Luke XXIV. 1. Christ bringeth his apostles to mount Olivet, commandeth them to expect in Jerusalem the sending down of the Holy Ghost; sends them to teach and baptize all nations, and blesseth them; and, while they behold, he is taken up, and a cloud receives him out of their sight. After his ascension the disciples are warned by two angels to depart, and to set their minds upon his second coming; they accordingly return, and giving themselves to prayer, choose Matthias to be an apostle in the place of Judas.

Acts II. 7. On the day of Pentecost, (May 24.) the Holy Ghost descendeth on the apostles in the form of cloven tongues, like as of fire, and enableth them to speak all languages. Peter the same day preacheth Christ and the resurrection, and about 3000 believers are added to the church.

III. 1. Peter, by faith in Christ's name, healeth a lame man.

IV. 1. The rulers of the Jews, offended at Peter's sermon, and his miraculous cure of the lame man, cast both him and John into prison; upon their examination they boldly avouch the lame man to be healed by the name of Jesus, and that by the same Jesus we must be eternally saved. After this the Jews forbid them to speak any more in that name; but the apostles answer, that it is fit they should obey God rather than men. They are threatened, and let go.

V. 1. Ananias and his wife Sapphira, for their hypocrisy, are suddenly struck dead.

17. The apostles are again cast into prison by the high priest, but an angel sets them at liberty, and bids them preach the gospel to the people without fear; being taken again teaching in the temple, they are brought before the council, where, by the advice of Gamaliel, a Pharisee and doctor of the law, they are delivered.

VI. 1. The number of believers increasing at Jerusalem, the apostles ordain seven deacons, who should distribute the alms of the whole church to the widows, and poorer sort of believers. Stephen, one of these deacons, having confounded some that disputed with him, is by them falsely accused of blasphemy, and brought before the council, where he reprehends their rebellion and murdering of Christ. Whereupon they cast him out of the city, and stone him; he, in the mean time, praying for them.

VIII. 1. A great persecution of the church at Jerusalem follows after the death of the first martyr Stephen.

5. Philip, one of the seven deacons, preacheth at Samaria, and converteth many; worketh miracles, and healeth the sick. Simon the sorcerer, seeing the wonders that are done by Philip, believeth, and is baptized.

15. The apostles at Jerusalem hearing that Samaria had received the faith, send thither Peter and John to confirm and enlarge the church. The apostles, by prayer and imposition of hands, confer the Holy Ghost on all believers. Simon Magus offers them money, that he may receive power of conferring the same, whose impiety is sharply reproved by Peter. Having completed their ministry in those parts, they return to Jerusalem.

Acts VIII. An angel sendeth Philip to teach and baptize the Ethiopian eunuch.

IX. 1 Saul, a violent persecutor of all that call on the name of Jesus, and one who consented to the death of Stephen, goes now toward Damascus, with commission from the high priest and the council to apprehend all Christians in those parts, and to bring them bound to Jerusalem: on the way he is miraculously converted by a voice from heaven, and three days after baptized by Ananias at Damascus, where he preacheth the gospel of Christ with great boldness; to the astonishment of those that knew upon what design he was sent thither.

23 Saul having preached the gospel at Damascus a long time, the Jews lay wait to kill him, but he escapes from thence, and comes to Jerusalem; there he sees Peter, and James the brother of our Lord, and abides with them fifteen days. Here he speaks boldly in the name of Jesus, and disputes with the Grecians, or rather Jews that used the Greek tongue. These also consult how they may kill him.

Acts XXII. 17 While Saul prays in the temple, he is in a trance, and the Lord appears unto him, and bids him to depart from Jerusalem, because they will not receive his testimony; adding that he will send him to the Gentiles.

IX. 30 Saul, leaving Jerusalem, goes to his own country

Gal. I. 21 Tarsus, and from thence travels into Syria and Cilicia.

Acts IX. 32 Peter visits the churches of Judea, Galilee, Samaria, &c. At Lydda he cureth Æneas of the palsy; and at Joppa restoreth Tabitha to life.

X. At Cesarea, Cornelius a centurion, by prayers and alms, finds favour in the sight of God, and is commanded by an angel to send for Peter, now at Joppa. God by a vision teacheth Peter not to despise the Gentiles. Peter being sent for by Cornelius, goes and preacheth Christ to him, and a great company that were met at his house. While Peter preacheth, the Holy Ghost falls upon them all; and immediately the apostle baptizeth them.

XI. Peter at his return to Jerusalem is accused by those of the circumcision for conversing with the Gentiles; but he declares to them his vision, and the whole matter concerning Cornelius, and they glorify God for granting to the Gentiles also repentance unto life.

The believers, who ever since the martyrdom of Stephen, and the persecution thereupon ensuing, had been dispersed throughout all Phenice and Cyprus, come now to Antioch, and preach the gospel to the Greeks there, having before preached to none but the Jews. The church at Jerusalem understanding this, and that the number of believers increased exceedingly, sends Barnabas thither to confirm them; he goes to Tarsus, and takes Saul along with him to Antioch, where they continue a whole year, converting multitudes to the faith. Here the disciples were first called Christians.

XII. About this time James the brother of John is beheaded by the command of Herod Agrippa. He also imprisoneth Peter, whom an angel delivers upon the prayers of the church. This same Herod, not long after, speaking to the people at Cesarea, some of them cry out, It is the voice of God, and not of man; and immediately an angel of the Lord smites him, because he gave not the glory to God, and he is eaten of worms, and dieth.

XIII. Barnabas and Saul set forward in their preaching of the gospel. They plant the Christian faith in Seleucia, Cyprus, and other places. At Paphos they preach the gospel to Sergius Paulus, governor of that country. Elymas a sorcerer withstanding them, and endeavouring to turn away Sergius from the faith, is at Saul's rebuke struck blind. From this time Saul is always called by his new name Paul; he preacheth at Antioch; the Gentiles believe, but the Jews gainsay and blaspheme. Whereupon he and his assistants turn to the Gentiles, and come to Iconium.

Acts XIV. At Iconium they are persecuted and ready to be stoned. From hence they flee to Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia. At Lystra Paul healing a cripple, the multitude cry out, that the gods are come down, and call Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercurius, and would have sacrificed to them, had not the apostles, with clothes rent, run in among them, and assured them that they were men like themselves. Soon after there come Jews from Antioch and Iconium, who excite the people against them.

2 Cor. XI. 24 Paul is by the furious multitude stoned, and drawn out of the city as dead; but whilst the disciples stand about him he riseth up, and the next day departs with Barnabas to Derbe.

XII. 2 In this year, perhaps at this very time, Paul was caught up into the third heaven, and heard unspeakable words, 14 years before he wrote his second epistle to the Corinthians.

2 Tim. I. 2, 5 About this time Timothy, though a child, with his mother Eunice, and his grandmother Lois, embrace the Christian faith preached by Paul.

Acts XV. 52 Certain judaizing Christians come from Judea to Antioch, and teach that the Gentiles ought to be circumcised, and observe the law of Moses; these Paul and Barnabas oppose, and a council is held by the apostles and others at Jerusalem to determine this controversy. The decrees of the synod are sent to the churches.

53 36 Paul and Barnabas, thinking to visit the churches together, fall at strife, and part asunder; Barnabas and Mark go into Cyprus, Paul and Silas into Syria and Cilicia.

XVI. Paul coming to Derbe, finds there Timothy, whom (because his mother was a believing Jew, though his father was a Gentile) he causeth to be circumcised, and taketh him along with him. He is by a vision admonished to go into Macedonia; coming to Philippi, the chief city of that part of Macedonia, he converts Lydia; casteth out of a certain maid-servant a spirit of divination, whose masters, losing a considerable gain thereby, bring Paul and Silas before the magistrates; these cause them to be whipped and imprisoned; but at midnight, Paul and Silas praying and singing psalms, the doors of the prison fly open, and their bonds are loosed: the jailor, ready to kill himself, is converted to the faith, and baptized the same night, with his whole family. Next day the magistrates come themselves and pray them to depart the city.

54 XVII. From Philippi Paul takes his journey through Amphipolis and Apollonia, and comes to Thessalonica, where he finds a synagogue of the Jews; there he preacheth three sabbath-days; some believe, others persecute him. Leaving Thessalonica, he comes to Berea, and soon after arrives at Athens, disputes with the philosophers, and declares unto them that UNKNOWN GOD whom they had ignorantly worshipped. He converts Dionysius the Areopagite and others, and thence passeth to Corinth.

XVIII. Paul at Corinth meets with Aquila and Priscilla, not long before banished Rome by the decree of Claudius. Here he continues a year and six months, and thence writes to the Thessalonians.

55 Paul is accused by the Jews, and brought before Gallio, proconsul of Achaia, who refuseth to be judge in a controversy about religion, and so drives them away from the judgment-seat.

56 18 Paul departs from Corinth, and passeth to Ephesus, thence he sets out towards Jerusalem, that he may be at the feast; he lands at Cesarea, goes down to Antioch, and comes into the regions of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming the disciples in all those places.

57 XIX. Paul returns to Ephesus, disputes daily in the school of Tyrannus, and continues preaching there, and the parts thereabouts. He writes his epistle to the Galatians.

58 At Ephesus, Demetrius a silver-smith, jealous of his gain, raiseth a tumult against Paul, which is appointed by the town clerk.

A CONCISE VIEW OF THE EVIDENCES OF THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION:

BY J. FLETCHER.

1. THE sacred pen-men, the Prophets and Apostles, were holy, excellent men, and would not; artless, illiterate men, and therefore could not, lay the horrible scheme of deluding mankind. The hope of gain did not influence them, for they were self-denying men, that left all to follow a Master, who had not where to lay his head; and whose grand initiating maxim was, Except a man forsake all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple. They were so disinterested that they secured nothing on earth but hunger and nakedness, stocks and prisons, racks and tortures; which indeed was all that they could, or did expect, in consequence of Christ's express declarations. Neither was a desire of honour the motive of their actions; for their Lord himself was treated with the utmost contempt, and had more than once assured them, that they should certainly share the same fate. Besides, they were humble men; not above working as mechanics for a coarse maintenance, and so little desirous of human regard, that they exposed to the world the meanness of their birth and occupations, their great ignorance and scandalous falls.

Add to this, that they were so many, and lived at such distance of time and place from each other, that had they been impostors, it would have been impracticable for them to contrive and carry on a forgery without being detected. And as they neither would, nor could deceive the world; so they neither could nor would be deceived themselves: For they were days, months, and years, eye and ear witnesses of the things which they relate; and when they had not the fullest evidence of important facts, they insisted upon new proofs, and even upon sensible demonstrations; as, for instance, Thomas, in the matter of our Lord's resurrection, John xx. 25. And to leave us no room to question their sincerity, most of them joyfully sealed the truth of their doctrines with their own blood. Did so many and such marks of veracity, ever meet in any other authors?

2. But even while they lived, they confirmed their testimony by a variety of miracles, wrought in divers places, and for a number of years; sometimes before thousands of their enemies, as the miracles of Christ and his disciples; sometimes before hundreds of thousands, as those of Moses. These miracles were so well known and attested, that when both Christ and Moses appealed to their authenticity, before their bitterest opposers, mentioning the persons upon whom, as well as the particular times when, and the places where, they had been performed; the facts were never denied, but passed over in silence, or maliciously attributed to the Prince of the Devils. By such a pitiful slander as this, Porphyry, Hierocles, Celsus, and Julian the Apostate, those learned and inveterate enemies of Christianity, endeavoured (as the Pharisees had done before them) to sap the arguments founded upon the miracles of Christ and his disciples. So sure then as God would never have displayed his arm, in the most astonishing manner, for the support of imposture, the sacred pen-men had their commission from the Almighty, and their writings are his lively oracles.

3. Reason itself dictates, that nothing but the plainest matter of fact could induce so many thousands of prejudiced and persecuting Jews, to embrace the humbling, self-denying doctrines of the cross, which they so much despised and abhorred. Nothing but the clearest evidence, arising from undoubted truth, could make multitudes of lawless, luxurious heathens receive, follow, and transmit to posterity the doctrines and writings of the Apostles; especially at a time when the vanity of their pretensions to miracles, and the gift of tongues, could be so easily discovered, had they been impostors—at a time when the profession of Christianity exposed persons of all ranks to the greatest contempt, and most imminent danger. In this respect, the case of the primitive Christians widely differed from that of Mahomet's followers; for those, who adhered to the warlike, violent impostor, saved their lives and properties, or attained to honour, by their new, easy, and flesh-pleasing religion: But those, who devoted themselves to the meek, self-denying, crucified Jesus, were frequently spoiled of their goods, and cruelly put to death; or if they escaped with their lives, were looked upon as the very dregs of mankind.

Add to this, that some of the most profound parts of the scriptures, were addressed to the inhabitants of polite Greece, and triumphant Rome, among whom philosophy and literature, with the fine arts and sciences, were in the highest perfection; and who, consequently, were less liable to be the dupes of forgery and imposture. On the contrary, gross ignorance overspread those countries, where Mahomet first broached his absurd opinions, and propagated them with the sword: A sure sign this, that the sacred writers did not, like that impostor, avail themselves of the ignorance, weakness, and helplessness of their followers, to impose falsehood upon them.

4. When the authenticity of the miracles was attested by thousands of living witnesses, religious rites were instituted, and performed by hundreds of thousands, agreeable to scripture injunctions, in order to perpetuate that authenticity. And these solemn ceremonies have ever since been kept up in all parts of the world; the passover by the Jews, in remembrance of Moses' miracles in Egypt; and the Eucharist by Christians, as a memorial of Christ's death, and the miracles that accompanied it, some of which are recorded by Phlegon the Trallian, an heathen historian.

5. The Scriptures have not only the external sanction of miracles, but the internal stamp of the Omniscent God, by a variety of prophecies, some of which have already been most exactly confirmed by the events predicted; witness, the rise and fall of the four grand monarchies according to Daniel's prophecy, chap. ii. and vii; and the destruction of the city and temple of Jerusalem, foretold by Christ, Matt. xxiv. 2. while others are every day fulfilled in the face of infidels, particularly the persecution of the real disciples of Christ in our times, as well as in all ages, (see Matt. x. 22, 35 John xv. 20. and Gal. iv. 29.) and the present miserable state of the Jews, so exactly described by Moses, above three thousand years ago. See Deut. xxviii. 65.

6. Sometimes the plainest prophecies, the most public miracles, and the annals of kingdoms, well known when those books were first received, wonderfully concur to demonstrate their authenticity. Take one instance out of many: A prophet out of Judah, above 300 years before the event, thus foretold the pollution of Jeroboam's altar at Bethel, before Jeroboam himself, who was attended by his priests, his courtiers, and no doubt a vast number of idolatrous worshippers: O altar, altar, thus says the Lord, behold, a child shall be born unto the house of David, Josiah by name, who shall burn men's bones upon thee: and this is the sign: Behold, this very day, the altar shall be rent, and the ashes that are upon it scattered. King Jeroboam inflamed with anger, stretched forth his hand against the man of God, saying to his guards, Lay hold on him: But his extended hand was dried up so that he could not pull it in again to him; the rending of the altar, and scattering of the fire, instantly took place; and the capital prophecy was exactly fulfilled by pious king Josiah, as you may see by comparing 1 Kings xiii. 1, &c. with 2 Kings xxiii. 15, &c. Can we reasonably suppose, that books, containing accounts of such public events, would have been received as divine by a divided people, if their

† Not many Noble, not many Wise are called, says the Apostle; nevertheless some of both, even at the rise of Christianity, openly stood up for its truth. Among the noble we find Joseph, a member of the great Jewish council, Dionysius, one of the Judges at Athens, and Plavius Clemens, a Roman Senator; and among the wise, Quadratus, Aristides, and Athenagoras, Athenian Philosophers; Clemens, Arnobius, Ammonius, Annetolius, &c. men of great learning at Alexandria; and at Rome, Justin martyr and Tertullian, both famous apologists for the religion of Jesus, the latter of whom in the second century told the Roman governors, that their corporations, councils, and armies, and the emperor's palace, were full of Christians: Nor is this improbable; since so early as St. Paul's days the saints of Cesar's household saluted those of the Roman Provinces. Phil. iv. 22. How credulous are they who can believe that persons of such rank and learning could be deluded by Jewish fishermen into the worship of a crucified impostor!

† Once indeed the Lord permitted the Magicians of Egypt so to use their art, as to counterfeit for a time some of Moses' miracles; but it was only to make the authenticity of the others more conspicuous; this being the happy effect of the contest, when those ministers of satan withdrew confounded, and forced to acknowledge, that the finger of God was evidently displayed through the rod of their antagonist.

their authenticity had not been confirmed by indubitable matter of fact? Nay, is it not as absurd to assert it as it would be to affirm, that the offices for the 5th of November, and the 30th of January, were forged by crafty priests; and that the Papists, Puritans and Royalists of the last century, agreed to impose upon the world the history of the gunpowder plot, and of King Charles's decollation, with which those parts of the liturgy are so inseparably connected?

7. This scattered, despised people, the irreconcilable enemies of the Christians, keep with amazing care the Old Testament, full of the prophetic history of Jesus Christ, and by that means afford the world a striking proof that the New Testament is true; and Christians in their turn show, that the Old Testament is abundantly confirmed and explained by the New. The Earl of Rochester, the great wit of the last century, was so struck with this proof, that upon reading the 53d chapter of Isaiah, with floods of penitential tears, he lamented his former infidelity, and warmly embraced the faith, which he had so publicly ridiculed.

8. To say nothing of the venerable antiquity, and wonderful preservation of those books, some of which are by far the most ancient in the world; to pass over the inimitable simplicity, or true sublimity of their style; they carry with them such characters of truth, as command the respect of every unprejudiced reader.

They open to us the mystery of the creation, the nature of God, angels, and man, the immortality of the soul, the end for which we were made, the origin and connexion of moral and natural evil, the vanity of this world and the glory of the next. There we see inspired shepherds, tradesmen, and fishermen, surpassing as much the greatest philosophers, as these did the herd of mankind, both in meekness of wisdom and sublimity of doctrine. There we admire the purest morality in the world, agreeable to the dictates of sound reason, confirmed by the witness which God has placed for himself in our breast, and exemplified in the lives of men of like passions with ourselves. There we discover a vein of Ecclesiastical history and theological truth, consistently running through a collection of sixty-six different books, written by various authors in different languages, during the space of above 1500 years. There we find, as in a deep and pure spring, all the genuine drops and streams of spiritual knowledge, which can possibly be met with in the largest libraries. There the workings of the human heart are described, in a manner that demonstrates the inspiration of the Searcher of hearts. There we have a particular account of all our spiritual maladies, with their various symptoms, and the method of a certain cure; a cure that has been witnessed by millions of martyrs and departed saints, and is now enjoyed by thousands of good men, who would account it an honour to seal the truth of the scriptures with their own blood. There you meet with the noblest strains of penitential and joyous devotion, adapted to the dispositions and states of all travellers to Zion. And there you read those awful threatenings and cleering promises, which are daily fulfilled in the consciences of men, to the admiration of believers, and the astonishment of attentive infidels.

9. The wonderful efficacy of the Scriptures is another proof that they are of God. When they are faithfully opened by his ministers, and powerfully applied by his Spirit, they wound and heal, they kill and make alive, they alarm the careless, turn or enrage the wicked, direct the lost, support the tempted, strengthen the weak, comfort mourners, and nourish pious souls. As the woman of Samaria said of Jesus, Come, see a man that told me all that ever I did: Is not this the Christ? a good man can say of the Bible, "Come, see a book that told me all that was in my heart, and acquainted me with the various trials and dangers I have met with in my spiritual travels; a book where I have found those truths, which, like a divinely-tempered sword, have cut my way through all the snares and forces of my spiritual adversaries; and by whose directions my soul has happily entered the paradise of divine and brotherly love. Is not this the book of God?"

10. To conclude; it is exceedingly remarkable, that the more humble and holy people are, the more they read, admire, and value the scriptures; and on the contrary, the more self-conceited, worldly-minded, and wicked, the more they neglect, despise, and asperse them.

As for the objections which are raised against their perspicuity and consistency, those who are both pious and learned, know, that they are generally founded on prepossession, and the want of understanding in spiritual things; or on our ignorance of several customs, idioms, and circumstances, which were perfectly known when those books were written. Frequently also the immaterial error arises merely from a wrong punctuation, or a mistake of copiers, printers, or translators; as the daily discoveries of pious critics, and ingenuous confessions of unprejudiced enquirers, abundantly prove.

To the preceding arguments, I beg leave to add the following queries. Do not disbelievers, by supposing that the Scriptures are a forged book, and consequently that christianity is a false religion, run upon the very rocks, which they seem so afraid of? And may they not be charged with indirectly setting their seal to opinions, far more incredible than those which they reject?

(1) O ye Disputers of this world, if ye believe that Moses and Jesus Christ, St. Peter and St. Paul, publicly worked sham miracles for years, in various cities and countries, before thousands of their sharp-sighted opposers, without being ever detected in any of their tricks; might you not as reasonably believe, that thousands of shrewd men were at once turned into stupid asses?

(2) If you believe, that the gospel is the production of human deceit; and yet, that in the prodigious number of apostates once concerned in carrying on the amazing villany, such as Judas, Demas, Simon Magus, Alexander the coppersmith, who did St. Paul much evil, &c. not one was ever found, that would prove the forgery: might you not as reasonably believe, that if there were two violent parties in a state, and that one of them had been guilty of some egregious villany, which was known to many of the other party, yet that none of the latter could be prevailed upon to disclose and prove it to the world?

(3) You believe, that the miracles and resurrection of Christ, together with the gifts of the Holy Ghost, were nothing but enthusiastical or knavish pretensions: and yet you are forced to grant, that thousands of Jews, strongly attached to their religion, amazingly averse to that of Jesus, and guilty of persecuting him unto death, took him openly for their Saviour a few weeks after they had seen him publicly scourged; and in the very city in sight of which he had just been crucified between two thieves. Now is not this as absurd as to believe, that if a few fishermen cried up the last person hanged in London for a notorious forgery; and if they affirmed that he was the Son of God, appealing to a great number of miracles supposed to have been wrought by him in the squares and hospitals of the metropolis, and especially in St. Paul's church-yard: and maintaining that some of them had been acknowledged genuine by the great council of the nation: they could, by such notorious

† If the histories contained in the Old Testament, were in general for the credit of the Jews, the love of praise might indeed have engaged some of them to join in a public forgery. But that book, of which they have always been so tenacious, presents the world chiefly with an account of their monstrous ingratitude, unparalleled obstinacy, perpetual rebellions, abominable idolatries, and of the fearful judgments, which their wickedness brought upon them. Moses, who leads the van of their sacred authors, sums up his history of the Israelites, and draws up their character in these disgraceful words, which he spake to their face: You have been rebellious against the Lord from the day that I knew you, Deut. ix. 24. And even David and Solomon, their greatest kings, are represented in those books as guilty of the greatest enormities. O ye deists, I appeal to your reason, and ask; Would you die for, would you even connive at a notorious forgery, supposing the design of it were merely to impose upon the world as divine, a book that should perpetually stigmatize your ancestors, and fix horrid blots upon the names for which you have the greatest veneration?

‡ It is remarkable that the wisest heathens with all their philosophy, seldom attained to a full assurance of the immortality of the soul. Cicero himself says: Nescio quomodo, dum lego assentior; cum posui librum, et mecum ipse de immortalitate animorum capere cogitare, assensio omnis illa elabatur. Tusc. Quest. lib. I.

† Pliny, a learned and prudent Roman governor, who was employed by the emperor Trajan in stopping the progress of Christianity, wrote to him, that the apostates affirmed, the whole of their crime had been to meet before day, and sing an "hymn to Christ as to their God." His own words are: "Affirmabant hanc fuisse summam vel culpa sue vel erroris, quod essent soliti stato die ante lucem convenire, carmenque Christo quasi Deo dicere."

‡ Some remarkable instances of this we have in the sacred books, published when the facts mentioned therein were notorious, and when some of the persons named were probably yet alive. After the resurrection of Lazarus, the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered a council, and said, What do we? for this man does many miracles rious lies, engage thousands of citizens, to put all their trust in the villain hanged at their special request?

(4) You believe, that Christianity is a gross imposture; and yet you cannot deny, that thousands of learned Romans and wise Greeks, who agreed to despise the Jews above all other men, took for their Saviour that very Jesus, of whom his own countrymen had been ashamed, and whom they had crucified as an impostor. Is not this as absurd as to believe that thousands of wise Englishmen and sensible Frenchmen, could be induced by the absurd tale of two or three Hottentots, to worship a certain Hottentot, whom the whole nation of Hottentots had condemned to be hanged, as being more worthy of an ignominious death, than the bloody ringleader of a seditious mob?

(5) If you believe with some infidels, that the History of Christ is "a mere fable," and that there never was such an extraordinary person, you believe that the Heathens, the Jews, and the Mahometans, have agreed with the Christians, their sworn enemies, to carry on a most amazing imposture. For Pliny, Tacitus, Lucian, and Suetonius, heathen authors, who lived soon after Christ, make express mention of him: as do also Mahomet, many of the Rabbies, and Julian the Emperor, that powerful and crafty apostate, who not only never denied Christ's existence, but openly acknowledged that Paul, Mark, Matthew, and Peter, were the authors of the gospels and epistles, which bear their name. Now is not this as ridiculous as to believe, that the Pope, the Mufti, and the inquisitors, have laid their heads with Messrs. Voltaire, Hume, and Rousseau, to favour a forgery subversive of popery, mahometanism, and infidelity?

(6) If you deny the authenticity of the four gospels, which are the only ancient histories that we have of our Saviour; and yet believe that there was such a personage as Jesus Christ, whose fame so spread through the Roman Empire, that in less than 330 years, he was not only reckoned superior to the Roman emperor, but to Jupiter himself; and that nevertheless not one historian, during all that time, gave the world a particular account of him: (which must be the case, if the four gospels are a forgery:) Might you not as reasonably suppose, that if a blazing meteor appeared in our day and eclipsed the stars, the moon, and the sun itself; no astronomer for several centuries would take particular notice of so wonderful a phenomenon?

(7) If the gospel is a delusion, you believe that St. Paul, who was a man of sense, learning, and intrepidity, was seduced by—no body, to preach for near 30 years, with astonishing zeal and matchless hardships, an imposture, against the abettors of which, he just before breathed nothing but threatenings and slaughter?

miracles. If we let him alone, all men will believe on him. John xi. 47.—And after Peter and John had publicly cured the cripple, who used to beg at the gate of the temple; the rulers, and elders, and scribes, and Annas the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high priest, were gathered together at Jerusalem, saying, What shall we do to these men? for that indeed a NOTABLE MIRACLE has been done by them, is manifest to ALL them that dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it. Acts iv, 5—16.

(8) The instantaneous conversion of thousands was wrought by means of public appeals to notorious matter of fact. Hear the language of the Apostles to the Jews: This ye yourselves know, Acts ii. 24. Ye know the things done through ALL Judea, Acts x. 37, 38. The king knoweth these things. This thing was not done in a corner, Acts xxvi. 26. Now if Christianity is not founded upon indubitable facts, might you not as well believe, that twelve men broke loose from Bedlam, brought last year thousands of deists over to Christianity, by saying to them, "Ye know"—what you are perfect strangers to; that is, "Ye know"—that we are a pack of bedlamites?

(9) If the gospel is forged, you believe that the Corinthians, &c. handed down to posterity, as a sacred treasure, Epistles where St. Paul mentions their amazing conversion from gross immoralities; congratulates them about the spiritual or miraculous gifts, in which they abounded, 1 Cor. xii. 1. and gives them particular directions, how to use the gift of tongues to edification; when yet they were totally unacquainted with any such things?

(10) If you say that the Apostles were fools, you must believe, that foolish fishermen laid a scheme with so much wisdom, and carried it on with so much art as to deceive multitudes of Greeks noted for their acuteness, and numbers of Romans famous for their prudence. Might you not as well believe that twelve poor, unarmed idiots, once combined to take the strongest towns in Europe, and accomplished their strange design by means, that strike the profoundest politicians with astonishment?

(11) If you affirm that the Apostles were cheats and liars, you run into as great a difficulty, for you must believe that the greatest knaves that ever existed, contrary to their own principles and advantage, went through the world, exposing themselves to the greatest hardships and severest tortures unto death, to recommend both by their example and precepts, the strictest piety towards God, and the most scrupulous honesty towards man; perpetually denouncing eternal destruction to cheats and hypocrites, and the torments of a lake that burneth with fire and brimstone, to every one who loveth or maketh a lie. Would it be more absurd to believe, that the twelve greatest epicures in England, have for a course of years, fulfilled a mutual agreement of preaching night and day, abstinence and fasting through the three kingdoms, merely to have the pleasure of starving to death for their pains?

(12) To conclude: If the gospel (and consequently the scripture) is an imposture, you suppose that some poor Galilean fishermen, only by means of an absurd lie, which they told without wit, and wrote without elegance, foiled the multitude of the Jewish and Pagan priests, who had prejudice, custom, possession, learning, oratory, wealth, laws, governors, and emperors on their side; yea, and truth also, upon your principles, at least when they derided the gospel as a cheat. Would it be more ridiculous to believe, that David killed Goliath, with a grain of sand, and cut off his head with a spire of grass: or that our sailors sink men of war with a puff of breath, while our soldiers batter down ramparts with snow-balls?

O ye sons of worldly wisdom, drop your unjust prejudices; candidly weigh both sides of the question, and you will soon see, that in rejecting the gospel as an imposture, you display a far greater degree of credulity, than we do in cordially receiving it.

TABLES OF SCRIPTURE MEASURES, WEIGHTS, AND COINS:

WITH

An APPENDIX, containing the Method of calculating its MEASURES of SURFACE, hitherto wanting in Treatises on this Subject.

By the Bishop of Peterborough.

A MEASURE is a known quantity applied to another of the same kind that is less known, to make its dimensions better known, by help of numbers expressing the proportion that the known quantity bears to the unknown. The dimensions to be measured are three: 1 Mere length, which hath but one dimension. 2 Surface, which consists of length multiplied into breadth; so it hath two dimensions, as it were interwoven; and this is always measured by some square surface already known, as by a square foot, or a square cubit, or any other square already known, by help of its side. Moses generally useth the square cubit. 3 Solidity, or Capacity, which hath three dimensions multiplied into each other: length, breadth, and height, or depth. This is measured by a known cube. From solidity ariseth weight in all sublunary bodies; and by weight we measure the value of coins. Therefore I shall join weights and coins together in the fourth table.

I use = to signify Equal to: :: to express Proportion: : is called Separatrix, parting Decimals from Integers.

TABLE I. Measures of Length.

I express the Cubit, and its parts, both by Inch Measure and by Foot Measure; which I deduce from Inches by this Proportion;

	Inch Meas.	Foot Meas.
As 12. 1. ::	21.888	1.824
	Inch Dec.	Foot Dec.
A Cubit is =		21.888 = 1.824.
A Span the longer = one half a Cubit =		10.944 = .912.
Span the less = one third of a Cubit =		7.296 = .608.
A Hand's Breadth = one sixth of a Cubit =		3.648 = .304.

TABLE II. Measures of Surface.

Moses hath described these by square Cubits. I here express them reduced to our square Feet. The method of this reduction is taught in an Appendix. I first propose three clear examples given by Moses: Secondly, I place six instances of greater difficulty.

The clearest examples are,

I. The Altar of Incense. Only two sides of it, viz. its length and breadth are expressed by Moses; each of them is affirmed to be one Cubit. Yet he declares that it was four square: whence we collect, that it was just one square Cubit. See Exod. xxx. 2. Now it is demonstrated in the Appendix, that one Jewish square Cubit amounts in surface to three English square Feet, and about 47 square Inches.

II. The Table of Shew-bread. Exod. xxv. 23. It is affirmed to be two Cubits in length, and one in breadth. None doubt but it was rectangular, containing two Jewish square Cubits. These amount to above six English square Feet, and above a half, viz. 94 square Inches.

III. The Boards of the Tabernacle, each 10 Cubits in length, and one and an half in breadth, Exod. xxvi. 16. being rectangular, must contain 15 square Cubits, Jewish. These are proved to contain in very near 50 square Feet of English measure.

The more difficult cases reserved to the Appendix are,

I. The Mercy-seat, whose surface is = 12 square feet and an half.

II. A general method is taught of reducing any given number of Jewish Cubits to English square Feet.

III. The example of the 15 square Cubits in the Boards of the Tabernacle is made clearer.

IV. The Court of the Tabernacle, described, Exod. xxvii. 18. is found to be just the half of the Egyptian Aroua, and to contain 1 Rood, 21 Perches, 27 square Feet, &c.

V. The whole Aroua is determined, and reduced to English Measure, 3 Roods, 2 Perches, 55 square Feet.

VI. The suburbs, or Gilebe Land, given to each city of the Levites, Numb. xxxv. 3, 4, 5. is shewed to be a Square, on each of the four sides of every city, containing a million of Jewish square Cubits, or 100 Aroua; which amount in each Square to 76 crs 1 Rood, 20 Perches, 80 square Feet. Whence we collect, that all the four Squares amounted to 305 Acres, 2 Roods, 1 Perch, besides 51 Feet square.

An APPENDIX to the second Table of Measures of Surface described by Moses, shewing the Method of reducing them by Calculation to the Measures used in England, for the benefit of those that understand Decimal Arithmetick, and desire to try the Reductions given in the Table, or to make further Improvements in this kind of Measures.

1. I SHALL begin with the Reduction of the Measures of the Mercy seat, which was God's throne of Grace among the Jews. Moses in Exodus xxv. 17. affirms, that its length was two Cubits and an half, its breadth one Cubit and an half. The fractions adhering to its length and breadth make some difficulty to beginners in Arithmetick, which the Decimal way doth much abate. Supposing therefore, what I have elsewhere proved, that the Jewish Cubit was in Foot measure 1.824; the length must be expressed in Foot measure, and Decimals thereof 4.560. The breadth in like measure will be 2.736. Wherefore the product of these numbers multiplied into each other gives its surface 12.47616: in number of its square Feet, and Decimals thereof, 12 square Feet, and very near half a square Foot; if the Decimals had been .50, it had been just half a Foot. If we desire to express those Decimals of a Foot in square Inches, as is usual in England, we must multiply 47616 by 144, the square Inches of a Foot, and the product will be 68.56704; which shews that the Decimals we found amount to 68 square Inches, and about half an Inch more; we need not be nicer.

2. In the Altar of Incense Moses describes the Jewish square Cubit, which must be reduced to our Foot measure thus, 1.824. The product of these numbers multiplied will be the upper surface of this Altar, 3.326976, that is, 3 square Feet, and 326,976 Decimals of a square Foot, which we may express by 47 square Inches, and a few Decimals of an Inch square inconsiderable.

3. Moses's description of the Boards of the Tabernacle, Exod. xxvi. 16. by 10 Cubits in length, and one and an half in breadth, naturally leads a man to discern in each board's surface 15 Jewish square Cubits; because if we conceive a line drawn from the end of one Cubit at the bottom of the board to the end of one Cubit at the top of the board, this must needs be 10 whole square Cubits on one side of that line, and ten half square Cubits (=5 whole) on the other side of that line; here therefore are fifteen square Cubits. The reduction of these into English square Feet, is performed by multiplying 15, viz. the number of Cubits given, into 3.326976, the Feet and Decimals of one square Cubit, and the product will be 49.90464, and that is very near to 50 square Feet; for those Decimals amount to above 130 square Inches; and little more than 13 square Inches would make it just 50 Feet, which abatement we need not here regard.

4. Let us now go to the measure of the surface of land. But we will begin with the Court of the Tabernacle, the ground on which the Priests performed all the solemn public worship of Israel in Moses's time. The Area of this Court is described by Moses, Exod. xxvii. 18. by its length 100 Cubits, and its breadth every where 50 Cubits. Wherefore this Area must be in Jewish measure 5000 square Cubits, for that is the product of 100 multiplied into 50. To reduce these 5000 Jewish Cubits into English square Feet, I must multiply 5000 into 3,326,976, the product is 16,634.88 English square Feet.

But in cases of such long numbers of Feet, we use, for brevity's sake, and to help our memories, to reduce them into Perches, or Roods, or Acres, which contain known numbers of square Feet. A Perch contains 272 square Feet and one fourth. A Rood is = to 10,890 square Feet. An Acre is = to 43,560 square Feet. It is plain that the number 16,634.88 hath not integers equal to those of an Acre; but it hath enough to answer those in a Rood, and some overplus; therefore I must divide 16,634.88 by 10,890, which is a Rood. By such division, continued in the Decimal way, until I have a fraction of five or six places, which is exact enough, I find the quote to be 1,527,537, which assures me that my number 16,634.88 hath but once entirely in it a whole Rood: but it hath moreover in it many Decimal parts of a Rood. These therefore, I reduce to the Perches contained in them, by multiplying them into 40, which is the number of Perches that make up a Rood; and cutting off six places from the product, which is 21,101,480; so I find there are 21 Perches entire, and the figures after the Separatrix are Decimals of a Perch. These also I multiply by 272.25 which are the square Feet and Decimals of a Perch. The product of this last multiplication, after eight places cut off from it by the Separatrix, because there were six places of Decimals in one of the multipliers, and two in the other, is 27,627,93,000. Hence I learn that there are therein but 27 entire Feet, all the eight Decimal places amount to little above half a Foot, and therefore I cast them away as inconsiderable in the measure of land. This method of reduction by multiplication of Decimals I find to be easier than the common way of reduction by division, and therefore I propose it to be used by beginners in this practice of surveying. So I find this court to contain in English measure 1 Rood, 21 Perches, 27 Feet, and little more than half a Foot squared. But reflecting upon Moses's measure by Cubits, and finding them to be precisely 5000 square Cubits, I observed that they were just half 10,000, which I had observed from Herodotus's Euterpe to be the Area of the Egyptian Aroua, by which their land was as generally measured, as our's is by Acres and Roods. See Herodot. l. 2. c. 168. I called also to mind a passage in Manetho, an Egyptian Priest, cited by Josephus in his first book against Apion, where he affirms, that Manetho in his history of the reign, wars, and expulsion of the Pastors (whom Africanus affirms to be Phenicians, or Canaanites, and Josephus vainly believed to be Jews) wrote out of the public Records of Egypt, that these Pastors made at Abaris a very large and strong encampment, that encompassed 10,000 Aroua, sufficient to contain 240,000 men, and long to maintain their cattle. Hence it appears, that not only the Egyptians, but the Phenicians or Canaanites also, that had dwelt among them, and had reigned there during the time of six kings successively, used this measure of land called Aroua. Now this was long before Moses's time; for the beginning of Amosis or Tethmosis, who expelled them out of Egypt, was very near the time of Abraham's death, as appears by the annals of the learned Primate of Ireland. Wherefore I believe that Moses, who was skilled in all Egyptian learning, especially surveying, did of choice make the Court of the Tabernacle to be just half an Aroua, which was a known measure to him and his people, who had long dwelt in Egypt, and Divine Authority directed him so to do.

5. The Reduction of an Aroua to English measure. 5. Because we have shewn from Herodotus, that an Aroua is the square of 100 Jewish or Egyptian Cubits, and 100 such Cubits may in English Foot measure be expressed by 182.4 English Feet, it follows, that the square of this number will express exactly the number of the English square Feet that are contained in an Aroua. Now by multiplication of 182.4 into itself, I find the product to be 33,269.76: therefore I conclude that there are 33,269 square Feet entire, and 76 Decimals of a square Foot, in an Aroua. Now to reduce these English square Feet into Roods, Perches, and the remainder of square Feet, I use the method used in the last paragraph: first I divide them by 10,890, the square Feet in a Rood; and the quote I find 3.055,074, that is, 3 Roods, and .055,074 Decimals of a Rood. Secondly, I multiply those Decimals by 40, which is the number of Perches in a Rood; the product is 2,202,960. Hence I conclude there are therein two Perches, and 202,960 Decimals of a Perch. Thirdly, I multiply these last Decimals by 272.25, which are the square Feet of a Perch. The product is 55,25,586,000, that is, 55 entire square Feet: the eight places of Decimals amount to little above one-fourth of a square Foot, therefore I reject them as inconsiderable in measure of land. By all these reductions it is found, that an Aroua is in English measure three Roods, two Perches, 55 and one-fourth square Feet. Hence it follows also, that it is not well translated by Jugerum, for it is much larger; nor is it well in English called an Acre, for it is considerably less. To this place I refer the use of the lesser sort of οχοίος, which yet is most convenient for the use of the Egyptians, and of the Jews, to measure out private men's inheritances by a line which was 80 Cubits long. For the length of this line will measure one side of an Aroua, if the other side be 125 Cubits long, which is the length of this line, and its half, and 5 Cubits above half of it, which they might easily mark on it by a knot or a ring. And by these means they might easily lay any number of Aroua together, all of them rectangular and parallel to each other. Such lines I suppose for measure of inheritances are intimated, Ps. lxxviii. 55. and xvi. 6, &c.

6. I shall conclude with an example amounting after reduction to a number of English Acres, which measure we ^{6 The Levites' Glebe.} have not yet reached to. This I take from Numb. xxxv. verses 3, 4, 5. There Moses describes what measure of land the Levites were to be allowed for their cattle, their goods, and all their beasts, on the north, east, south, and west sides of each of their cities. So that the city was to be in the midst of the land belonging to it. This land in our translation is called suburbs, because of its nearness to all their cities. But we must not thence imagine that it means houses and streets adjoining to their cities, in which sense we sometimes use the word suburbs. For Moses plainly tells us they were places for their several sorts of cattle to feed in, such as might also be orchards or gardens for fruit, or perhaps for a little corn, comprehended in the word, their Goods. These fields he limits by 1000 Cubits, which was just a quarter of an eastern mile, but amounts in mere length to 608 yards; English measure, and therefore exceeds a quarter of an English mile by 168 yards in length. But it is certain that cattle cannot feed upon mere length, but this must signify the side of some surface of land bounded thereby, and we must have two sides of that surface given, before we can find the area, or surface contained. Therefore Moses, verse 5. tells us, that on each side of each city they must measure 2000 Cubits, which will determine no surface unless we understand it to mean the two sides of a square, bounded on every side by 1000 Cubits; these two sides multiplied into each other will produce a square that contains just a million of square Cubits, and that is a known and exact measure of just 100 Aroua: and this shews that the 2000 Cubits mentioned verse 5. are the two sides of that square, whereof the 1000, mentioned verse 4. is one, and may be called the root of the square. This shews the agreement of the two different numbers. The reduction of this million of square Cubits will be performed by the same method that I have used before. Therefore, first, I express 1000 Jewish Cubits by 1822 English Feet, without any Separatrix, according to the principles owned in Decimal Arithmetick; and the square of that number will be 3,326,976, without a Separatrix. Secondly, I divide this number by 43,560, which are the square Feet of an Acre, and find the quote to be 76.376,859, which signify 76 entire Acres, and .376,859 Decimals of an Acre. Thirdly, to find what Roods are contained in these Decimals, I multiply them by four, the number of Roods in an Acre, and find the quote to be 1,507,436, which proves that there is but one Rood in them, and the six figures cut off by the Separatrix (because there were six Decimals in one of the multipliers) are all Decimals of a Rood. Fourthly, therefore to find what Perches are in these last Decimals, I multiply them by 40, which is the number of Perches contained in a Rood. The product is 20,297,440; hereby I find there are 20 entire Perches, besides the Decimals of a Perch placed after the Separatrix. Fifthly, to find what square Feet are in those last Decimals, I multiply them by 272.25, which are the square Feet and Decimals in a Perch; the product is 80,97,804, which is 80 square Feet; and all the Decimals not amounting to a square Foot, I reject as inconsiderable in measure of land. Thus we have found that this and every other square on each side of every Levitical City was prescribed to be 76 Acres, 1 Rood, 20 Perches, 80 square Feet in our measure, but was just a million of square Cubits in their measure. To add the four squares belonging to one Levitical City together, the best way will be to take the first quote that we found in Acre measure, viz. 76.376,859, and we must multiply it by four, and we shall find, by the method I have used, all the four squares together to amount to 305 Acres, 2 Roods, 1 Perch; we need not take notice of any lesser quantities in this case. We may also by this method find the sum of the Acres belonging to all the 48 cities of the Levites, and many other improvements in this kind of measuring surfaces. But I leave them to the industry of others.

- 5 Thou shalt not commit adultery, Mat. 5, 27. Luke 18, 20.
- 5 Do not steal, Luke 18, 20. Rom. 13, 9.
- 5 Do not bear false witness, Luke 18, 20. Rom. 13, 9.
- 5 Honour thy father and mother, Mat. 15, 4. Mark 7, 10. Eph. 6, 2.
- 6 Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one Lord, Mark 12, 29.
- 6 Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, Mat. 22, 37. Mark 12, 30. Luke 10, 27.
- 6 Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, Mat. 4, 10. Luke 4, 8.
- 6 Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God, Mat. 4, 7. Luke 4, 12.
- 8 Man shall not live by bread alone, Mat. 4, 4. Luke 4, 4.
- 10 God accepteth no man's person, Gal. 2, 6.
- 18 A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you, Acts 3, 22. and 7, 37.
- 19 In the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established, Mat. 18, 16. John 8, 17. 2 Cor. 13, 1.
- 19 An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, Mat. 5, 38.
- 21 Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree, Gal. 3, 13.
- 25 Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn, 1 Cor. 9, 9. 1 Tim. 5, 18.
- 25 If a man die having no children, Mat. 22, 24. Mark 12, 19. Luke 20, 28.
- 27 Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things, &c. Gal. 3, 10.
- 30 Who shall ascend into heaven? Rom. 10, 6.
- 30 The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth and in thy heart, Rom. 10, 8.
- 32 I will provoke you to jealousy by them that are no people, Rom. 10, 19.
- 32 Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord, Rom. 12, 19.

JOSHUA.

- 1 I will never leave thee nor forsake thee, Heb. 13, 5.
- II. SAMUEL
- 7 I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son, Heb. 1, 5.
- I. KINGS.
- 19 Lord, they have killed thy prophets, &c. Rom. 11, 3.
- 19 I have reserved to myself seven thousand men, &c. Rom. 11, 4.
- JOB.
- 3 He taketh the wise in their own craftiness, 1 Cor. 3, 19.

PSALM.

- 2 Why did the heathen rage? &c. Acts 4, 25.
- 2 Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee, Acts 13, 33. Heb. 1, 5. and 5, 5.
- 2 He shall rule them with a rod of iron, &c. Rev. 2, 27.
- 4 Be ye angry, and sin not, Eph. 4, 26.
- 5 Their throat is an open sepulchre, Rom. 3, 13.
- 6 Depart from me, ye that work iniquity, Mat. 7, 23. Luke 13, 27.
- 8 Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings, &c. Mat. 21, 16.
- 8 What is man, that thou art mindful of him? Heb. 2, 6.

PSALMS.

- 8 For he hath put all things under his feet, 1 Cor. 15, 27.
- 9 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness, Rom. 3, 14.
- 14 There is none righteous, no, not one, Rom. 3, 10.
- 14 Their feet are swift to shed blood, Rom. 3, 15.
- 16 I foresaw the Lord always before my face, &c. Acts 2, 25. and 13, 35.
- 16 Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption, Acts 2, 27.

HOLY SCRIPTURES,
OF THE
OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS,
BY WHICH
ALL, OR MOST, OF THE PRINCIPAL TEXTS OF SCRIPTURE, MAY BE EASILY FOUND OUT.

REVISED AND CORRECTED.

PHILADELPHIA.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY MATHEW CAREY & SON,

No. 126, CHESNUT STREET.

To the Reader.

1. THIS Concordance doth not pretend to comprehend more than any other larger ones, but to contain the principal substance of them all in little room.

2. By observing one or more principal words of any remembered text, and what are the three first letters of them, and searching under answerable words in the Concordance, the sentence will be found.

3. THE original words, whether Nouns or Verbs, are marked in CAPITAL letters, and those derived from them come after in Italics.

4. WHERE words are found in many places, the plural is distinguished from the singular, and the parts of words ending in—ed,—est,—eth, from their original. But when the examples are few, no such distinction is made, but may be easily observed.

5. THE Concordant words, except the first, are marked by the first letter a. b. c. &c. and the mark — stands for several words above marked in Italics; divine persons are noted by answerable Capitals.

6. EVEN other words, especially the names of divine persons, are often marked by one or more of their first letters, that the sense of the line might be more complete.

CENTRAL HOUSE.

S. D. OVERFIELD, Proprietor,
Delaware Water Gap, Penn'a.

This House as its name implies is most favorable to health and joying all the advantages of the place; situated at the junction of most prominent roads, the Railroad Station, the Churches, Post-office, larger Hotels, the Tavern and Village are each and all within a quarter of a mile, and the Mountain Paths and principal Drives may be said to begin at its door. Four stories in height, with large and well furnished upper floors, with every modern convenience, large public rooms and a wide Veranda on its several sides, commanding beautiful views of the Delaware River and Valley; the Proprietor has had many years experience catering to summer guests and will supply as table in a restaurant manner, the milk, vegetables, etc., being obtained from home farms always fresh and of the best quality. Pure running water unlimited in quantity, with unobstructed drainage to the river makes the sanitary arrangements perfect.

D. F. Wilson Hurd's HIGHLAND HOME, WESLEY WATER CURE, DELAWARE WATER GAP, MONROE COUNTY, PA.

This Institution is on a spur of the Blue Mountain Range, many hundreds of feet above the water. The scenery is unsurpassed, while the moon air is fresh, pure and bracing. Every form of Maladies is perfectly Sanitary air is secured. The Water, Air, Climate, Scenery, Walks and Drives, with every facility for Treatment and Home Comforts, are all that can be desired. Every form of Chronic and Acute Diseases with a large proportion of cases supposed to be incurable are here treated with most excellent success, and without the use of poisonous remedies. The Proprietor's constant aim is to make his Institution a Christian Home SANITARIUM, in the strict sense of the term, where guests and patients may be relieved of their troubles, and have good sound constitutions are rich. Good bones are better than gold, tough muscles than silver, and nerves that dash fire and carry energy to every function are better than houses and lands. This is our platform. Our friends stand ready by hundreds to attest its value.

The Echo in THE GAP.—While making the romantic excursion to the Gap in the Steamboat, an interesting point is just where the boat makes the turn in the Gap; here the Captain will stop his engine a few moments, long enough to give several short sharp, steam whistles, which are immediately echoed and re-echoed from the rocky faces of the two mountains; according to the condition of the atmosphere, on different days, the echoes are more or less sharp and distinct, and more or less in number of repetitions; another wonderful feature of this echo is that an ordinary conversation on the Jersey shore can be distinctly heard on the Pennsylvania side of the river; yet there fore caution lovers that while here enjoying the romantic, the Blue Mountain is a listener and a tattler, repeating their spoonery words to the fellow on the other side of the river 500 feet away; so beware what you say at the base of Mt. Tammany!!!

THE Childs memorial at Stratford-on-Avon, which was dedicated Oct. 17th, combines drinking water.

For man, cattle, and dogs, and a four-dial clock to be illuminated at night, and furnished with musical chiming. It is built of polished Scotch granite and Yorkshire freestone, and is about fifty feet in height. The design is bold and significant, the carving profuse and rich. In the base are rough-hewn basins of the fountain of polished Peterhead granite. Over these on the four sides are pointed marble arches on columns with carved capitals. In the four rectangular spaces beneath the springing lines of the arches are the following inscriptions, selected and arranged by Dr. Macaulay, editor of the Leisure Hour, and an intimate friend of the donor:

1. "The gift of an American citizen, George W. Childs, LL. D., of Philadelphia, to the town of Shakespeare, in the Jubilee Year of Queen Victoria." 2. "In her days every man shall eat in safety under his own vine what he plants and sing the merry songs of peace to all his neighbors. God shall be truly known; and those about her, from her shall read the perfect ways of honor, and by those claim their greatness not by blood." — Henry VIII., act v. scene 3. "A thousand honors and blessings on the bard who hath guided the dull realities of life with innocent illusions." — Washington Irving's Stratford-on-Avon. 4. Over the drinking fountain, "Honest water, which no'er left man's thirst, the more." — Timon of Athens, act 1, scene 2.

In the second story are arcades of three arches, with circular targets at the corners, and in the upper story the four dials of the clock under enriched gables, with floral representations of mustard seed, clover, peony, pea blossom. The buttresses of the lower story terminate in lions and eagles. Liberately, bearing shields, with the arms of Great Britain and with the Stars and Stripes of the United States. The entire cost of this present, including the work on the foundations, was borne by Mr. Childs, and amounted to $60,000.

UP IN PIKE COUNTY.

INHABITANTS—A HUNTER'S
SNAKE STORY.

Veracious Narrative of a Thrilling Adventure—An Escape from Between Two Bears.

Pike county has been notable as the home of truth, even from the time of its first settlement, a century and a half ago. But while it was by nature designed as the especial abode of truth, there were, from time to time, some lapses from it, and there is no doubt that a needed impetus was given to the cause, about forty years ago, when there came upon the scene one destined to be the disciple of the goddess—Ed. Mott. Ed. grew to manhood in Milford, attended the common school of the Pike county capital, became a tyro printer and writer and imbibed the fresh air of mountain and forest—and perhaps an occasional "stone fence" at Crisman's or the Dimmick House. Here he imbibed with the bracing air a love for truth which, ever developing as he grew to maturity, made him the stalwart apostle and champion of the cause. He has for many years been in editorial charge of the New York Sun and has also written a very useful and accurate historical work entitled "Pike County Folks," which has earned for him the universal love of the people of Milford and the surrounding country.

It is largely owing to Mott's influence that, notwithstanding the large annual influx of the ungodly from New York and other haunts of vice, maintained in Pike, but an advanced public opinion created which holds even the visiting prevaricator in wholesome awe. It was scarcely a year ago that a Hoboken man was stoned to death near the Bowhann place, on the Sawkill Falls road, for steadfastly misrepresenting the number and size of trout he had caught.

IN THE HUNTER'S HOME.

A few days ago I sat in the cabin of John C—, one of the most widely known of all the Pike county hunters. The pine floor of the cabin was covered with the skins of many wild animals and the antlers of deer were suspended in almost every corner of the room. On the shelf were the rattles of fully one hundred snakes, many of the skins of which were in use as straps, rude clothes-lines and the like. The bleached skeleton of a bear stood guard at a gate outside, propped up by a slender little fence around it, while the undressed bodies of a dozen hawks were nailed to adjacent buildings. The hunter was sitting big and natural, fell into a reminiscent mood, during which he told a score of startling tales. One of these, a story of a monstrous snake, whose skin shone resplendently in the sunlight, I here transcribe almost as John related it to me.

"The snake what wore that skin," he said, "saved my wuthless life." I rose and looked closer at the handsome but repulsive object. It was fully seven feet long. "It's shrank considerable now," he went on. "The snake what wore that skin lacked one inch of bein' eight feet long. No slouch of a snake, you bet."

"Well, it was a year ago jus' spring up on the little creek—jus' about the time when the air and yearth commenced to git warm and snakes come out to warm themselves."

Here the hunter's wife came quietly into the room and took a seat upon a couch in the corner. She was a deeply religious woman, and I suppose she had an idea that her presence in some occult way gave an additional possibility of her husband's preservation from an awful death through the instrumentality of a snake.

"I wuz out gunnin' one day," said the hunter, slowly, "and when I got to the ledge hangin' over the little creek—kin show you the very place 'fore you go 'way—I set down onto the rock, my legs hangin' over. That's a frightsome prespice, that is. I measured it with a string I bought over at Hawley on purpus an' she measured the string where them feet is marked on the door thar—an' it was ninety-four feet an' some inches—say ninety-three feet. Well, as I sat, I was sittin' thar with my feet hangin' down waitin' for anything that might come along and thikin' 'bout plantin' corn over in that lot side of the shed, when all of a sudden I heard a rattlin' right behin' me. I turned round mighty quick, you kin bet, and there was that darn snake."

ATTACKING THE MONSTER.

"Well, I drawed the ramrod from my gun and struck at it—bit it once, but it came right at me. I thought then it was ten or twelve feet long, but it only was seven, it looked so frightsome an' I allus did hate a snake awful. Well, ye see I hadn't had no time to git up, and so there I set with my legs hangin' over that ledge and nothin' 'tween them and the rocks down below but ninety-three feet of air. An' that darn critter was onto me 'fore I knew it. Well, I was a little bit scared—tried to git up but my foot slipped like an' so still sittin' there I kept strikin' at that snake. 'Fore long I seen a good chance, and grabbed mister snake by the tail to throw him down the ledge. Then, I tell ye, I thought my last day had come. The sudden throw with my left han', an' my feet not bein' braced 'gainst nothin' but the weight of my body, an' I me of o' the ledge quicker lightnin'—"

"Mercy! Did you fall down that ninety-three-foot precipice?" I asked, with some excitement.

"No. That's the curus part of the whole proceedings. I mos' forget to tell ye, there wuz a tree big as my leg growin' right straight outen the rock level like aside of me. Ye see the snake curled right round 'round that tree like a whip-lash, and when I slipped off the ledge I lung on to the snake's tail. Now, I tell ye that tail did stretch some. My! Took my breath away, an' I broke out all over in a cold sweat, and jus' for a minute I thought I mos' musty leggo. Then I thought, sudden like, cos I knew there was sharp, broken rocks down below, an' it was a long way to 'em, an' if I did leggo I would be sure killed. Then I sez, "O-m-m-m, you mus' hang on somehow. After a little, I got my wind back begun to feel a little more stren'th, but all the time that tail seemed to be stretchin' an' the snake slidin' slow round the tree an' somehow I couldn't git my left han' onto the tree, an' I didn't dare pull myself up, ye see by the snake's tail fur fear it might break. Well, 'fore long I got a silver of bark off the lower side of the tree an' then the way I fanitized that snake was a caution. The critter bit my left han' twict. It makes me lazzh now but it didn't then—to think how he'd strike at that bark and then when I'd hold it just a little further off he draw up his body and squirm a little further along the tree an' at every squirm his tail would draw up a little mite—bout half a inch. All this time I was thikin' of a great deal about lots of things and her (pointing over his shoulder at Mrs. C—) Well, 'fore long—but it seemed to me like it was two hours, only I know it wasn't afterwards by the sun—the tail had drawed up so far that I could swing my left han' onto the tree. Then ye better believe I wuz soon up onto the top of the ledge. When I got my gun I shot the snake, an' there's his skin."

INSIDE A SYCAMORE.

The next day was rainy, and my host told me the full particulars of how he killed two bears last spring. It appears that the bears were killed towards the latter part of February and in rather a singular manner. He had been out nearly all day tramping in the wet snow, which was very heavy there but had at this time partly melted, and he had seen no trace of "large game." As it began to rain about 3 o'clock in the afternoon he determined to find as sheltered a nook as possible, eat his lunch and then make his way home. Just as he had arrived at this conclusion he came upon a large hollow sycamore long, or rather the greater part of a trunk, lying prostrate across a little piece of level ground by the side of a creek, the waters of which had evidently undermined its roots years before. He looked the surroundings over and then unrolling his lunch crawled into the ample opening at the upper or little end of the trunk, from which the branches had been torn away no doubt when the tree crashed down and further rotted by years of rain and sun. Lying prone upon the bottom of the big wooden tube, his ribs by his side, he not only enjoyed the simple corn bread and ham with which his better half had provided him, but got very acceptable rest. How long he had lain there when he was aroused he says he doesn't exactly know. He thinks that his long tramp, the heavy food and the lulling patter of the rain upon his shelter made him sleepy and he may have dozed a little.

Suddenly he felt the hollow old shell vibrate, heard a muffled, scraping, scruffling sound, and raising his head quickly from where it had rested upon his folded arms he saw the aperture at the further end of the log suddenly closed. There was a subdued sniffling and then a loud snort. He knew in an instant—~~in a moment~~—at what might be called the outer entrance of this place of refuge, and judged it to be a bear of very good size. The bear, too, was evidently aware that the sycamore had some other tenant and remained innocently still. Slowly bringing his gun from alongside his body to his shoulder he took careful aim by the faint streak of light that showed between the bear's body and the concave surface of the tree trunk and fired. There was a violent motion that shook the old sycamore from end to end, a loud "woof, woof," and then all was still.

BETWEEN TWO BEARS.

The hunter happy over his unexpected good luck, started to back from his end of the log, with an idea of going around and drawing his victim carcass from the other end, but just as he made the first movement towards doing so he heard a commotion behind him. Turning his head as far as possible to one side he looked back and his blood almost froze at seeing another bear within a yard of the circular opening. Acting upon impulse he crept two or three feet further into the log.

The bear came to the opening and paused. The hunter's mind was now a swiftly-turning kaleidoscope of thoughts. His gun was not loaded, and in his cramped and narrow quarters he could not run a charge home. To emerge feet foremost under the very nose of a larger bear was suicidal. If the bear would only turn away—but if he was already pushing his way in; no; it would, which now became all too timely dark. Could the woodsman perate man creep forward, push the presumably dead bear from the other end of the log and so make his escape? Doubtful. Still he crept forward, slowly, painfully, endeavoring though vainly, in the meantime to load his rifle. He could hear the bear behind him laboriously squeezing its huge body into the cylinder, could hear the rattling and tearing of its claws upon the half-rotted wood, and could almost feel its breath.

AN AWFUL PREDICAMENT.

"I felt almost as unpleasant," he said, "as I did when I was hangin' by that darn snake's tail over the ninety-three foot ledge."

Suddenly the strained nerves gave a throb. In drawing the knife his hand happened to strike the prison wall almost above his head. It sounds thud! He thrusts the knife into—through it—the soft rotten wood comes down in fragments, and dust in his face and eyes. There is hope. The bear is slowly but surely forcing its way toward him. How eagerly he thrusts with his knife and twists it in the unfeeling wounds in the sycamore shell. He snakes upward with his clenching fist and tears furiously with his fingers until they bleed. A large piece comes rattling down. He tents, pounds, cuts, slashes more vigorously than ever. Yes! it is large enough! He draws himself up from what threatened to be his tomb, the place of a horrible and revolting death, and is safe.

And now he began reloading his rifle, and the second bear as it crawled through the log and sniffed a moment at the hole from which the hunter emerged was shot through the head. "Them bears," he said, as he mopped his face, "weighed almost 'actly 800 pound—one a little more 'an 400 an' one a little less."

"It is what is inherited from the father, my dear."

"Oh—and then is matrimony something inherited from the mother?"—Life.

The San Diego Union illustrates some of the amazing possibilities of our language: A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which the sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper which carries the sleeper while he sleeps runs. There is a sleeper, while the sleeper sleeps in the sleeper, the sleeper carries the sleeper over the sleeper under the sleeper until the sleeper which carries the sleeper or jumps of the sleeper and wakes the sleeper in the sleeper by striking the sleeper under the sleeper. At there is a sleeper any sleeper sleeping in the sleeper in the sleeper.

"I hear they are going to have a donkey party at the Topkity House."
"So I understand," was the reply.
"Are you going?"
"Of course I am, they couldn't have the party without me."

And he couldn't quite make out what the other fellow was laughing at.

A WALLED LAKE.

The greatest wonder in the State of Iowa, and perhaps any other State, is what is called the "Walled Lake," in Wright county, twelve miles north of the Dubuque and Pacific Railway, and 150 miles west of Dubuque City. The lake is from two to three feet higher than the earth's surface. In some places the wall is ten feet high, fifteen feet wide at the bottom and five wide on top. Another fact is the size of the stones used in construction, the whole of them varying in weight from three tons down to a hundred pounds. There is an abundance of stones in Wright county, but surrounding the lake to the extent of five or ten miles there are none. No one can form an idea as to the means employed to bring them to the spot, or who constructed the wall. Around the entire lake is a belt of woodland half a mile in length, composed of oak. With this exception the country is a rolling prairie.

The trees must have been planted there at the time of the building of the wall. In the spring of the year 1850 there was a great storm and the ice on the lake broke the wall in several places, and the farmers in the vicinity were obliged to repair the damages to prevent inundation. The lake occupies a grand surface of 2,800 acres, depths of water as great as twenty-five feet. The water is clear and cold and sandy and loamy. It is singular that no one has been able to ascertain where the water comes from nor where it goes, yet it is always clear and fresh.

A LESSON FOR ADVERTISERS.—Two men were talking on Washington St. Saturday on the merits of different newspapers as advertising mediums. (One well-known daily was mentioned as a tremendous force for bringing in business.)

"But what's the good of advertising," I had seventy out of an ad. I put it in once, and out of the seventy not one that amounted to shucks! In some business the class of readers are of more account than the number.—The Boston Advertiser.

Musicians are sometimes versatile. We know of a fellow who plays third base on the ball grounds, second fiddle at the ball, and after the performance takes his horn for a regular tour.

He was stout. Fat man—What costume shall I wear at the masquerade ball?

Cynical Friend—Don't wear any costume. Tie a string to your ankle and go as a captive balloon.—Texas Siftings.

While at a neighbor's a few weeks ago Mr. George W. Fisher, of Independence, Kan., heard a racket out in the kitchen, and on going out to investigate the cause, found that a large rattlesnake had crawled into the kitchen and was fastened in the handle of a jug in the following manner:

There were some eggs and a jug on the floor when the snake crawled into the house, and it swallowed one of the eggs, and as the jug was lying on its side, had crawled through the handle as far as the egg he had swallowed would admit, and, finding another egg convenient as he crawled through the handle of the jug, swallowed that egg also, and as the egg was too large to pass through the handle of the jug, Mr. Snake was fastened so he could neither move forward nor backward, thus being an egg inside of him and either side of the handle.

MISS PHIZ.—"Philosophers disagree as to which period of life seems the longest to mankind. What is your opinion, doctor?" Doctor (in dialyve).—"Well, it varies. In my opinion, for instance, the longest goes on is between 25 and 30. I know if my wife's case ten years elapsed between her 25th and 30th birthday."
